The letter is of the greatest importance, not only to amateur athletic clubs here, but throughout the entire country. It was written in reply to a query sent to Mr. McClellan by Mr. J. A. Wells, secretary of the County Lengue. Mr. Wells asked information reteam, as to whether or not the team could compare for the A. A. U. championship. the also asked a question relative to the E. Grannstie becoming a member of the A. A. U., and the reply, as will be seen, is a very encouraging one. President McClellan and will carry the case to court. also points out that amateur athletics are soon to boom in this part of Pennsylvania. Following is a copy of the letter:

Thomas O'Rourke has cabled the National Club that he will not bring Dixon to England to fight Johnston unless the National Club will put up a £1,00 purse. It is the opinion here in the clubs that Dixon and his backer are afraid of Johnston, and to avoid this match insist on a bir purse being put up. The National Club is eager to bring Dixon and Johnston together, but it believes that £500 and an outside bet of £1,000 should be stake large enough for any pugilist to fight for.

HAZEN IS SKEPTICAL

The Weather Bureau Man Takes No Stock in Dyrenforth's Plan.

NO VALUABLE RESULTS SECURED From the Bain-Producing Experiments

That Came Off in Texas. A LEGITIMATE FIELD FOR RESEARCH

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 .- Prof. H. A. Hazen, of the Weather Bureau, takes very little stock in the rain-producing experiments now going on, and does not seem to think that the reports, partial as they have plainly been, prove that there is anything practical to be expected from the Dyrenforth plan. In fact, it shows that the experiments in the El Paso region were a failure, though it would seem that a time was chosen for them which was most favorable. In regard to the theory Prof. Hazen says in a general way:

"There are two views which have been rather freely advanced regarding the recent experiments in rain production in Western Texas. One of these admits that light sprinkles occasionally followed a few of the explosions, while the other insists very strongly that copious rains frequently fol-lowed immediately upon the explosions, or within a few hours, and tries to explain

MORE DEFINITE FACTS NEEDED. "It is very much to be regretted that definite observations have not been published, and we may hope that this will be done shortly. Still it seems as though enough had appeared to lead us on the way to a correct conclusion. We can safely admit that when rain was imminent or the air was pretty well charged with moisture, a fine drizzle often followed immediately upon the explosion. Indeed, experiments have already been made which show that such a result may be accepted by scien-

"It should be noted, however, that such an admission carries with it the idea that no other result can be anticipated from each explosion. For example, anys rain which occurs after a lapse of about ten minutes cannot be due to the concussion, nor can any rain be due to this which occurs more than 1,000 feet from the spot, or beyond the violent agitation of the explosion. We cannot expect two very dissimilar actions to take place from the same cause.

NO VALUABLE RESULTS. "It would seem that the experimenters should decide on just what shall be regardshould decide on just what shall be regarded as the probable effect of the explosion, and not try to sit on two stools. The evidence is very strong indeed that no valuable results have been or can be obtained by such indiscriminate explosions under all manner of conditions of the atmosphere as these have been. We must first determine, if nearly that the A.R.C. of rais resolutions. if possible, the ABC of rain production, and after that we shall be in a position to take the first step toward helping nature. "There certainly is a legitimate field for research, and it is much to be hoped that there may be a stimulation to try some crucial experiments on a strictly scientific basis in this enchanting field for research. The expense need not be great. Probably one-third the expense of the present very costly trials, in a region where we may say 'a pri-ori' one would be certain to fail, would ensential facts.'

Dr. Kent gave an interesting address, explaining "the reason for being" of the Peoples' Church, which was in brief that it is to gather in those people who were too broad for creeds, who believed in pure Christianity and simple justice in the affairs of every-day life. He would bring this Christianity, this idea of the perfect brotherhood of man into business, politics and all social life. The church starts out with a large mem bership. Its support depends entirely on voluntary contributions, and it is said that regular monthly sums have been pledged, sufficient to insure substantial finances. Mr. Kent resigned from his former pastorate on account of his liberal religious views and his devotion to Socialism, or Nationalism, in social and industrial affairs.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.-[Special.] - A collision is every day feared by their friends between Thornton Hains and Mr. Hannegan, the former the murderer and the latter the father of Ned Hannegan, who was shot by Hains some months ago at Fortress Monroe and recently acquitted. 1t is asserted that young Hains makes it his business to thrust himself in the way of old Mr. Hannegan and even to stop in front of his house and grin and leer at him as he sits at his window or in the door.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 .- In 1494 a city was begun in the royal plain of Lavaga, San Domingo, and called Lavega. A church was built at Lavega and a bell was hung in the belfry tower. In the year 1542 Lavega was destroyed by a terrible earthquake. More than 300 years passed away. One day a man espied a bell in the branches of a fig tree—a parasitic tree that envelops everything in its reach, and which had wrapped its trunk around a portion of the belfry tower of the ruined church. Carefully secured in the specie tank of the Clyde line steamer Saginaw, it made the voyage to New York in safety, whence it was sent to Washington, where it now lies awaiting the proper time for transportation to Chicago for the World's Fair.

HAZING AT ANNAPOLIS

Third Class Men Had Some Fun Making

Turtles Out of Fourth Class Men, but Were Caught at It-The Fun Is Now ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 4 .- The third class men, naval cadets, had only arrived here on Thursday, the opening of the academy, when they began preparations to haze the fourth class men. Lieutenant William F. Fullam, the officer of the day, walked into their room in the midshipmen's old quarters and stopped the fun before it had fairly begun. He said to the class: "Young gentle-men, you had better stop. There are eyes upon you when you are least thinking of it."

On Friday, however, directly after the first drill of the year, Naval Cadets Claude Willis Griffith, of Maryland, Arthur Glynn Cavanaugh, of Nebraska, and Leland Friercavanaugh, of Nebraska, and Leland Frier-son James, of South Carolina, third class men, proceeded to the quarters of Naval Cadets H. V. Butler, Jr., and W. R. Gherardi, son of Commodore Gherardi, to have a little "fun." They got it. They had made Cadet Butler to lie down upon a mattress, another mattress was placed on top of him, and the two mattresses were then lashed together, leaving Butler's head sticking out like the head of a turtle from its shell. A sheet was then thrown over the

GENERAL SANDOVAL IN NEW ORLEANS. He Was Not in Mexico During the Recen

Revolutionary Troubles. NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.-General Ruiz Sandoval has been in this city for the last 30 days. He discussed freely the recent outbreak on the Mexican frontier. General Sandoval says that although he is in sympathy with any movement that may lead to the overthrow of President Diaz, he had absolutely nothing to do with the recent revolution, which was simply a local outburst on the part of the Mexican people. He regretted not being on the spot at the time, for he would certainly have taken a hand in the struggle. The General was very much amused at the telegraphic reports stating that he had escaped to the mountains and would soon be captured. He said

General Sandoval has been on the point of returning to his home in Laredo, Tex., but was informed by his attorney in that city that a warrant was out for him for vio-lating the neutrality laws of the United States in the matter of the revolution. He cannot see in what way he has violated the laws of the United States, as he has been here with his little daughter since August In a few days he will return to Laredo with proof of his stay in New Orleans.

A GOOD JAIL FOP PRISONERS.

even Men Have Escaped From Clarksburg.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 4 .- [Special.] The escape of Thomas Murphy and Riley Ables from the Lewis county jail last week makes seven prisoners who have escaped from that institution during the past year. The others, Wagner, Shoves and Crawford, escaped by hacking their way through the brick walls. Last week a man named Ice and another named Cunningham knocked the guard down, after which Murphy and Ables picked all locks between them and liberty. Ice and Cunningham also escaped, out were recaptured after a hard race and are now in the pen.

Last evening Murphy was captured at Westfield, but the others are still at large. An investigation into this last escape shows that Murphy and Ables had been furnished with a crowbar by some outsider, and nearly made their escape just before their last successful attempt. The only extra precaution was to put the men in chains, while but one guard was placed over them. The jail is a new one, and these frequent escapes have aroused suspicion.

War With the French, but

QUEEN VICTORIA PREVENTED IT. The Secret of the Czar's Warm Advances

Toward the Republic. LORD SALISBURY'S DIPLOMATIC MOVE

BERLIN, Oct. 4 .- Had it not been for the excellent woman's common sense of Queen Victoria and the sound judgment of the Czar, who, in the moment of emergency, acted in perfect accord, Europe would perhaps at this very moment be in the throes of war. The facts are these: Last summer, when the Emperor William was at Osborne, he one evening asked the Queen to accord him a confidential conversation upon a matter of the utmost importance. The request was accorded, and the Emperor said in sub-"I have something on my mind. I seek your counsel. The situation in Germany cannot last 12 months longer. The country cannot bear the financial strain required to keep up its present fighting strength. Socialism is daily assuming more terrible proportions. Germany's allies—especially Italy—are no longer able to keep up the present pace. France, on the contrary, is becoming stronger and stronger, but France is isolated. It is absolutely necessary that Germany should seize the first occasion to declare war upon her. The latest moment to which this can possibly be put off is the spring of 1892."

HOW THE QUEEN BLOCKED IT. The Queen listened to all the Emperor said, and replied: "As long as I live I firmly hope that peace will be maintained. I am now old, but still I feel that my last years shall not be saddened by more blood flowing in Europe. The responsibility that rests upon you is a terrible one. It would, in my opinion, be criminal for any sovereign or statesman to attempt to precipitate events." The conversation ended, and the Queen that evening sent for Lord Salisdury and informed him of this strange conversation, and desired him to talk with the Emperor "I am afraid that would only make things worse, your Majesty," replied Lord Salis-bury, "for I think if I attempted to discuss the question the Emperor might cut matters short by taking me by the shoulders and pushing me out of the window. THE CZAR CALLED INTO ACTION.

"No," continued Lord Salisbury, "there is, in my opinion, only one thing to dowrite an autograph letter to the Czar, tell-ing him frankly what has occurred and urging him, in the interests of the peace of Europe, to lose no time in making a friendly advance toward France, in order to convince Emperor William that France cannot be wantonly attacked. This would cause the Emperor to reflect, and, in my opinion, this is the most effective way of preserving the

The Queen at once followed Lord Salisbury's advice. A confidential envoy was forthwith intrusted with the Queen's auto-graph letter to the Czar. The Czar fully appreciated the critical situation. French fleet was then in Sweden. Czar immediately sent an invitation for it to come to Cronstadt, at the same time inviting the French fleet to visit Portsmouth. The rest is already a matter of history.

A MONUMENT TO GARIBALDI

Unveiled With Great Pomp and Ceremony

at Nice Yesterday. NICE, Oct. 4 .- The Mayor of this city unveiled a me...ument to Garibaldi here to-day in the presence of M. Rouvier, representing the French Government. The Mayor said he would not be surprised in the least to he paid grateful homage to the memory of read that he had been shot. Garibaldi for succoring France in the hour of need, and he hailed in the patriot the symbol of union and concord between the French and Italian people. Other speakers, among them several deputies, spoke in a similar strain. M. Ranc, speaking on behalf of the French Republicans contemptuously repelled the charge that the French desired to restore the temporal power of the Pope. He begged Italians not to be alarmed. M. Rouvier expressed similar sentiments. France, he said, was grateful for Garibaldi's assistance. He Indorses Mr. Scott, of Manchester, Against Sir James Ferguson. LONDON, Oct. 4.-Mr. Gladstone has written a letter to Mr. Scott, of Manchester, in support of the latter's candidature for nember of Parliament for the Northeast division of that city. Mr. Gladstone says his good wishes do not imply animosity to Mr. Scott's antagonist, Sir James Ferguson, but to the Government's policy, which belies its honorable name.

"Unionism," continues Mr. Gladstone,
"by creating disunion between the two countries, has impaired the strength of the Empire. There will surely be incapacity in Parliament to grapple with divers questions of legislation, on all of which a decision is loudly demanded, as long as it is impeded by the controversy on the Irish problem. All considerations are absorbed in the im portance of closing this fruitless controversy that divides the country.'

M. Rochefort Talks About the Effects

General Boulanger's Death. BRUSSELS, Oct. 4.-The Reforme pub ishes an interview with M. Rochefort on the death of General Boulanger. M. Roche fort said he thought that the death of Bou langer would rather improve the prospects of the Revisionists, who are forming the nucleus of a great opposition party. They could no longer be accused of aiming at a dictatorship.

He would not place himself in the clutches of Minister Constans, who desires to sup-press his paper, therefore he would decline the leadership of his party. He believed the death of Boulanger would lead to the re-construction of the Cabinet. Minister Constans was not wanted any longer, and Ministers Constans and De Freycinet were always ready to eat each other up

Many Suspected Persons Are Being Closely Watched by Detectives-Ostrander an Trumpbour Were High Livers-Heavy Runs Expected on Savings Banks.

KINGSTON, Oct. 4.-[Special.]-The susension of the Ulster County Savings Institution has been the all absorbing topic on this delightful October Sabbath. Persons are being kept under close surveillance. Their houses are carefully watched day and night, and no positive avenue of escape is left open. Persons acting both in the interest of the bank and its depositors have seured the aid of detectives to assist in asceraining what has become of the stolen money, and who were directly or indirectly interested in the plundering of the institu-

Large numbers of the depositors in more remote towns of this and adjacent counties, who did not learn of the failure until late this afternoon, have been flocking to town to-day. Both Ostrander and Trumpbour have been extravagant and high livers. They feasted on the fat of the land at the expense of the depositors. On all sides it is asserted that wine, women and stock speculation have been their rain. speculation have been their ruin.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees o the Kingston Savings Bank it was decided to take advantage of the 60 days' notice, and that institution will not be open for busi-ness to-morrow. This will greatly intensify the excitement, and runs on the saving bank are feared. Meetings were held by bank officials last night, and consultation were had to-day to devise plans of opera-tions should the predictions be verified tomorrow. Messengers have been sent to New York and other places to obtain sufficient cash to meet the prospective run.

CLEVELAND IN STATE POLITICS.

He Will Preside at the Flower Ratific but Won't Take the Stump, NEW YORK, Oct. 4.-Ex-President Grover Cleveland will preside at the first meeting of the campaign, to be held in this city next Thursday evening, under the manageent of the Democratic State Committee to ratify the State ticket headed by Roswell P

hall in the city has been selected-Madison

Square Garden, with its capacity for 15,000

The news that Mr. Cleveland had consented to take part in this ratification meet-ing was a source of much satisfaction to the ny Democrats who visited Democratic headquarters yesterday. Nobody was more pleased than Mr. Flower himself. Nearly every Democratic candidate expressed the opinion that the party could not afford to have Mr. Cleveland take the stump this fall. Their sentiments were expressed by a member of the State Committee, who said: "Ex-President Cleveland will preside at the initial meeting of the campaign, which is to be held the latter part of this week under the auspices of the Democratic State Committee. Recognizing the proprieties and the almost unbroken precedents, Mr. Cleveland will probably not be asked to go upon the stump. When the invitation to preside was conveyed to him, however, he said that he could see no reason why he should not preside at such a meeting as is proposed in his own neighborhood and join

COMBING THE HAIR.

The Method Often Causes Baldness, 'but Consumptives Never Suffer.

Very often it is the way in which a young nar combs his hair that causes him to be bald before his time, says a St. Louis barber in the Globe-Democrat. For instance, I think the pompadour style, when carried to excess, is a dangerous manner of dressing the hair. And the young man who brushes his hair up stiffly from his temples usually is relieved of the necessity of that in a few years. He will have secured then the high VIENNA, Oct. 4.—The Hungarian Diet forchead that he has longed for. This de-has unanimously adopted a resolution excauses baldness. BANISHING CAR HORSES. An Argument for Electric Cars Based on the Ares of Smell

In an editorial article on "The Area of Smell," the Electrical Engineer, of New York, has the following, which gives abund ant food for reflection in regard to the employment of animal power on street rail-ways in large cities: "Few people realize how great is the work of the electric car, and the cable car, too, in reducing the number of horses kept in our cities. Wilson, of the New York Board of Health, has recently said that the health inspectors find that the total number of horses in this city is 50,000. The mere substitution of the cable on the Broadway and Third avenue lines will dismiss about 6,000 of those from service, and the streets will be proportion-ately cleaner and longer lasting. "Then the stables are banished also, and with them go many nuisances that no care can keep under. The horse car stables in this city all have their area of smell, and what that smell is a good many passengers on the New York elevated road know intimately. The stench from the stables at Fiftieth street and Sixth avenue makes itself felt pungently for hundreds of feet around, and at some times much worse than at others. The public does not yet resent these nuisances as it might, for the horse ear has been an enormous boon, but by and by they will not be tolerated."
