President Harrison, Secretaries Foster and Noble and Congressman Taylor Speak

AT THE METHODIST ECUMENICAL.

War and Peace and International Arbitration Are the Topics of the Day's Discussion.

NATIONS SHOULD BE READY FOR WAR

English Delegates Delighted With the President's Presence and Speech.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 .- One of the noted events of to-day's sessions of the Methodist Ecumenical Conneil was the presence and speeches of President Harrison and of Secreturies Foster and Noble The latter was the first speaker, being Introduced by Bishop Newman. Said he:

"I am glad to be able to feel and know of the widespread influence of this great church. We, in this country, are able to get along without standing armies. We simply keep a little nucleus-something to enable us to create an army or organize one when we need it. We rely upon the patriotism of our people to furnish the army when the emergency comes, and we rely upon the religious sentiment of the country, and especially of the Methodist Church, to create the patriotism that is so necessary. I called simply to show my appreciation of the great work you are doing.

We have vaults and bars to protect the money we have in the treasury. We have a few watchmen, but we depend more largely on the sentiments you teach than on our warehmen. Feeling this way about you, I most cordially invite you to come to the treasury and look at that money."

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS. It was later in the forenoon when the Pres dent arrived, and he was received with an outburst of applause. The regular programme of the day was suspended, while

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Conference I came here this morning to make an expression of my respect and esteem for this great body of delegares, assembled from all countries of the world, and much more to give a manifestation of my respect and love for that greater body of Christian men and somen for whom you stand. [Applause.] Every Ecumenical Conference is a distinct step in the direction not only of the unification of the Church, but of the unification of bunnanity.

We shall have to do away with monarchies after this," exclaimed Rev. W. F. Dawson, of Glasgow. He was talking to Bishop Hurst, and the remark was made so loudly that every one in the lecture room

I am giad to know that, as the followers of Wesley, whose hymns we sing, you have been in consultation as to the method and time when the minor divisions among you may be obliterated. It is the natural order that sub-divisions should be wiped out be-fore the grand divisions of the Church can be united. Who does not greatly rejoice that the controversies of the Church are fewer than they once were—that we hear more of the Master and His teachings of love and duty than of hairsplitting and theological dissensions

SOME PERSONAL REMINISCENCES. I recall many years ago while visiting a watering place in Wisconsin, that when the Sabbath came around I went with some riends to a little Methodist Church in an adjoining village. The preacher undertook to overturn my Prosbyterianism [laughter], and an irreverent friend who sat beside me, s the young man delivered histelling blasts the subject of international arbitration, and this being a public and enlarged use of the word, perhaps makes my presence here as an officer of the United States especially apan officer of the United States especially appropriate. [Applause.]

It is a curious incident that on this day—appointed by me some days ago and before I was aware of the theme of the occasion which we have here this morning—I had appointed this affection to visit the great gun foundry of the United States at the Navy Yard. Things have come in their proper sequence. I am here at this arbitration meeting before I go to the gun foundry. This subject is one which has long attracted the attention, and I think I may say, has as greatly attracted the interest and the adherence of the United States, as that of any other Christian power in the world. [Applause].

ARBITRATION ON THIS CONTINENT. It is known to you all that in the recent conference of the American States at Washington the proposition was distinctly made and adopted by the representatives of all the Governments represented that, as applied to this nemisphere, all international disputes should be settled by arbitration. (Applause.) Of course, there are limitations as yet in the miture of things to the complete and general adoption of such a scheme. It is quite possible to apply arbitration to a dispute as to a boundary fine. It is quite impossible, it seems to me, to apply it to a case of international fend. If there is present a disposition to subjugate, an agrressive spirit to sease territory as a spirit of national aggrandizement, that does not stop to consider the rights of other men and other people. To such a case and to such a spirit international arbitration has no application or, if any, a remote and difficult application.

It is for a Christian sentiment, maifesting fixelf in the nation, to remove forever such causes of dispute, and then what remains will be an easy subject of adjustment by fair, international arbitration. (Applause.) But I had not intended to enter into a discussion of this great theme, for the setting forth of which you have appointed those who have given it special attention. and adopted by the representatives of all the forth of which you have appointed those who have given it special attention.

AMERICA DESIRES PEACE. Let me, therefore, say simply this: That for myself, temporarily in a place of in. fluence in this country, and much more for the great body of its citizenship, to express the desire of America for peace with the whole world. [Applause.]

It would have been vain to suggest the pulling down of block houses or family disarmsment to the settlers of a hostile Indian frontier. They would have told you rightly that the conditions were not ripe. And so it may be, and is probably true, that a full application of this principle is not at present possible, the devil still being unchained.

possible, the devil still being unchained. Haughter, J.
We will still have our gun foundries, and probably will best promote the settlement of international disputes by arbitration, by having it understood that if the appeal is to a fiercer tribunal we shall not be out of the debate. [Applause.] There is a unity of the church and of humanity, and the lines of progress are the same. It is by this great Christian sentiment, characterized not only by a high sense of justice but by a spirit of love and forbearance, mastering the civit institutions and governments of the world, that we shall approach universal peace and shall approach universal peace and parameters in methods of settling dis-

pures. [Applianse.]
Let me thank you, Mr. Chairman, and you, gentlemen of this conference, for the privilege of standing before you for a moment and for this most cordial welcome which you have given to me.

SECRETARY NOBLE'S REMARKS. Secretary Noble said: "I have not a word to say except this: A few days ago it was my good fortune in my department to be called upon to welcome to our city the eminent geologists from the Old World and the New, then assembled in a great convention. I then recognized how important it was that the physical resources of our great conti-nent should be developed for the good of man. It is to-day my hope that these still greater forces, that rule the souls of men, that are here being developed, will make this world of ours-beautiful as is God who made it-still more worthy of our lives and world to come." [Applause.]

Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Minister, was also introduced, and bowed his acknowledgments of the greetings of the conference.

exception. The United States furnished an the Pan-American Congress as a settlement of all disputes between American Repul lies of what could be done to dispense with war. Why could not European States submit their controversies to a similar tri-

WAR AND PEACE

In the regular programme, the general topic being "War and Peace," the opening speaker was T. Scape, of the United Methodist Free Church, of Liverpool, and his special subject was: "International Arbi-

Bishop Newman, of Nebraska, said that not until the spirit of Christ is the ruling not until the spirit of Christ is the ruling force in our nature can peace supercede war. He hoped that a high Supreme Court would some day be established before which could be adjudicated all the differences of the nations of the earth. He thought, how-ever, until that time should come the nations would do well to be prepared to defend their rights.

defend their rights. Hon. Farmer Atkinson, of London, said he was in favor of arbitration, but not with one arm tied behind us. England did that once, and she would hardly do it again. J. Ruddle, of the Bible Christian Church, followed. This question, he said, was essentially a workingman's question. They

INTERNATIONAL TRIBUNAL PROPOSED. Rev. William Arthur, of London, also strongly favored the establishment of an in-ternational tribunal for the settlement of all differences between nations. Rev. John Bond, also of London, followed in the same line, and in the course of his remarks claimed for England the credit of first proposing arbitration as a means of settlement of the Alabama claims difficulty. After the doxology had been sung and the benediction pronounced the conference, at 12:30, adjourned.

The Star this evening says: There was nothing half hearted in the applause which freely punctuated President Harrison's address in the Conference to-day. The audience was composed of people of whom a majority were eminent in the oratorical profession, and they were quick to recognize the power of the President's utterance. From the opening sentence to the last word the Conference was critical, and in spite of their keenness they frankly declared that there was nothing to apologize for, nothing could hear it. Rev. Emery Jones, the eminent and eloquent Welsh preacher, said: "My visit to America has realized the consummation of my highest ideals in the reference and magnificent speech of your President. I should say that every rational Englishman will return to England feeling that a repub-liz is the only true form of government. Never have I heard a man so express the heart of Christianity, and if his position was simply the result of the accident of birth I would never have expected such a
