gan publication after the success of the ssionalists continued to reiterate that Minister Egan had favored Balmaceda, but it was also conceded that he had protected a number of Congressional adherents when Balmaceda was in power.* When the con-flict closed the fact that he had afforded pro-tection to adherents of Balmaceda was urged against him, as showing his sympathy with the downfallen administration. An intimation that a son of the United States Minister was interested in a railway enterprise was also cited as a reason for the opposition to the Minister, and the claim was also made that the latter intended emwas also made that the latter intended em-barking in a commercial enterprise in Chile when his term of office expired, if Balmaceda succeeded. It was acknowl-edged that no evidence was given in proof of these allegations, but they were printed, and added to the feeling of animosity in the popular mind against the American em-

Attacks on Uncle Sam's Naval Force. The papers also made attacks on the American naval force, owing to the chase of American haval force, owing to the chase of the Itata, and the statement was repeatedly made in Valparaiso and Santiago papers to the effect that Admiral Brown, in his flag-ship San Francisco, had given warning of the landing of Congressionalists at Quin-teros Bay to Balmaceda's officers, even going to the point of stating that he had on hoard of his flagship an officer or representa-tive of the Balmacedan army. This was tive of the Balmacedan army. This was called to the attention of Admiral Brown in a note from Minister Egan, and the former replied in the following letter, which was printed in the principal Valparaiso and Santiago papers:

My Dear Mr. Egan:

I am in receipt of your note of yesterday, in regard to sianderous articles which appear in several newspapers in relation to my going in this ship to the vicinity of Quinteros in the afternoon of the 20th ult. I have to say that under ordinary circumstances I would consider it beneath my dignity as an officer of the United States Navy to notice, even in this unofficial way, such charges as are made. However, I will give, in a brief way, a statement of the events of the day. As was my usual custom I went om shore in citizen's dress, for a walk, at about 9:30 a. M., and meeting a Government officer who spoke English, I asked him if there were any troops near. He replied at once: "Yes, the opposition have made a landing at Quinteros." My Dear Mr. Fgan:

The German Admiral's Statement. In order to verify his statement or disprove it, I went at once to the office of Admiral Viet, and he gave me particulars of the landing. He said at early daylight a re-

Admiral Viel told me that the Aprenaito of the men-of-war and stated that the expedition.

The News Given Out by Brown. No information was given by me of what I had observed, and the crew of the boat which went on shore were cautioned not to answer any questions. On the afternoon of the 29th ultimo I called in uniform on Adthe 29th ultimo I called in uniform on Admiral Montt and Colonel Herley, and renewed an acquaintance with them which had been made at Iquique. I was cordially received by both of the gentlemen. At that time I explained to Senor Montt all the facts connected with my visit to Quinteros. So this I say officially, that no one except the German officer, other than those belonging to my ship, were on board at the time.

Yours very truly,

GEORGE BROWN, Rear Admiral, U.S.N.
United States Flagship San Francisco, Valparaiso, Chile, September S.

Brown's letter the publication of Admiral Brown's letter the statements originally made were reiterated, and the fact that the Vicuna and other officials of the late Government were given protection on board American warships was cited as further proof of American hostility, although the same course was pursued by the German Admiral. It was stated that the English and French ships would not receive any of the fleeing officials on board. Owing to these repeated statements a distinct feeling of hostility was created in the public mind against all Americans in Chile.

Said a lady a few days ago: "No use talking, I had to come back, although I've been everywhere else, nearly. I find your prices lower, your goods better and your styles newer and handsomer. I'll take that kilt suit which I liked best." Such and similar remarks are heard frequently. They're the straws that show which way the wind blows.

We are now exhibiting a mammoth stock of Children's Kilt Suits, Boys' Knee and Long-Pant Suits, as well as thousands of Boys' Overcoats and Reefers. The great diversity of the materials, styles, patterns, colors, etc., makes a description impossible. Suffice it to say that anything and everything the most particular or economical mother can desire is here.
