HINTS OF PARIS FUND DISCLOSURES

DUBLIN, Oct. 15 .- A convention of the Irish National Federation was held at Cavan to-day. There were many priests among the delegates. The meeting was presided over by Timothy Healy, member of Parliament for North Longford. In his preliminary address he said the members of the Irish national party are not concerned with enlogies over the dead, but in the interests of Ireland, let the dead past bury its dead.

"Mr. Parnell has gone to his account, and those honoring his services to the nation thought that the best memorial would be to push on the work upon which he was engaged before the clouds intervened between his vision and the best goal of Ireland. Her real sons were not afraid to face public Whatever happened he would never apologize for doing what he could against Parnell when he found that the country's interest demanded Parnell to retire from the leadership of the majority. He hoped that dissensions would be interred in his grave.

THE MINORITY TO BLAME.

"The vote for renewed war came from the minority, and not from them. The maority continued to be willing to overlook the acts and calumnies of their opponents, because they were not fighting on personal questions, but on national ones. If Mr. Parnell knew where he was going in opposing the majority these men did not, nor did they know the forces they were unloosening or the consequence of their action upon the destinies of their country. They said, 'We cannot shake hands with you.' They never seemed to contemplate the feelings of those offering to shake hands with them. We might be like those starving American trappers who, you rememcer, could cat crow, but did not hanker after it.

"If the minority felt unable to co-operate with us, let them resign their seats, giving way to men who are open for reunion. Ireland had given them no mandate to perpet-uate a feud. Their position was degrading, not only defying the constituencies of Ire-and, but in the fact they had not even the fallen's shame, because they gloried in their

fools, for these men declare that they despised Dillon and O'Brien. So stupendous was their audacity that he really began to wonder how they were standing." He hoped O'Brien would now publish to the world the whole stery of the Boulogne regotiations. If the letters and repeated occlarations of Redmond and Harrington, now the civil sergeants of dissension, were published, he promised such an exas probably has never been ky regard to the public men and people of Ireand. He could forgive Parnell; indeed, he believed he had already forgiven him. Cheers.] But these men, pretending to be als political heirs and executors, had not the excuse of Parnell. They were acting solely in the interests of Dublin Castle and the Grange lodges, whom the people hoped to east out as ulcers on the body politics.

Mrs. Parnell Still Very Weak.

LONDON, Oct. 15 .- The health of Mrs, Parnell shows no sign of improvement. Mrs. Parnell has in no way recovered from the terrible shock she experienced upon the death of her husband. She is in an ex-tremely weak condition, and is still confined to the bed. She can scarcely speak even in a whisper, owing to her excessive debility. Mrs. Parnell is still in constant receipt of messages of condolence.

THE SOCIALIST CONGRESS.

AN EXTREMIST ATTACKS THE TOADY-ISM OF THE LEADERS.

His Tone Remarkably Moderate, and His Colleagues Accuse Him of Aiming at the Leadership of the Opposition in the Reichstag-The Budget Report.

ERFURT, Oct. 15 .- At to-day's session of the Socialist Congress the report of the past year's work was read, and it was thereby anounced that satisfactory and important results had been achieved during that period. The holding of meetings throughout Germany, the report said, had greatly extended the agitation the Socialists advocated. The budget showed the revenue of the organization to have been $55,965 and the expenditures $34,735. During the year The Minority Members Are Requested to 85 years of imprisonment had been inflicted upon Socialists, and fines to the amount of $4,590 imposed on the brethren in Germany. The pecuniary allowance granted to members of the Reichstag has been raised from $1.25 to $1.50 a day with an extra allowance of $75 a month for lodgings. Herr Werner, an extremist, spoke in friendly criticism of the report. He denied that an organized opposition had been formed against the directing committee, which, he said, would be confronted only by isolated antagonists, each of whom would be responsible for his own deliverances. Herr Werner also condemned the optimism and Chauvinism which he said was displayed by the leaders in their speeches. Later on the speaker also conmned what he classed as their "tondy-

"Thus," he said, "Herr Grillingberg's aper appeared with a mourning border on be anniversary of the death of the Emperor Frederick."

At another portion of his discourse, Herr Werner said that, generally speaking, the socialist members of the Reichstag failed to hold aloft the banner of their party in the House, adopting opportunist tactics, which ordance with the best methods of socialism.

Speakers who followed Herr Werner mmented strongly upon his change of ne from denunciation to moderation, and referred to his obvious disinclination to pose as a leader of the opposition in the Reichstag. Herr Bebel referred to the public assertions made by Herr Werner and Herr Wildberger to the effect that a member of the committee had accepted a present of $1,250 in consideration of litical service, and demanded that both of the gentlemen named should be expelled from the Congress unless the charge was withdrawn. A scene of considerable uproar

FOR DELEGATES' DINNERS.

An Amusing Lawsuit Against Several Well-Known Gentlemen, Associated Together Under the Style of the Straightout Republicans-It Will Be Settled.

At the headquarters of the regular Republicans, on Diamond street, yesterday afternoon the managers were fairly bursting with laughter over a little lawsuit which had just been commenced in the office of Alderman McKenna. The straightouts were also somewhat amused, though they were the parties defendant, but admitted that it was "a horse" on them.

The title of the case is "Charles Gill versus Archie Rowand, Jr., Charles S. Fetterman, James Fitzsimmons, L. K. Porter, Dr. George F. McCord, W. F. Trimble, J. M. Brush and John N. Dunn, associated together under the name and style of straightout Republicans." The claim is for $75 due Mr. Gill, of the St. Charles Hotel, for 150 meals served to delegates who attended the county convention of the straightout Republicans. Summons were placed in the hands of Constable John Sweeney to be served on the defendants, and the case was set for hearing on Thursday, October 22, at 10 o'clock. The action was brought by Attorney Joseph Crown, who represents Mr. Gill. Mr. Rowand, who is the first named of the detendants, and who is also Chairman of the Straightout Committee on Organization, had not yet received his summons when called upon, and the title of the case provoked a laugh.

"Tell him to sue us all," said Mr. Row-"There are over 409 members of the County Committee, and they ought not to be so partial. It is no disgrace to say that the committee has been a little crippled for the lack of funds, but if Charles Gill, whom I have known for years, had intimated that he was going to bring this action I would have given him my personal check for the amount due him. Crown, who brings the suit for Mr. Gill, is one of the gang. I do not think the candidates for the judgeships, whose causes he espouses, will thank him for his trouble. I am surprised that the matter was placed in the hands of an attorney. The reason the bill was not paid was that Mr. Gibbs, Chair-man of the County Committee, was ill. He was engineering the finances, and his death caused another delay. Charles Gill is over anxious or is acting upon the advice of our po-litical enemies. Unfortunately the straightout movement has not 5,000 employes to draw upon for centributions, 'the same to be vol-untary, not obligatory.' When Gill came to me I told him I-had not time to attend to his claim. My business is to see that every voter gets a straightout ticket. One reason the bill was not paid is that we are compelled to pay our clerks cash. Of course the bill is a just one, and will be paid. It should have been paid long ago. When I accepted the Chairmanship of Straightout Organization Committee Mr. Gibbs guaranteed that he would raise a ampaign fund of $5,000 within 30 days, and we would now have the money if he had lived. We do not expect to win with hands down, but we will win the battle, and every bill will be paid before the polls close."

Mr. Gill said that he had run after the committee until he was tired of it. He had elephoned them about a thousand times, nd was always put off with a fresh promise. The committee, he said, had promised to pay cash when they engaged the meals. He said that a bill of $75 was also due at the Central Hotel from the committee, and that thought he had better secure his claim

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Oct. 15 .- At the executive session of the National Congress for the Advancement of Women this morning, reports were received from the Vice Presidents of California, Kansas, Illinois, Connecticut and Colorado upon the progress being made in the respective States for the advancement of women. In several of the States women are appointed factory and sanitary inspectors, and in Illinois women inspectors are clothed with police power. Mrs. H. L. T. Wolcott, President of the Committee on Science, reported great progress made by the women in scientific fields, respecially medicine and surgery, the law, higher mathematics and astronomy. In the afternoon Dr. Marks, of Baltimore, conducted a medical symposium on "La Grippe." The lives of "Women in Africa" were vividly described by Mrs. Ellen B. Dietrick. Mrs. Colby gave a description of the beneficent results of woman suffrage in Wyoming, and Mrs. Julia Warde Howe discussed the dangers arising from "Aliens to America," with special reference to the condition of the foreign woman.

MILLS IN THE LEAD.

Chances Favor the Texas Free Trader for the Speakership.

FARMER HATCH AS A COMPROMISE,

In Case a Deadlock Arises Between Mills and His Rival, Crisp.

THIS IS HARDLY EXPECTED. HOWEVER

PROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.1 WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 .- The presence of both Mills and Crisp, the leading Democratic candidates for the House Speakership, in the city for a couple of days has led to a more careful analysis of the situation than heretofore. A concensus of opinion seems to indicate a certainty that the mantle of Reed will fall upon either Mills or Crisp, with the chances strongly in favor of the hot-headed and ill-judging free trader from Texas, instead of the cool, judicial, semi-tariff man from Georgia. So far as hands have been shown the two run nearly equal in numerical support, but it is pretty certain that the uncommitted are, a majority of them, in favor of Mills, and that the supporters of the minor candi-dates, Springer, McMillan, Bynum and Hatch, are largely so from local association, and favorable in the main to Mills after their own candidates are out of the way. Some are even not so full of local patriotism, and, like Hon. John O'Neill, of Missouri, are for Mills from the first, though the humorous O'Neill should naturally be for Hatch.

If the contest results in a deadlock between Mills and Crisp, it is more than pos-sible that Farmer Hatch, of Missouri, would be the lucky candidate, as a warm friend-ship is manifested for him in every direc-tion. A deadlock, however, is not looked upon as probable. The keenest unprejudiced calculators say that from the present view of the situation Mills will have on the first ballot so nearly the number necessary to nominate that the scattering votes will at once gravitate to him and give him all that is wanting.

A good indication of the drift of feeling is found in the fact that the leading candidates for the minor positions are rushing over one another to make terms with Mills, and one of the chief of these was a very few weeks ago a firm adherent of Crisp. A curious feature of this condition of things is that many of the strongest supporters of Mills believe that his election grave mistake, on account of his unruly temper, and that any of the others would be far safer, if less prominent in the party lead-

It cannot be denied that Mills is unaniusly the candidate of the Republicans, and this adds to the sinister character of the forecaste made by Mills' doubting supporters, but it looks as if they could abatelon their position.

CORN BREAD IN GERMANY.

Secretary Rusk's Agent Endeavoring to Introduce Maize There.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 .- Secretary Rusk is in receipt of a communication from Colonel J. C. Murphy, a special agent in Europe on behalf of the maize industry. Colonel Murphy proceeded to Berlin by the Secretary's instruction a short time ago, in order to take advantage of the present shortage of the cereal crops of Europe by presenting to the attention of the German ple and Government the importance and value of American Indian corn as a cheap and nutritious substitute for other cereal Colonel Murphy states that he has been able to produce bread composed in part of rye and part of corn, which has been highly commended by all those to whom samples have been submitted, as a most satisfactory substitute for the ordinary rye bread in general use among certain classes in Germany, and this at a cost, based on the present price of rye flour and cornmeal in Germany, less than the cost of bread made exclusively of rye flour and now retailed in that city. Should special concessions in the matter of tariff duties be secured from the German Government on Indian corn, the outlook for a large increase in our exports of that product to Germany would, in the opinion of Colonel Murphy, be most promising.

NEERASKA'S GOVERNOR.

The United States Supreme Court Will

Have to Decide Who He Is, WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.-Ex-Attorney General Garland, of counsel for plaintiff. will next Monday file a motion in the Supreme Court of the United States to advance and set for hearing the case of James E. Boyd, plaintiff in error, versus the State of Nebraska ex rel John M. Thayer. The case comes to the Supreme Court on a writ of error from the Supreme Court of Nebraska. It involves the right to the office of Governor of the State of Nebraska for the period of two days from the first Thursday after the first Tuesday of January, 1891. The Supreme Court of Nebraska held that Boyd was not eligible to the office of Gover-nor, to which he had been elected, because he was not a citizen of the United States for two years prior to November 4, 1890. Mr. Garland in support of his motion will argue that the Supreme Court has jurisdiction in the matter. Nearly one-half of plaintiff's term of office must expire before this cause can be finally determined, be that as early as possible, and if the case is permitted to remain and "bide its time" on the docket, not only will such term wholly expire, but it is quite probable two other gen-eral elections will be held in Nebraska before this controversy is finally disposed of.

ASSISTANCE FROM CANADA

Asked for by Wanamaker to Circumvent the Lottery Agents There.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 .- In a letter addressed to the Postmaster General of Canada, Postmaster General Wanamaker says the Louisiana Lottery Company has established an agency at Toronto and is flooding the United States mails with its circulars in sealed envelopes from that point. As the act of mailing, constituting the offense, does not occur within our jurisdiction, the Post-master General says the penal clause of the law cannot apply.

As all lottery tickets and lottery circulars are held by the Treasury Department to be liable to customs duties, postmasters at all United States exchange offices have been instructed to place upon mail matter which they believe to contain dutiable articles the words, "supposed liable to customs duty. At the office of destination such matter opened by the addressee in presence of the customs officer, and if found to contain lottery matter is forfeited to the United States. Postmaster General Wanamaker has asked the Canadian Postmaster General if it would be proper to instruct the postmaster at Toronto to so stamp letters mailed there by the agent of the lottery company. If that course is pursued the postmasters at United States exchange offices, he says, will make a similar indorsement on behalf of this

A COLORED LEADER OUT.

Recorder Townsend's Resignation Accepted by the President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 .- [Special.]-President Harrison to-day accepted the resignation of James M. Townsend, Recorder of the Land Office, to take effect November 1. Mr. Townsend was appointed from Indiana and is the only colored resident of that State who has been able to secure a Presideutal appointment under the present administration. He assumed the duties of his office within a few weeks after President Harrison was inaugurated, and some months later he incurred official disfavor by accepting the leadership of the young and ambitious men of his race who are in revolt against Fred. Douglass, ex-Minister to Haiti, and B. K. Bruce, Recorder of Deeds. The colored men here say that President

Harrison has set these men up as high priests of their race, and Mr. Townsend is not in their favor. He has been too out-spoken in behalf of the men of his color, and the black triumvirate they say has set its seal of condemnation upon him. He is held responsible for the revolt of the ored voters of Indiana against the Republican party, although he decies that he is

SATISFIED WITH HIS CHANCES IN THE SPEAKERSHIP FIGHT.

The Solid South, He Says, is for Him-Many Pledges From Northern Democrats - Pattison's Success Will Make Him a Formidable Presidental Candi-

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 .- Judge Crisp, of Seorgia, is very hopeful of his chances in he Speakership contest. He is confidently expecting a practically solid vote from the South. He also has assurances from Northern and Eastern Democrats.

"The real contest for the Speakership," said the Judge, "will not begin until after the November election. The campaign will likely be short and sharp. I am very well satisfied with my prospects. I have a flattering number of personal pledges. The canvass will be lively from the fact that so many new members are coming in. It has been remarked that not for many years have there been so many uncommitted votes in the Speakership question. This, I presume is true. Over half of the next Congress will be composed of new men, the majority being proportionately Democratic. These new members naturally want to meet the candidates and make their personal ac-quaintance before they pledge their sup-

Judge Crisp said he had been depending largely on newspaper accounts for his knowledge of his opponents' movements, and from what he had learned that way he had no cause to be disheartened. The Judge is about entering upon a busy campaign in the interest of Democracy in Ohio, New York and Massachusetts. He is now on his way to Cincinnati, where he will make his first speech for Governor Camp-bell next Monday. "We must win the race in Ohio," he said, peaking of the national significance attach ing to the campaign in that State. "Should Mr. McKinley be elected it will be an indorsement of the new tariff law, which we hold is iniquitous and unjust in its operations. That is the issue in the Buckeye State, and the eyes of the whole country are turned toward the fight there. Governor Campbell, to my mind, is gaining ground daily. He is nailing his opponents down to the issue, despite their efforts to bring in extraneous questions."

He expressed great surprise and gratification at the latest news from Pennsylvania. The Judge agrees that if the Democrats win in Pennsylvania this fall Governor Pattison will be one of the foremost candidates for the Presidental nomination.

Is it likely that at this time a decomposed body can be recognized? Not at all. If his family had wanted to prove his death they should have right away. There was no sense in this waiting a year, unless it was in the hope that decomposition would destroy all evi-dence that would lead to identification."

POLITICS IN THE STATE AND NATION

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. BLOOMSBURG, Oct. 15 .- The receptions to the Democratic candidates for Auditor General and State Treasurer are increasing in magnitude and enthusiasm as the party passes from town to town. There was a great outpouring of people at Scranton last night to greet Messrs. Wright and Tilden, but it did not exceed that of the yeomanry of old Columbia county who turned out here to-day and to-night to shake hands.

The party arrived here at noon to-day and were met by County Chairman Townsend and many leading Democrats. They visited the fair in the afternoon, where they met many thousand people. To night's met many thousand people. To night's meeting in the Court House was a monster affair, the large room being packed with en-thusiastic farmers from all parts of the county. Candidates Tilden and Wright, John H. Fow and D. C. Dewitt were the speakers. Such prominent men as ex-Congressman Charles R. Buckalew, Judge Ikeler, Associate Judges Murphy and Millard, Assemblymen Tewkesbury and Kirsch-baum, Sheriff Casey, County Commissioners Rittenhouse and Edgar, and many other local lander was a local leaders were present. John G. Freeze presided. All the speeches were well re-ceived, especially that of Mr. Wright, when he said if elected he would open the books of the Auditor's General's office and "turn on the light." This brought down the house amid cries of "that's what we want." IN REBUKING REPUBLICANS FOR CALLING HIM A CLOWN.

Fun for the Farmers at Democratic Meetings-The Governor Says They are Entitled to It-A Free Trade Speech to 2,500 of Them.

ST. MARY'S, O., Oct. 15 .- [Special.]-Governor Campbell and party drove from Celina to New Bremen this morning, a distance of 17 miles. The latter is a quaint German town of 1,500 inhabitants, and most all of them are Democrats. There was a procession and booming cannon to meet him. Despite the raw, chilly day, the meeting was held in the open air. The farmers turned out well, and there were probably 2,500 people about the speaker's stand.

The Governor began his speech by a witty rebuke to the Republican papers, which charged that he was making a clown of himself. He said: "The Republican papers complain that there is altogether too much hilarity at our meetings. Well, we are having a little fun owing to the should relieve of the sale." fun, owing to the absurd claims of the advocates of the high tariff. The votes stand as before-Kooser, 3; Longnecker. 3. Heretofore it had been the custom of this parody on conferences to hold weekly exhibitions, alternating between Bedford and Somerset. It is now under-stood the Longnecker conferees will oppose any adjournment until the nomination is decided, on the ground that the election is but little better than two weeks off and too much time is consumed in going from place

Paralysis Is All Nonsense. BOSTON, Oct. 15.-Senator Hale, of Maine, says of Mr. Blaine: "You would hardly know him for the same person that passed through Boston in June last. He eats well, sleeps well and his mind is as active and alert as ever. He passed some time with me at Ellsworth on his journey from Bar Harbor to Augusta, and his chief reason for going to his old home was that his house in that city was better adapted for an October residence than the Bar Harbor cottage." Referring to the reports of Tuesday that Mr. Blaine had been the victim of paralysis, Senator Hale observed that, if true, thought a good many might be largely fited by a similar shock. "No," Hale, "it's all nonsense."

The Brooklyn Mayor Gets the Nomination in a Big Democratic District.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 .- [Special.] -- Mayor Alfred C. Chapin, of Brooklyn, was nominated for Congress to-night in the Second district, in place of David A. Boody, who resigned on his nomination to the Mayor-

PULLING FOR FASSETT.

REPUBLICANS ARE CERTAIN THAT HE WILL BE ELECTED.

The Campaign in New York Is Growing Very Hot-Blaine the Favorite of Empire State Republicans - Hill's Popularity Has Waned of Late.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—[Special.]— Though Republicans are in Washington who are willing to make bets on Flower's election and even to bet on his having a good majority, the Republicans who come here fresh from New York will make no such admission. Representative Wever is here today and says it is a good bet to give odds on Fassett's election.

"We are going to elect Fassett," he said to-day. "The campaign is a hot one and will probably get hotter as it advances. We Republicans have got tired of being hammered and we are going to pull altogether and win. The people in New York City may be willing to be food for the Tiger, but we in the rest of the State are not disposed to do so. We have got the Democrats thoroughly frightened and I suppose that fact will make them fight the harder, but I am confident of Fassett's election."

Speaking of the State favorites for the Presidental nomination, Mr. Wever said that he thought Hill had no chance whatever of getting the Democratic nomination for the Presidency; that his stock had gene down greatly of late. Still, he said, Hill might be able to prevent Cleveland getting the State. As to the Republican nomina-tion, he said that Blaine was the favorite in New York State and that he would, in all probability, be the Republican nominee. "We are all Harrison men of course," he said. "We all sustain the administration, but there is no question about it, Blaine can have the nomination if he will accept it. I have a friend who has been with Blaine a great deal of late. He assures me that Blaine is now in splendid condition, and he has been keen and bright during all the while there has been so much talk of his 'declining powers'. Blaine is all right."

SUCCORED BY HER DOG.

A NOBLE CANINE BRINGS RELIEF TO HIS HERMIT MISTRESS.

The Aged Woman Was Stricken Wift Paralysis and Couldn't Move-Food Dragged to Her Bedside From a Cupboard by the Faithful Dog.

WILKESBARRE, Oct. 15. - [Special.]-'Granny'' Farrell is one of the distinguished residents of the village of Sturmerville. She is 92 years old. For 31 years she has been a widow. Her husband was killed in the war. She draws a good pension, but insists on living the life of a hermit. She has no relatives, and lives in a little frame house a quarter of a mile from the nearest neighbor. She was last seen in Pittston about the middle of September. She told a storekeeper there that she had laid in her winter's supply of provisions and would soon lock herself up. "Granny's" neighbors knew what that meant.

Every winter she locks herself up and nobody sees her until the spring again. When the house was closed daylight never entered. She lived by lamplight. She always claimed the light of winter was cold and that she burned less coal when the house was closed up tight. "Granny's" only companion was a big Newfoundland dog. When she went to the cellar for coal the dog would always accompany her. He would take the coal bucket in his mouth and carry it up stairs. He would do this with the ash bucket. Dick, like his mistress, would never leave the house in winter.

barking. He would start off toward the house of his mistress, whining, and then re-turn again. Mrs. Sackey also said old "Granny" was either dead or very sick. The dog leaped with joy when three persons started off with him. Arriving at the house the dog went to a cellar hole, where he had made his exit from the house. It was found that he had torn away two big boards which had been nailed fast. His front jaws were badly lacerated and his mouth was very sore. The Sackeys broke down the door, and more dead than alive. She had been stricken with paralysis. The last food she took was bologna sausage and hard crackers. The sausage had been dragged from a cupboard to the bed by the dog. He now oc-cupies a place at the foot of his mistress' bed. The doctor says "Granny" cannot live.

TIN MINES IN DAKOTA.

Fifteen Hundred Men Employed in Getting Out the Ore in Them.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 15 .- [Special]-The Hon. Lowe Emerson, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and one of the bestknown carriage manufacturers in the United States, who has just returned from several months in the West, says:

"I know personally that there are tin mines in the United States. They are out in Dakota at a place called Hill City, between Deadwood and Custer City. Both sides of the gulch there have been bought up by the tin company, and when I was there they were going to put up smelting works. The tin occurs both native and in the quartz and can be picked out of some of the de posits. The best thing about it is that the deeper they go into the hill the richer the yield, at least so they tell me. The com-pany employed about 1,500 men when I was there, and a good amount of capital is in

count of a Sunken Steamer. SAULT STE. MARIE, MICH., Oct. 15 .-[Special.]-To-night 180 vessels are tied up here on account of the blockade in the canal by the sunken steamer Peck. Superintendent Lynch, who has been authorized by the War Department to take charge of passing the immense fleet through new channel, to-day notified each craft when its turn would come. The amount of vessel tonnage in the entire fleet is about 330,000 gross tons, and the estimated vessels and their cargoes is about $22,500,000. The finest ships of the lakes are in the jam, and nearly all of them are laden with grain and coal. Many collisions will occur in the rush which will be made to-morrow.

Lieutenant Cowles May Escape Punishment for the Disaster.

SOME STRONG SOCIAL PRESSURE

Will Be Brought to Bear to Save the Young

THE PROBABLE LINE OF HIS DEFENSE

Naval Officer.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.-Naval officers and others who are interested in matters relating to the discipline of the army and navy are at present giving attention to the subject of the wreck of the Despatch, and the question of the hour among this class of people is: Will Lieutenant Cowles be court martialed or will political and social influence be successful in clearing his skirts? Opinions are decided, both as to whether Lieutenant Cowles is guilty and as to his chances of escaping conviction. Many officers, who claim not to be at all prejudiced, express the opinion that Lieutenant Cowles was guilty of gross negligence in leaving the bridge of the vessel and going below even for a moment, owing to such a severe storm as that encountered on the Despatch, and that it does not lessen his guilt a particle to show that Lieutenant Mulligan was on deck at the time the vessel went on the shoals.

CAUSE OF THEIR ACTION. The failure of the officers of the ship to put to sea when they found themselves out of their course, instead of remaining in shore with momentary danger of being wrecked, can only be explained, it is said, by the evident desire of the officers to make a quick voyage to the Potomac river, both in order to get out of the rough weather and to gratify the desires of the officials of the administration who were awaiting the arrival of the Despatch in order to go aboard of her. No formal report of the disaster has yet been received from Lieutenant Cowles, but when it comes it will probably be accompanied with a request for a court of inquiry, which will be appointed whether or no. Lieutenant Mulligan, who was on deck when the accident occurred, will perhaps be made a defendant with Lieutenant Cowles before the court martial that will nudoubtedly be appointed. The defense of these officers, it is thought, will be based on the terrible state of the weather at the time the ship struck, and, possibly, on the un-seaworthiness of the steamer as well.

THE PLAN OF DEFENSE. It is said that they will most likely insist that in the thick atmosphere of the night the white light of the lighthouse appeared red, and that therefore it was easily taken for the red light of the schooner Drift, which had been anchored off the winter quarter shoal in place of the regular lightship. This, it is thought, will involve a long examination into the scientific bearings of the case and may develop some in-teresting facts in regard to the usefulness of the present system of colored lights and af-ford a strong argument in favor of the plan of the Lighthouse Board looking to the abandonment of the present system of col-Nothing has been heard from Secrefary Fracy regarding the loss of the Despatch, and no one at the department who occupies an official position will express an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of Lieutenant Cowles. He has relatives who occupy prominent official stations, and his strong friends in the social world of Washington will leave ress, would never leave the house in vinter.

On Saturday last the dog made his escape from the house. He went to Mrs. Sackey's, seems beyond dispute now, and that is that the officer in command cannot shift the responsibility for the care of a vessel to a junior officer, by sending the latter on deck, and that whether Lieutenant Mulligan was in command of the Despatch at the m she went ashore, Lieutenant Cowles is the man who must bear the entire responsi bility. When Secretary Tracy recently censured Commander Reiter in such severe terms, it was thought that hereafter no influence whatever could be successfully invoked to prevent the punishment of offending naval officers, but that hope was dissipated when the Secretary, after listening to the appeals of Commander Reiter's friends, weakened materially in the terms of his condemnation. Judging by innumerable precedents and present circumstances, therefore, the majority of officers in Washington think that Lieutenant Cowles will not be punished for the loss of the Despatch.

TO PROSECUTE HOEY. Criminal and Civil Suits to Be Brought

Against the Ex-President, NEW YORK, Oct. 15 .- There was no meeting of the Hoey investigating committee today, so Vice President Lovejoy, of the Adams Express Company, said. Clarence A. Seward was at the office a great part of the day, however, and it was said that he and the other officers of the company were talking about the advisability of prosecuting Hoey both criminally and civilly. Mr. Sanford was seen in the morning, and said that the report that Mr. Hoey and Mr. Spooner while ago was true.

"What a state of affairs this is," he said. "Here is the great Adams Express Com-pany, a concern with a capital of over $20,-000,000, whose business extends to every State and Territory in the Union; whose stockholders live in every corner of the land, paying for some ordinary express company stock $700,000 more than it is worth. FEARS OF A COAL FAMINE On the Kentneky Side of the Ohio River Because of the Low Water.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 15 .- [Special.] - The question of coal is becoming a painful matter over the river, and the price in Newport, Covington and the other trans-Ohio cities is going up at a discouraging rate, while the river continues to fall. to-day that the price on this side of the river will be advanced 50 cents a ton to retail buyers. The stock is the lowest for years and down the river small towns are in danger of a coal famine. It is very cold and blustery to-night, and the outlook is most discouraging. It is possible, if the weather continues so cold, the schools of Newport and Covington will have to be closed. At Lawrenceburg, with a population of 7,000, there is said to be less
