-There is some talk that the subject of drawing will again shortly figure before the Central Board of Education. The question will not be as to its desirability, for that is conceded on every hand, but as to the present method. Some contend and they are few in number, that the present system is too expensive, since it calls for varied colored a process.

It must be said that the objections have

It must be said that the objections have little weight. The Central Board considered these objections when it adopted the system, and would not have run counter to what it thought right. Beside the board has the examples of such cities as Boston and Philadelphia, to show that the present system of drawing is the best in vogue. The teachers like the present system very much, and opposition to it will have to be developed in the Central Board. As the Central Board commended the adoption of this drawing system and placed it in the course of study, it is hardly likely it will make any change.

-The past week was notable for the number of meetings of ladies interested in various charities and institutions deserving aid. Almost every day there have been catherings of the noble women of this city, who decote their lives to acts of benevolence, for only reward sought or desired. The social season is just dawning, but these women do not care so much for the receptions, parties and a o'clock tens as for doing what they can to ameliorate the condition of those who are not so well supplied with the blessings of

The hospitals, especially, demand the con-stant attention of those who are ever on the watch for an opportunity to do good. In Ladies' Aid Society of the South Side Hospital is getting along bravely with its prepertions for the entertainment to be given n the beginning of November, and from which they expect to net a large sum for the cenefit of the struggling institution on the South Side. Then there is the National that the ladies of the of the Ascension are arranging for, so that they may build a new parsonage. It is evident that the ladies of Pittsburg are determined to do their part toward building public edifices in their city. There were several notable marriages during the week. It is remarkable that most of the weddings have taken place in the some instead of in the church. Is it possible that there is a feeling in favor of home reddings, to the exclusion of the parade in the courch altogether? It appears so. There is one thing in favor of the present wedding season. With one exception the past week has been beautiful. Happy is the oride the sun shines on, they say. If this be true the brides of the past few weeks should indeed have been happy, for the sun has done his duty in this respect, and has shone persistently on every bride. The air of the last few days, however, has had a snap in it that brings a sweet blush to the uniden cheek, regardless of her feelings. If brides have not looked attractive in the air

Thursday evening Moll Pitcher Council was instituted at Boston, Pa., opposite Ellrod, on the Baltimore and Ohio road, by G. E. Kepple, of Unity Council, assisted by National Marshal Mrs. Laura Thompson, Deputy National Councilor F. D. Thompson, of Pride of the West Council; Frank Jones, of Valley Force, and George Malger, of Evening Star. The charter list contains 52 names, but as usual all the candidates were not initiated, but the council starts out with exceptionally bright prospects, having an excellent community to work in. The following officers were elected and installed: Jr. Ex. Councilor, Robert Bayard; Councilor, John Bayard; A. C., Miss Annie Cornell; V. C., Miss Annie Beck; Secretary, Wm. H. Ransick; F. S. Miss Annie Duncan; Teasurer, Louis Bayne; I. G., Wm. Graham; O. G., John Beringer; Trustees, John Bayard, Wm. Jack and Evan Bayne.

Its opponents claim that the continued use of the same clay is detrimental to health. For instance, a certain quantity of the clay is distributed among the pupils to be modeled into cubes and other figures. When they are through with the portions of clay given them, these portions are again thrown together to form a new conglomeration.
