TWO MORE CHURCHES

Dedicated to Divine Worship With Appropriate Exercises.

EAST END UNION PRAISE SERVICE.

Rev. L. M. McCormick on Godliness Profiting in All Things.

OTHER PULPIT TOPICS OF YESTERDAY

Two Pittsburg churches were dedicated vesterday, the Shady Avenue Baptist Church and the other the new Mt. Washington Presbyterian edifice. An interesting union praise service was held at the former, in East Liberty. The church has been occupied for over a year, but the dedication has been deferred until the debt for the crection of the church was lifted. This it is thought, will soon be accomplished, and in view of this prospect the service of yesterday was held, and the formal opening of the auditory was made. The latter ceremony occurred in the morning. It was participated in by Deacons Jacob Berry, F. T. Lusk, Daniel Ashworth, J. C. McCulloch, A. V. Verner and William Wassell, and Dr. J. S. King, Thomas J. Black, Mrs. C. C. Myler, and the pastor, Rev. W. A. Stanton. The work of the church was reviewed and its good deeds commended.

In the afternoon the union services were made entertaining by the presence of a number of prominent elergymen. Prof. Henry Kleber presided at the organ, and, assisted by a good choir, gave music an important place in the exercises. The pastor cordially welcomed the people to the church, and the response was made by Rev. G. W. Chalfant, D. D. "Our German Christians" was the subject of an agreeable address by Rev. Frederick Balzter.

A NUMBER OF OTHER SPEAKERS. Among the other speakers were Revs. O. B. Milligan, J. W. McKay, J. P. E. Kumer, C. V. Wilson, H. K. Pendleton, Robert

DESCRIPTION OF THE EDIFICE. The new church is a frame structure, two stories high, with a large tower, and is situated at the corner of Grandview In speakin

The church was organized June 30, 1857, with 24 members and Rev. John Y. McCartney as pastor, who maintained charge until 1864. Rev. James Kirk followed him and preached until 1865, when Rev. P. S. Jennings was installed and remained with the church. Jennings was installed and remained with the church until 1883. Rev. S. N. Hoey succeeded Rev. Mr. Jen-nings and served the church for two years and six months. For two years there was no regular pastor, the pulpit being supplied by students from the Seminary. On June 12, 1888, Rev. E. S. # AN INCENTIVE TO WORK.

Interesting Sermon of Rev. A. A. Mealy at His Forbes Avenue Church.

"An Incentive to Work" was the subject of an interesting sermon by Rev. A. A. Mealy, of the Central Presbyterian Church, Forbes avenue, last evening. The text was taken from Galatians vi, 9: "Be not weary in well doing, for in due enson thou shalt reap thy reward." The pastor said: "God speaks in no uncertain terms. The fact is plain. If we cast in our or with His followers, and faint not by the way, the reward is ours. We shall reap the harvest. There are no failures in this harvest, if we go straight forward, doing the work our hands may find to do, in the walk of life in which we are placed. If you sometimes feel that your field is a nar-row one, that your sphere of usefulness is limited, remember that where God has called you there is your place and there the good seed is sown. We are not responsible for the position in which we are placed, but we are responsible for our actic

"Nor should we be impatient to see the results of our efforts. A little child will eften plant a seed, and then, in a short time, growing impatient, will dig it up to see whether it is going to grow. If it had been patient this would have been shown in due time. So it is that sometimes the re-suit of our labors may not at once be apparent; it may be a year, it may be ten years, it may be three score and ten, ave, it ma not be revealed at all until we shall stand before the Judge of all men, but our reward is sure. So, be not discouraged in well de-ing, for in due time will come God's sea-

HOW TO ROUND OUT A LIFE.

Hey. L. M. McCormick Says Godlines Makes Life's Pathway Smoother. Hev. L. M. McCormick, of the Central

Presbyterian Church, Anderson and Lacock streets, preached last night before a large congregation on the text, "Bodily exercise profiteth a little, but godliness is profitable unto all things," The speaker first described the circumstances which caused Paul to write this to Timothy. He said profit is what we all strive for. He first told the profit of a perfect body, and then showed CAMPBELL & DICK. he circumstances which caused Paul to how much more godliness profited a man tian mere physical perfection. He said:

"Godliness is a help to us, for it shows us how to judge correctly of men and things. He who does not have God for his adviser is more liable to be carried away by promises. He is too likely to believe the promise in reality. It oftimes checks specuon, for it teaches a man that he must reup what he saws. This age runs too much to gambling anyway. We are too prone to fry and get something without making an adequate peturn. There is no greater social curse in the world than playing games for or gaming where greater odds are at stake. "Godiness also develops and rounds out a man's nature. The man who lives without God cannot be perfect, for he has a longing for a superior being which is not satisfied.

PRAY INCESSANTLY

Was the Subject of Rev. F.S. Miller, of New York, on the Southside.

The services at the First Presbyterian Church, corner Twentieth and Sarah streets, Southside, were conducted last evening by the pastor, Rev. P. R. Farrand. The sermon was preached by Rev. F. S. Miller, of the Union Theological Seminary of New York. He took for his subject "Prayer." He said: "The Savior labored hard in the vineyard to save the unbeliev-ers. Hss work was everywhere. He healed the lame, the halt and the blind, but because they had faith. If they had waited they would have died. Some pressed for-ward to touch even the hem of His garment that they might be healed. Such faith is the same as prayer, and was answered. The people of Galilee cared nothing for Him, but His work was nearly done. He had labored for nearly three years in the vincyard, without effect, and He knew that the time of His trial had come. He was without hope, but still pressed on, praying that the cup might pass from Him. 'That same faith will bring peace and quietness; the ever Omnipotent will answer our prayers if given in that faith. Whatever we shall ask in My name shall be granted unto you. Have you followed this The Disparch, who met him at Grant and granted unto you. Have you followed this line? Have you prayed for this? If not, why then we fear for your salvation. Take up your cross daily and follow Him, that your prayers may be answered.'

Miss Willard Explains Her Position on the Question of His Cure.

Andrew Bryce, the well-known local Prohibitionist, yesterday received a communication from Miss Willard. In it the lady sets herself right in a matter on which she has been sharply criticised. The letter reads as follows;

to Dr. Keeley and an advocate of the "Keeley Cure."

Second, As the result of inquiries instituted by me during the past week, I believe my remarks last Sunday concerning the press (a remark not in my speech, but offland, and made half in jest and half in earnest) was too sweeping in its character, and that it involved an injustice to those newspapers who have advocated the Keeley cure. Third, If Dr. Keeley will make known the secret of his method, the 10,000 W. C. T. # The Fuel Onestion.

The decline of natural gas has brought the fuel question to the front again, and the publication of such a treatise upon coke and its uses as that just issued by the H. C. It is from the press of the Duquesne Printing and Publishing Com-pany and fully sustains the reputation of that house for excellence of workmanship.

INTENSE DISLIKE FOR THE GALLOWS

"Glorious Old" Tom Marshall walked out the Court House at 4 o'clock Saturday fternoon after having taken an active part n six murder trials within the two weeks just ended. The old legal and political war horse was in a delightful temper. His positive, intelligent face was wreathed in smiles, and he walked with the light, airy step of a young law student. Lawyars and laymen were hurrying in and out of the

THE DISPATCH, who met him at Grant and Diamond streets. "I am going home to rest," he continued.

"In the two weeks just ending I have taken part in the trial of six murder cases, and I have saved them all from the barbarous punishment provided by our laws. I have been practicing law for 50 years this fall, and in that time I have tried more murder cases than any three lawyers in the United States, and in all my cases I have "Transport them, sir. Transport them," the old lawyer answered, with some em-

"Where would you send them?" "To some of the larger islands of the Pacific Ocean. How were Australia and New Zealand inhabited originally, but by the criminals of European countries who were banished for their crimes? Now there are many good citizens there. I would not only send all murderers to these islands, but I would send all criminals, and thus abolish our penitentiaries." "Would not that be an expensive under taking?" "Expensive? No, Sir. It would be de cidedly economic. For the first year the Government should be compelled to provide for each criminal. Then I would say to them, 'root, hog, or die.' Such a plan would not only save a vast amount of suf-fering, but it would save much money, and would clear the country of crime and criminals.

THE LAW OF LOVE UPHELD. "As I said before," Mr. Marshall went on, "I hate the law of capital punishment, The law of love is the only law that should be recognized."

"You have this week saved Killain from the gallows?" "My son Tom did that. I tell you, I am proud of Tom," the old gentleman said, as his face brightened, and he threw his head feeling that is prevalent to-day between Protestants and Catholics. That antipathy his face brightened, and he threw his head back in a hearty, contented laugh. "Yes, sir: I am proud of that boy. Why, a year ago he was devoting his energies and his efforts to breeding high-priced horses. At that time he had 50 horses, but now he has but five or six. He has one thoroughbred worth $7,000 or $8,000, but he is now giving his attention to the law. His effort before the Pardon Board in behalf of Killain was a magnificent one.
