

A BIG BUSINESS HOUSE

To Be Erected Next Spring Around the Present Central Station.

A NEW MAMMOTH CLOTHING FIRM

About to Be Added to the List of Which Pittsburg Is So Justly Proud.

HOW THE DEAL WAS CONSUMMATED

It was yesterday announced by all the parties to the lease that the Central station property had been secured for a long term of years by K. Solomon, now manager of Guskys', and Charles Ruben, the Smithfield street hatter. These gentlemen have arranged to go extensively into the clothing business. They have leased and purchased 160 feet of the property on Smithfield street adjoining and including the Ruben property. They will get possession of the Central station and the other property on April 1.

They will raise the old buildings and will with all possible haste erect a mammoth six-story structure, which they announce will be one of the largest and best buildings in Pittsburg. With frontage of 160 feet on Smithfield street, it will extend along Diamond street 90 feet, and the building will be constructed in the shape of an "L."

A MAMMOTH BUSINESS BUILDING

Mr. Solomon yesterday declined to state the term of years for which the property had been leased. The fact that the new firm contemplates constructing a magnificent building on the extensive site is substantial evidence that the lease is a long one. Of the property leased 120 feet belonged to Judge Asherson, the other 40 feet were recently purchased through Black & Baird for Mr. Solomon at a good round figure.

When Mr. Solomon first decided to engage in business for himself he attempted to purchase the Central Hotel property, but was unable to consummate the deal. Since then he has been quietly hunting for a suitable location for a business stand, and the one he finally selected is considered one of the best in Pittsburg.

Mr. Solomon said yesterday that he regretted sincerely that the transaction had caused any contention to the city officials, as he regards them all as warm, personal friends. He added:

MR. SOLOMON DECLARES HIMSELF

"We were anxious to let the city officials know of our having secured a lease of the Central station property at the earliest possible moment, to give them ample time to secure another location for their prison. They will have until the 1st of April to get into new quarters, while Mr. Ruben and myself propose taking but four months to build a mammoth structure on the site which we expect to have completed and ready for occupancy by the 1st of August, 1902. We have not yet determined whether the office will be four or six stories high, but it will probably be the latter. Now we have adopted any plan, but in general I may say the building will be an ornament to Smithfield street and a great credit to the city of Pittsburg. We, if we can accomplish this great undertaking in four months, certainly the city ought to secure a location and structure in half a year."

BOTH SUBSTANTIAL BUSINESS MEN

Mr. Solomon, who is to be the head of the new firm, has been manager for Guskys' great clothing house for 14 years. He has wonderful business capacity and is known among the great clothing buyers of America as one of the best known clothing buyers. He is wealthy. As a business man he holds an enviable place in the world. He is honest, straightforward, and his energies know no bounds. His partner, Mr. Ruben, is also a well-known business man who stands among the first of Pittsburg's merchants, and the combination promises to Pittsburg another mammoth business firm.

THE NEW CENTRAL STATION

The city authorities are not experiencing the trouble they contemplated in securing a place suitable for a Central station. Whether to lease a building or buy ground and build one is the question that agitates them. The most now, Mayor Gourley and others are strongly in favor of buying the old Criminal Court property on Diamond street, opposite the jail, and transferring the building thereon into a lock-up. Chief Brown says he has not done anything yet, but his intimates say he favors buying the property from the county.

THE SON OF A MURDERER

Little Charles Snowden Has a Very Sad Story to Tell.

Charles Snowden, aged 8 years, who has a very pathetic story to tell of his life, was yesterday placed in the Temporary Home, 36 Washington street, by Agent James E. Berryman, of the Humane Society. The boy was found a few weeks ago by George Adams, of Edgewood, lounging about a downtown liquor stable, half starved, with scarcely enough clothing to keep him warm, and very dirty. Adams took the boy to his home in Edgewood.

BISHOP DUBS DEPOSED

Summary Action Taken by the German Evangelical Conference. EDINBURGH, Oct. 8.—The committee of the German Evangelical Conference, which has been investigating the case of Bishop Dubs for the past week, submitted its report to-day. The committee declared that the trial proceedings were instituted and completed in strict accordance with the Church law; that all the charges against him were fully sustained; that after his trial and suspension he published a pamphlet which contained misrepresentations and defamations of the Trial Conference and its transactions; that he then traveled over the country, and under the pretext of delivering lectures preached from Scripture texts, and in his paper and other ways standered the conference of the Bishops and officers of the Church.

THE SON OF A MURDERER

After his father was hung he says his mother went to Marietta, O., to live, and about two years ago died, leaving no relatives or friends to care for him. He then found his way to Wheeling, W. Va., and has since, as he says, been engaged "in raising himself." The people who have charge of the boy thought his story peculiar, but in making what investigation they could in the last few days nothing different could be learned.

HOW AN AUNT WAS FOUND.

A Lost Child Whose Knowledge of Botany Came Into Good Play—Her Guardian Fleeted Out in a Crowd by the Flowers in Her Bonnet.

Colonel W. D. Moore tells a story which would, could it be given in print as Mr. Moore tells it, produce a great effect. Ex-Sheriff Cluley was accosted a day or two since at the corner of Sixth street and Liberty avenue by a little tot, a girl, too young to talk plainly, who pulled at his coat and asked "Do 'oo know Aunt Tatie?"

Somewhat surprised Mr. Cluley replied that he could not say unless he knew "Aunt Tatie's" last name. The child opined that the wanted party didn't have any last name; she was "Aunt Tatie." The little one then explained that she was lost, and she was in great distress, her lips quivering so that at times she could scarce speak.

Mr. Cluley thought with all his might for a few moments, when an idea struck him and he asked the child for a description of her aunt. The little maiden replied that "Aunt Tatie" was rather tall and wore nasturtium flowers in her bonnet.

Now, Mr. Cluley would hardly stand a creditable examination in botany. He knows cabbages from potato vines, and knows the nasturtium when he sees it on the roadside, and he is a picker, but to save his soul he could not tell what his flower was like. Again he rubbed his eyes of thought until he rubbed into it a fresh suggestion, and acted upon it at once. Ascending the lady who was posing, he asked her if she knew a nasturtium flower when she saw it. She was at first disposed to resent the question as an impertinence, when Mr. Cluley hastened to explain and begged of her to take an observation and ascertain whether there were any ladies in the neighborhood with that familiar flower in their bonnets.

The lady glanced into several millinery and drygoods stores, and finally called out that she had discovered a lady with a bonnet bearing the flower wanted. She pointed her out, and immediately the little one cried out, joyfully: "That's Aunt Tatie." "Aunt Tatie" was disposed to be cross with her charge for wandering away from the spot she had designated to wait until her aunt did some shopping, but Mr. Cluley's feelings were aroused, and he would not let the little one scold. Instead, he proceeded to reprimand the woman for her thoughtlessness in leaving her charge exposed to the danger of being kidnapped.

"Aunt Tatie" had become so interested in her shopping that she had forgotten to note the flight of time. Had the little one not been bright enough to recollect the name of the flower in the bonnet, she would probably have been crying her eyes out, a guest at the Central station, and her aunt would have been frantic.

A Verdict Against Mr. Stayton

In the suit of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company against R. Stayton, the ex-Councilman of Allegheny, to recover for the alleged violation of a contract whereby Stayton agreed to go to Texas and establish agencies for the company, a verdict was given yesterday for $443 to the plaintiff.

Gratifying to All

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant and useful Fig Syrup of Figgs, as the most excellent laxative known, illustrate the value of the qualities which its success is based, and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup Company.

A BUSINESS HOUSE IN TROUBLE

A Case of Bankruptcy That Must Be Prevented.

There is a big struggle now being made by a business firm in this city to prevent a good name from going to ruin. Yesterday morning at 8 o'clock the doors of the compelled push tailor-made clothing sacrifice sale were thrown open to the public. The rush was so great that 18 salesmen who are employed to wait on buyers became thoroughly exhausted. Voices could be distinctly heard by the great multitude of anxious buyers to be kind enough to wait on them. This only goes to show how people who have to work hard for the almighty dollar appreciate the saving of 45 per cent on the dollar. For the benefit of strangers and the public in general who are anxious to save a reputable firm from going into bankruptcy this sacrifice is distinctly given. The great sacrifice sale is at 646 Liberty street, corner of Sixth avenue, and not Liberty street, near Wood street, as stated in two evening papers. Peruvian crossed diagonal coats, Italian satins, can be bought as cheap as 93 cents. The unheard-of low quotations on men's, boys' and children's suits at this great clothing sale 646, corner of Liberty and Sixth avenues, will encourage the person with limited means to buy whether they want to or not. Kindly remember that no clothing house in the United States carries a grander line of goods than can be found at this great clothing sale now going on at the corner of Liberty and Sixth avenue. One dozen additional salesmen have been employed for Saturday's trade, and all wishing to attend the sale can rest assured of receiving due attention.

SOMETHING ALL LADIES SHOULD NOTE.

Of all the Corsets exported from Paris no make has achieved such deserved renown as this, which is distinguished by the Trade Mark "I. C. A. PERSEPHONE L. C." The inventor of this celebrated Corset has succeeded more completely than any previous maker in effecting such a true alliance between art and utility, the design being such as to combine perfectly the beauty of shape and contour, with the utility of the materials presented, on a combination of firmness and pliancy, which is sustained in its durability to the last. The materials are of the best quality and of the most elegant and fashionable design. The distinguishing feature of this Corset is the French Corset, which is much appreciated by the leading COUPE DRESMAKERS AND LADIES' TAILORS of Europe and this country; their work showing to so much greater advantage over those elegant Corsets. The simplest dress is made to look stylish and attractive by them, while with inferior makes the most expensive costume is deprived of its intended charm.

The "I. C. A. LA PERSEPHONE I. C." IS SOLD BY ALL LEADING RETAILERS.
