Adventures of an Alaskan Explorer at Work on a New Assignment.

HE VISITS AMERICA'S CORNWALL,

And Finds the Mine Wasn't Salted for Political Purposes.

PROSPECTS ARE GOOD FOR THE FUTURE

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. 1 CINCINNATI, Oct. 24.-Some time age a newspaper of this city sent E. H. Wells. the Alaskan explorer, to California to get the exact facts regarding tin. Below is a summary of his first report, under date of San Bernadino, October 14: The Temescal tin mine contains tin. It is American tin. The hole has not been 'salted" with Cornwall ore by the Republican Campaign Committee for the purpose of bolstering the McKinley tariff bill. For a small hole in the ground it has certainly been maligned, praised, vilified, exalted and romanced about in the newspapers in a truly astonishing manner. Neither Repub lican nor Democratic editors have told the truth concerning it, owing, it is presumed to a lack of correct information. In view of these facts I intend to present a concise statement of truths. TESTIMONY OF AN EYEWITNESS.

I have this day been down the Temescal shaft. 26 miles from San Bernadino, have walked about 150 feet below the earth's surface, and, candle in hand, have examined the lode, have seen the tip ore mined by blast and then carried outside have followed it to the stamp mill, where ore and rock were crushed; have watched "concentrators" at work separating the oxide of tin It was a forced sale, and we have them now from the "tailings," and, lastly, stood by the smelting furnace liquefying the tin and the puddler pouring the metal into

The foreman of the mine, a Cornishman, said to me: "The lead on which we are now working will probably be exhausted within six weeks. We are boring for new deposits, and expect to strike them. As to whether or not the deeper lodes will be richer than those we have already mined remains to be seen. There are some 40 seams of ore outcropping on our property. Most of these have not even been prospected, but they appear to be rich. We are sinking several new shafts to try and find fresh paying de-

THE ORE RICHER THAN CORNWALL'S. "Do you consider the ore here to be as good as that of Cornwall?" I asked. "It is four times as rich, but it costs more to mine it here than in Cornwall. ret a good miner there for 30 cents, and pay $2 for the same man."

here I pay $2 for the same man." Mr. Wells says of the surroundings at Temescal: "The buildings-some dozen in number-were large, painted, of tasteful architecture, and constructed principally of corrugated iron, which certainly is not often mine experimenters in building Had I observed a collection of ephemeral pine shanties, things would have looked more natural. It was the looked more natural. It was the evident permanent character of the structures, including the stamp mill, and power house, that looked odd. I afterward learned that the English company operating the mine had expended some $750,-600 for land, machinery and buildings, showing that the investors, at least, had considerable confidence in the future of the mine. In the main power house I found a fine engine of 350 horse-power operating "lifts" in the shaft and other machinery. On a hill close by stood another large engine, evidently new, which was running a huge double automatic stamp of English make, and the only one of its kind yet

THE MACHINERY NOW AT WORK. In the same building were operating four large shakers, called concentrators, which separate the tin and rock through the agency of water. In another building I found a five stamp mill grinding away, All of the machinery was of the finest order, and undoubtedly cost a large sum of money. The smelting furnace, located just beneath the power house, was not a very large af-fair. There are at present 110 men employed in various capacities about the mine

My investigations in the mine revealed a tin ore lode five feet in width of unknown height and depth, the blasting not having reached its limits. In places the ore was poor, but in many spots it showed up rich, and on the whole, appeared to be of a high grade. It was mostly of the red variety, few streaks of white ore being observable From the size of the mine corridors it was evident that many thousand tons of rock and ore had been taken out, although but little practical work had been done prior to three months ago. I have been specific in stating details, so that Democrats may be convinced that the mine is not a phantasm and deusion altogether.

The mine is not yet paying, and the output not so great as has been proclaimed, owing to insufficient machinery, which is being supplied as rapidly as possible.

SWARMING WITH CHINAMEN.

Only the Presence of Military Prevent Riots in British Columbia. OTTAWA, ONT., Oct. 24.-Advices from British Columbia are to the effect that great excitement exists there among the white laborers over the refusal of the Dominion Government last session to adopt legislation restricting the immigration of Chinese laborers. Chinese arrive in hundreds by every steamer from Hongkong, and al-though hundreds make their escape across the boundary line into the United States considerable number remain in the Pacific provinces. The presence of a battery at Victoria and the militia on the main land are said to have prevented riots which otherwise would have occurred within the last few months. A bill is now before the British Columbian Legislature making it illegal to employ a Chinaman in coal mines, A dignatch from Chinaga save. Treasury

A dispatch from Chicago says: Treasury Agent Scanlan to-day says he has received advices from his inspectors who are now watching the Canadian border, to the effect that there are 10,000 Celestials in Vancouver and along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railroad who are suffering for the want of food. "Chinamen in unprecedented num-bers are being landed at Vancouver," said Mr. Scaulan, "and they were unable to obtain employment or food. The vast number of arrivals, I believe, is the result of a notice spread among the Chinese by an influental Chinamen returned home, that it is very easy to get into the United States. I believe, also, the Canadian Government is assisting Celestials into the country in order to get the $50 per head they are compelled to pay. The Government, I believe, is also expecting some exclusion legislation next winter and now desires to get in all China-

Mystery Surrounding Proceedings Against

Wisconsin's State Treasurer. MADISON, WIS., Oct. 24.-A sensation was created here to-day by the sudden an nouncement by Judge Siebecker that he would not try the interest suits against the State Treasurer for certain reasons which he refuses to make public at this time. The inference is that the Judge has been approached, but whether in the way of a straight bribe or through political channels, is a matter of speculation.

Attorney General O'Connor is astounded and is loud in his denunciation of the party or parties who have made it impossible for an upright judge to try the treasury suits. Judge Siebecker states that if he made known his reasons for withdrawing it would be impossible to get a fair and im-partial trial of the cases in the State of Wisconsin. He promises developments

It is an indisputable fact that the Square Crown Hat has come to stay. It needs only the ingenuity of the manufacturers to adopt some slight changes from season to season to make it a standard shape. Our new square crown this fall is a beauty and specially adapted to stout and middle-aged gentlemen. It goes splendidly with an over-coat, and where an objection exists to wearing a silk hat daily our square crown takes its place, being considered a semi-dress hat for all purposes.
