The Printers' Strike Begins to Show Signs of a Severe Struggle.

MISCELLANEOUS INDUSTRIAL NEWS

Yesterday was an eventful day in the miners' strike. Several additional mines came out, and President Costello said last night that there would not be four mines working next week. The operators show fight, however, and insist that the agreement of May 2 must be enforced. The miners are jubilant over the fact that the river operators are in a position for once to help them win the strike. It is said there is | er coal amounting to nearly 20,000,000 lying in barges along the Monongahela river ready to be shipped South as soon as a rise in the river comes. If a demand comes for the coal here they would naturally dump the whole of the 20,000,000 on the Pittsburg market in preferance to waiting for the rise This would mean a big loss to the railroad operators, and the miners think would have much to do with forcing their demands for

It was reported that Henry Floersheim, of Finleyville, had granted the advance of 13 cents and that his men were working. He was asked if this was true, to which he replied in the affirmative. The operators immediately set about to do some missionary work with Mr. Floersheim in order to convert him back to the, otherwise unbroken, ranks of the operators. It seemed like a fruitless task for a time, for the gentleman from Finleyville evidently had a grievance against some of the other oper-Some time ago he secured some ble contracts in Bellaire and valuable contracts in Bennie other Ohio towns and he alleges was made to attempt was made down 14 cents consider his action in granting the advance upon the promise of the other operators that they would see that his contracts are filled by the mer who are still at work. He agreed to withdraw the advance temporarily, providing they would prove to him that his contracts will be filled. This was agreed to, and a committee appointed to confer with Mr. Floershein to-day with a view to proving to him their ability to fill his contracts. After the society to all a second president Dempster and Secretary Hall gave out the following statement as their side of the present controversy, which has not as yet been fully stated:

THEIR FIGHTING CLOTHES ON. The Printers' Strike Is Beginning to Get Interesting.

The printers are donning their fighting clothes. Yesterday morning 24 men came from Philadelphia and were taken in tow by Percy Smith, who breakfasted them at Deshon's Hotel. They were taken from there to the association's bendouarters. where they were distributed among the emplayers according to their needs. During the day Stevenson & Foster joined the assiation and they were given quite a numer of the men. They had secured some from incinnati, Detroit and other points, but needed more. There are 33 firms now in the association. The foreman at Murdock, Kerr & Co.'s returned to work vesterday.

Myers, Shinkle & Co. reported that they would not need any of the non-union printers, as most of their old hands had returned.

Perey Smith said last night; "The strike is broken. Every employing printer had nough men on hands to-day to get his work out, and to-morrow we will have a hundred men come in from the West. I believe 21 firms have signed the scale, but they are mostly small ones. McMillan is the largest employer among them."

Several members of No. 7 were seen last night and they laughed at the idea of the uplovers claiming that the men brought rom Philadelphia are non-union men. One of them suid: "All but three of that number have c rds. They are traveling print-ers and they are not job printers at that. They succeeded nicely in drawing the wool over the eyes of the employers. It cost them about $300 to bring the men here, but I'll bet they don't work to-morrow.'

SUCCESS WITH NICKEL ALLOY.

The Homestead Works Turning Out So

Last night there was east in the open hearth department of Carnegie, Phipps & ingot weighing over 25 tons. It took the entire contents of one open-hearth melting furnace to make the cast. The ingot when stripped was found to be a perfect cast and absolutely without a flaw. It will be reheated and then rolled into a single armor plate for the United States monitor Monterey, now in course of construction. This is the largest of the nickel steel ingots yet made in any steel mill in the country. The other ingots east for armor plate by the Carnegies weigh from 6 to 20 tons. In a few days the Carnegies will cast a nickel-steel ingot weighing 50 tons. It is also destined for the United States monitor Monterey, and when finished will be 13 inches in thick-

The great armor plant of the Carnegies is now almost complete, and the firm is meeting with success in its new undertaking.
One of the naval inspectors at the Homestead Steel Works informed a DISPATCH reporter yesterday that the Carnegies are meeting with far better success in their ex-periments with the nickel alloy than the La Creusot works in France. This success is most marvelous when it is remembered that where rises the monstrous steel-girded buildings that cover more than $500,000 worth of machinery, was but ten months ago a cabbage garden where the succulent weed was cultivated to nourish the paupers of the City Poor Farm.

NOT SETTLED, BY ANY MEANS.

Trouble Ahead Over a Portion of the Window Glass Scale, The following significant telegram was re eived from Muncie, Ind., late last night: The window glass workers of the country did not go to work yesterday as was expected, and the prevailing strike was not settled as was supposed. After the meeting another meeting at Columbus, O., and decided not to pay the two snapping boys in each factory as before. The workers now flatly refuse to work until the manufacturersubide by the agreement of the Pittsburg meeting. The point interfering is a small one, but will likely prevent the making of window ginss in this country for several four months past will continue so.

William Loeffler was spoken to yesterday, and without knowing anything about the above, said: "There have been but three or four factories resumed operations and I presume all will not get started much before the 12th or 15th of the present month, I anticipate no trouble. Stocks are down ow and I look for a brisk business in our line this winter."

Longest Steel Shaving in the World.

In the machine shop attached to the armor plate department of the Homestead there occurred a most unusual thing yesterday. A bolt was being turned on one of the lathes, and the workman operating it turned off a shaving 265 feet long. This is without doubt the longest shaving turned on a lathe in the world, and speaks volumes for the quality of steel made in Homestead. Some years ago, at the Woolwich Arsenal, England, a shaving was turned off a gun measuring 171 teet, and is exhibited there as a great curiosity.

The Homestead shaving will be made into a Turk's head, and placed in the curio department of the works. Industrial Notes,

EXCURSIONS FROM EVERY SIDE.

Another Popular People's Day, With Only Two More to Follow It.

SOME OF THE PROMINENT EXHIBITORS

The excursion season for the Exposition seems to have set in now with greater strength than ever. There were a number in yesterday, and there will be five to-day. The streets are full of strangers, and all of them are here to attend the Exposition.

Yesterday was "Classical" day. music by the orchestra was of the sort that is appreciated by cultured musicians, and if it was not enjoyed then it did not show in the faces of the vast audience. Among those who were particularly delighted with the entertainment, yesterday, were the children from the Episcopal Orphans' Home, who attended by special invitation of the manager. He would like to see the inmates of all children's homes and charitable institutions, and he says the Exposition is open to them freely on any day except Saturday.

This is to be "People's" day. That is to say, the music will be of the popular order, and the entertainment will be such as will catch the people in every way. There will be only two Saturdays after this one.

Keep It Up in This Style.

They are "hustling" things in the live-liest manner at the "Palace of Music," 77 Fifth avenue, the friends and patrons of this house having determined to make them "keep it up in this style" the rest of the senson. But if Mellor & Hoene will persist in having the splendid class of musical instruments which they now carry, they must expect to work hard all the time to supply their customers' demands. There is no use attempting to deny the fact that these Hardman and Krakauer pianos please the people; there is a something about them which suits the ear to a nicety, and even people who do not know any thing about pianos admire the handsome finish and beauty of the woods employed in the cases, so that on all sides they give satisfaction. Musically considered, their fine action, resonant tones, durability and strength commend them to the musicians who want first-class instruments that will stand the wear and tear of real hard work. The idea of their own Exposition as carried on by Mellor & Hoene this year has proved a tremendous success, and pianos, organs and acolians are being disposed of by the wholesale. They cannot be beaten on prices or on terms of payment, and they treat you so well at the "Palace of Music" that you only feel regret that you do not need a piano, so that the effect upon those who think of purchasing may readily be imagined. Buy your instruments there; please yourselves and your friends.

The Keystone Pickling and Preserve Works Much interest has centered about the pre erve and pickle display of the H. J. Hein: Co. in south gallery. It seems to be the bounden duty of matrons and maidens attended by their husbands or lovers to sample tended by their husbands of lovers to sample these delicious wares. It is a matter of par-ticular enjoyment, indeed, of instruction, to watch the process of bottling; only skilled hands could make these different articles assume so easily their rightful positions in the jars; unaccustomed people would after a fashion arrange one jar while the Heinz as-sistants would bottle and seal up a dozen. The condiments, sauces, pickles, preserves and fruit butters which bear this now famsettled as was supposed. After the meeting of the committees representing the manufacturers and workers at Pittsburg, at which the schedule of last year was adopted and all difficulty settled, the manufacturers held another meeting at Columbus, O., and departs when a number of valuable medals from various Expositions held in all lands, notably the gold medal of the last great affair at paris. Paris.

Taylor & Dean's Iron and Wire Works 201-3-5 Market St.

The specimens of iron fencing shown at this stand include not only practical, substantial examples, but they are decidedly ornamental. In all their iron and wire work they are always designing new patterns, keeping abreast of the times in these manufactures for which they are noted. Specialties of this house are the fire es-capes, staircases, bank and jail work, and every other line which requires these iron commodities of undeniable worth.

The crowds have increased at the Exposition and in consequence one has small chance of getting near this display in art gallery, all visitors being determined to see and learn for themselves about the new Steel Works, where are made the great graphite or mat and sepia processes. The steel holis to fasten the plates to the vessels, work of this eminent artist, who has been foremost in advancing this branch of art in this section.

Pop Goes the Popcorn As you pass the great wire poppers at the different stands, and in a trice it is sweetened, prepared, compressed into balls and folded in the attractive pink wrappers which catch the eyes of the beholders, while the appetizing odor which fills the air calls eloquently for purchasers.

INSANE ON HIS WEDDING JOURNEY.

The Bridegroom, Who Terrorizes His Wife, is a Presbyterian Minister. ATLANTA, Oct. 2 .- A stylish-looking bridal couple registered at the Kimball House on Wednesday night as George W. Kildow and wife. They were assigned to the bridal chamber. An electric war upon the annunciator yesterday morning called Clerk Porter to the room. The door was opened by Mr. Kildow, who inquired: "Do you believe in the Lord Jesus

"I do," most humbly answered the clerk.
"Enter into the house, then—into this abode," said Kildow, and quickly entered.
The clerk found himself in the room with a raving lunatic on one side while over in the errner, crouched, terrified and weeping, was the bride. The man's antics were curl ous, but he was soon quieted and placed un-der arrest, while some ladies came to the relief of the bride. The unfortunate man was so violent that he had to bo taken down to the calaboose and put in a cell. He is a well-known Presbyterian preacher, of West Virginia. He had married Miss McNaughton in Nashville and started on his bridal trip. The bride had spent the night dodg-ing the movements of a madman, not knowing what to do. Later in the day the Presbyterian elergymen of the city inter-ested themselves in the case. The doctors declare that the aberration is only tem
