

WEEP FOR HERSELF.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons Deeply Moved by Judge Ewing's Sympathy.

THE ODD LOSS OF A COMMISSION.

Pleas of Guilty and Speedy Acquittal Hurry Up Legal Work.

YESTERDAY'S NEWS IN COUNTY COURTS.

The arguments for a new trial in the case of Lucy R. Fitzsimmons, convicted of murder in the second degree for complicity in the killing of Detective Gilkinson, was heard by Judge Ewing yesterday, Messrs. Marshall and Child in favor of the defendant, and District Attorney Burleigh and John S. Robb against it. In answer to the argument Judge Ewing said that he went into the trial believing that the Commonwealth was wrong, but the evidence satisfied him that it was right and justified a second degree verdict. The Court held that Mrs. Fitzsimmons was a very smart woman, but was unfortunate in many respects, and the Court's sympathies were with her, but there was no doubt that she knew her husband's business. The Court then took the papers.

Want a Mortgage Made a Lien.

A bill in equity was filed yesterday by Joseph Schwarzmill against Michael Kora and wife and Nicholas Noltes. Schwarzmill states that in 1888 he loaned $2,000 to Kora and his wife. They were to give him a judgment bond to secure payment, but, taking advantage of his ignorance, did not do so. They gave him a mortgage on some real estate. Schwarzmill now wants the Kora's to give him a judgment bond, but, taking advantage of his ignorance, did not do so. They gave him a mortgage on some real estate. A Commission Not Recovered.

A verdict for the defendant was given yesterday in the suit of Black & Baird against J. E. Fricke. The suit was to recover a commission. Fricke desired to borrow money on a mortgage on his property. He went to Black & Baird and they agreed to find a man who would lend him the money. They did so, but when the company refused to issue a check on the property it refused to insure it, and the owner of the money refused to lend it on a mortgage. The transaction fell through, and Black & Baird claimed they had performed their part and demanded their commission. It was refused and suit was brought. At the trial it developed that the commission had been given to Fricke, and it was not shown that it was defective, though the company would not insure it, in consequence a verdict was given for the defendant.

NEW FALL WRINKLES.

How the Changeable Weather Worries Dress Designers.

THE BLACK FEVER DEVELOPING.

Sleeves Are Subsiding and Headgear is Rather Grotesque.

WHAT DRESS WOMEN MUST STUDY.

Are we to have our winter now or are we to have another taste of summer? Is the weather going to be itself, or is it going to give us a taste of hot days and a taste of cold days, alternating them with great irregularity all the year round? Perhaps the weather, instead of changing, is going to make us acustom ourselves to variety.

Are we going back to the old barbaric days when our winter jackets have a tiny profusion were considered the art and some of the most beautiful of the season. Feathers, feathers, feathers galore are used upon women's garments, and now the latest designs for morning costumes it is not by a tight fitting cut, usually of velvet, buttoned on the inside of the arm with close fitting under-sleeves beneath the flowing upper sleeves.

A PEEP AT COVENTRY.

It is Celebrated Both in Fiction and Sober English History.

PEEPING TOM AND LADY GODIVA.

An Ancient Kernel Entirely Surrounded by a Modern Shell.

ITS THREE VENERABLE STRUCTURES.

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH.) PERTINENTLY, ENGLAND, Oct. 16.—The Coventry, which a single fact, belief or legend from bygone times lodgment in the minds of men, and eventually become a bulwark of local pride and power as well as a subject of universal interest is nowhere in Britain more strikingly illustrated than in this ancient city of Coventry.

Every well-known Old World place has its greater or lesser shining beacon of splendid fact or myth to which the tourist, like a mariner, directs his often tempestuous way. Coventry has its "stone." Befit its spinning mills and historic places of riot. When Gads Hill is mentioned, we see Dickens and all his wondrous brood of tenor creation. Yarmouth is simply where the "Pegtop" was. Newcastle only recalls the "Barrington" and the "Melrose" and Dryburgh built more than all else of Sir Walter Scott. Naseby and Culloden mean the dethronement of one king and the utter obscuration of a heroic prince and his glorious house. Gloucester recalls the origin of the Sunday school. Kenilworth reveals the reveries of Elizabeth. Rugby is the birthplace of the "Red Rover" and the schoolboy life. One sees in the mere words of Dumfries or Ayer the radiant face of "Bobby" Burns.

WHAT COVENTRY RECALLS.

And Coventry has for 800 years meant, and will forever solely suggest—Lady Godiva and Peeping Tom. Nor does it matter whether these personages and the curious drama in which they are placed by popular and historic belief as actors were fact or fiction. The warp and woof of English history is woven of such threads. The story of the "Peeping Tom" and "Lady Godiva" is a story of the life of the city. The story of the "Peeping Tom" and "Lady Godiva" is a story of the life of the city.
