OTHER PULPIT TOPICS OF YESTERDAY

Rev. Charles A. Young, of Ann Arbor, Mich., was the principal speaker last evening before the convention of the International International that personage. The doctor said he had Missionaries of been importanted by several with question not expected to live, she could not be present. In opening Mr. Young spoke of the 2,700 students who attend the University at Ann Arbor and told how they were flocking to the Unitarian Church because of the magnificent library attached to it there. He then made an appeal to the people of his denomination to found a similar library there. The text of his sermon proper was "Then I shall know even as I am known."

"What is a reality with God is a possibility with man. One day we will know as Christ knows. We ofttimes wonder why we young men with fire and zeal have not the force of those whose heads are gray.

Bilaspur Mission, Built by Mary Graybiel.

It is because we grow in grace as we grow in power. Successful ministry comes not from pure genius, nor from eloquence alone, but from a fullness of the spirit of God gained only by communion with Him.

CANNOT PROVE THAT GOD EXISTS. "The only cause of restlessness among the young to-day is because they want to know he mysteries of salvation; they want to fathom God. For centuries men have tried to analyze the faith we put in God. We must not question the statements of our faith. It is best that we should not know so that we may yearn for more. We never reach the fullness of joy or the depth of love. We cannot know God. By no course of philosophical reasoning can we prove the existence of a God, but when we look into nature and humanity we are struck with the reality of an Almighty. When Napoleon lost at Waterloo the world said history had turned back 50 years, but history has since shown that God rules the destinies of men. Unless the Bible is the ord of a living God, you can never prove

LIFE IS BUT A SUBURB OF HEAVEN.

"I firmly believe in Providence and nat God moves through laws in the spiritual world as he does in the natural world. You wonder good men are made to suffer. I know not why, I only now God moves among men; unless men enfler they cannot enjoy, and that we are only fit for heaven when we have been seasomed on earth. It is as mysterious as the philosophy of prayer. We cannot explain, et there is a link 'twixt heaven and earth. By prayer we come close to God and happiness, and life becomes but te suburb of heaven."
At the close of Rev. Charles Young's sermon Rev. Dr. Craig, of Denver, was in-troduced by Miss Burgess. He gave an interesting talk on women as missionaries.

The remainder of the evening was taken up by informal talk. Prominent among those present was Miss Mary Graybiel, the founder of the Zenana Mission at Bilaspur, India. Her mission there, built by money raised by little children, is also an rohanage, and now contains 15 children. liss Gravbiel was to have read a paper on er work in India several days ago, but owng to a throat affection has been unable to talk. Yesterday afternoon she spoke for a short time but had to quit. Her physicians fear she will lose her voice, and it is doubt-ful whether she will be able to address this to be his followers. THE GOODNESS OF GOD Taken as a Topic by Rev. F. R. Farrand, of the Southside Presbyterian Church. Hev. F. R. The prencher began by saving that it is with a feeling of awe the steward of the mysteries of God approaches the consideration of the infinite attributes of the Creator, and we can only pray the

There is 'not a flower but shows some touch in freckle, streak, or stain of His unrivaled pencil.' But the wealth of God's goodness is better seen by a more exnot analysis. Goodness includes benevolence, love, mercy, grace, and like the goodness which gives them birth, each one of these, its manifestations, is infinite and inex-

The preacher then proceeded to briefly discuss the existence of evil in the universe. reviewing some of the various theories enneerning it, and setting forth the Bible doctrine, which he said was that the glory of God was the reason for the world's creation and was the chief end of man, and that ain was permitted by the infinite wisdom in manifest the glory of His attributes, which could only be revealed by the existence of sin-namely, God's mercy and grace and justice. This is not the best world God could have made, but it is the best for the purpose for which he made it— But the goodness of God is most clearly manifested in that while all things are made for His own glory, yet all things work together for good to them that love God. The highest good of his creatures is subserved by manifesting His own glory.

The preliminary prayer and singing was followed by a short outline of his plans while in Pittsburg, and incidentally he mentioned the With a temperature just a few steps re moved from summer's heat, a clear sky and bracing breeze, yesterday was a typical October Sunday. The less pleasant weather of a few weeks past, with its sudden changes from heat to cold and back again, made the day much better appreciated than it other-wise would have been. People who have shivered one day and perspired the next knew how to enjoy the happy medium the atmosphere struck. It was a day when the sick and decrepit could venture out for an airing. The young man at the corner felt neither too warm nor too cool in his big girl, and had to ask questions to find latest light overcoat. Most delightful of all, it was such a perfect opportunity for the display of the finest of fall's feminine fads. Everybody seemed to be out to enjoy to the fullest extent

LARGE CROWDS AT CHURCH. The churches yesterday morning had unusually large crowds. Many of those whom cold weather keeps indoors attended their favorite places of worship for what might prove the last time for many months. The prospect of the speedy advent of winter had a similar effect on those who enjoy a promenade or drive. While the down town streets were well filled with people during the afternoon, by far the greater number sought the parks and beautiful streets of the East End and Allegheny. Scores of parties drove far out into the country, where autumn's colors have made the roads

WHERE THE VIEW IS FINE. Highland Park has many patrons, even when the weather is not all what could be desired. Its popularity was much more manifest yesterday. The beautiful drives about the reservoir were thoroughly utilized by hundreds of equipages. The day being clear, the view was at its best. Another attractive spot was the summit of Herron Hill, where a grand view of half the city can be obtained. Highland, Neg-ley, Ellsworth and Fifth avenues and other Rev. D. D. Wilkinsburg has been experiencing uilding boom ever since the carpenters' strike was settled this summer. There were a number of houses planned before the carpenters and bricklayers decided to go out on strike, but nothing was done in the way of erection until it was certain that there would be a possibility of finishing them forthwith. It is estimated that over a hundred dwelling houses have been built in Wilkinsburg within the last two months. Nearly all have been put up by the persons who are occupying them. Land was comparatively cheap, and the inducements to workingmen and others to own homes of their own were too strong to be passed over. Most of the building has been done in the large district north of the Pennsylvania Railroad. On the hill at the top of Franklin and South streets, that two years ago was almost bare of buildings, there are now whole streets of well-built houses and more are continually going up. As soon as the clock strikes 7 in the morning the sound of hammering commences, and it is kept up almost with out cessation until 6 in the evening. Most of the houses are of frame and the borough s like a pretty Swiss village, with its numberless chalets.

Among the notable buildings erected this summer are three public schoolhouses. One is at Brushton, costing $30,000, another in the First ward, Wilkinsburg, and the other at Edgewood, costing $30,000, like that at Brushton. There are also a number of churches. There is the Methodist Church on South street the cornerstone of which were berless chalets. South street, the cornerstone of which was laid about a month ago; the U. B. Church, corner of South and Coal streets, and others that will be commenced in the spring. The Odd Fellows' Hall, including an opera house, was finished this summer and is to be dedicated in a few weeks. Wilkinsburg expects to be a place of magnificent buildings within another year or two. She has taken greater strides this summer than in any year during the past decade. SUGAR USED FOR FUEL
