To the Prothonotary's Office Place the Result Beyond All Question.

REGULARS ARE ALL AHEAD.

Gregg and Morrison Carry the County With 15,000 Majority.

BURLEIGH SIX THOUSAND AHEAD.

The Straightout Judiciary Candidates Badly Snowed Under.

THE FULL RESULT IN TABULATED FORM

Official returns came in rapidly all day yesterday at Prothonotary Bradley's office. When it closed at 4 o'clock all but 14 voting districts in the county had been heard from. Of these lacking districts three are in Pittsburg, two in Allegheny, and nine in the boroughs and townships. Their returns, however, cannot have any material effect on the count, which shows the election of all the regular candidates in the county, as well as handsome majorities for the Republican state ticket. Gregg's majority for Auditor General over Wright is 14,752. Morrison's majority for State Treasurer over Tilden is 15,008. Burleigh, for District Attorney, runs ahead of his Straightout opponent, L. K. Porter, 6,118. Burleigh received 24,938 votes in the county and Porter 18,820. The vote divided was as follows: Pittsburg—Burleigh, 13,394: Porter, 7,523. Allegheny—Burleigh, 4,222; Porter, 4,138. Borough and township—Burleigh, 7,342; Porter, 7,170. THEIR ARREST, THEIR ESCAPE AND THE PURSUIT AGAIN.

One Bandit in Custody, Another at Large and a Third Dead-The Latter Is Killed by Officers While Visiting His Father's REDDING, CAL., Nov. 4.-Bill Howard, who, together with Abe Jones, was charged with robbing the stage between Lake View and Redding, October 7, and who was also suspected of being concerned in the stage robberies of October 19 and 22, was shot and killed at his father's house three miles from Redding last night by officers who had been watching for him.

A week ago to-day Howard and Jones and a man named Jack Rice were arrested near Altures, Modoc county. Howard and Jones were concealed in a wagon driven by Rice, who is supposed to have brought the men down from Lake county, Ore., where they own ranches. The three prisoners traveled in a regular stage, being inside, with only one guard. Jones and Howard had shackles around their ankles and were fastened to-gether. Rice also had leg irons on.

gether. Rice also had leg irons on.

About 6:30 o'clock Sunday night the party stopped about a mile east of Holcomb's station to water their horses. All of the prisoners said they were thirsty. Carle, who was guarding them, got out, and taking the glass passed it up to them to drink. Thacker was at this time on the front of the stage. Ross and Miles were behind in a buggy. It was dark and rainy, and the prisoner, improved this brief respite to slip off their boots and remove the irons over their feet.

Carle stepped back into the stage and the progress toward Holcomb was resumed. Ten minutes later Jones and Howard suddenly started up, and one jumped out of one door and the other out of the other door. Carle remained in the stage to guard hearted for helps. Rice and shouted for help. Several shots were fired at Jones and Howard, but in the darkness no one was hit. Rice was taken to Redding and was placed in jail there as ccessory after the fact. It was thought that Howard would make for his father's house near Redding, and three men were placed in the house after three men were placed in the house after Cornelius Howard, the father, had been arrested and lodged in jail as an accomplice. About 12 o'clock last night the watchers heard the elatter of horses' hoofs. They put out the light in the room and awaited the arrival of the man whom they had reason to believe to be Bill Howard. They heard him tie the animal and open the door to his father's bedroom, saying:

"Father, strike a light; strike a light."

As he opened the door they cried out:

"Hold up your band."

"Hold up your hands."

Instantly Howard, with an oath, turned to Instantly Howard, with an oath, turned to close the door. As he turned three shot-guns rang out. Howard immediately fell and soon expired. The Coroner's jury exonerated the officers for killing Howard. Rice, the driver of the team, has made a confession implicating Howard and Jones in the sensational robberies which occurred lately. Search for Jones will be continued.

A TRIFLE TOO REALISTIC.

An Outraged Husband in the Play Injures His Playmate Wife.

Nelson Wheatcroft injected a little realism into the second act of "A Modern Match," at the Duquesne Theater matinee yesterday, that not only astonished the audience but nearly rendered the leading lady, Miss Minnie Seligman, a hospital subject. At the end of the act Mr. Wheat-croft, in his part of betrayed husband, comes in to find his wife in the arms of a lover. Heknocksthe lover down and flings lover. He knocks the lover down and flings his wife to one side, she falling in a faint upon the floor. Yesterday he was excited in this scene, and when he threw Miss Seligman, be gave her such impetus that she fell violently to the floor, her head striking the leg of a sofa on the stage. The force of the fall stunned her, besides causing a big lump on the back of her head. The women in the audience gave expression to their feelings by suppressed "Ohs!" as the curtain went down.

Behind the scenes, after Miss Seligman had recovered, there was a lively little tilt as a result of the accident, but through the intervention of the manager the actors hook hands and made up.

The plaintiff, Mr. Bert, states that the World's Museum is licensed as a theater, museum and shooting gallery, under the style of "The World Museum." Mr. Bert also states that on September 10 he visited the museum and paid his fare, which, he claims, entitled him to a safe passage through all the departments thereof; that while in the pursuit of happiness he visited the shooting gallery and while there, either through the incompetence of the man in charge of the guns or negligence on the part of the management furnishing ammunition, a charge of powder intended to propel a ball against a target exerted its power in the rearward direction with the result that plaintiff's eye was destroyed, and the occulists were forced to remove the organ entirely. to remove the organ entirely.

DEFENDANTS NOT GUILTY.

An Interesting Suit Over the Settlement of the Affairs of a Gas Company—One Member Charges Conspiracy on the Part of Two Others.

A suit was tried in the Quarter Sessions Court yesterday which attracted considerable attention on account of some peculiar features. Some time ago a company was formed for the purpose of operating for natural gas in Armstrong county, on five acres of ground belonging to George Porterie, the Grecian artist. They decided to drill a well on the five-scre tract and organized a stock company to which $3,000 in stock was sabscribed. The concern was called the Porterie Gas Company. After a conference with the driller engaged to bore the well the company concluded that $3,000 would not be sufficient, and so had the application for charter changed to read $5,000 instead.

After drilling for some .time an agreement was made with Manager Kirkpatrick, of the Leechburg Iron Company, to supply the works with gas fuel for $20,000 a year. For some reason Porterie or some of the ground belonging to George

For some reason Porterie or some of the stockholders objected and asked to be let out of the company. A committee was appointed to value the assets and make out of the company. A committee was appointed to value the assets and make an amicable settlement with the dissatisfied. The stock had originally been valued at $50 a share, but had increased to $75 a a share, and on this valuation an agreement was made with the dissatisfied members.

Porterie was to get $2,500, and it is alleged he agreed to it, and the money was paid. Porterie, the defendants held, never said anything further about the matter to them until they had expended $41,000 in drilling and equipping wells, laying pipe, etc., to carry out their agreement with Mr. Kirkpatrick. Then he informed them that $2,500 was not enough, and demanded $5,000, and stated that if he did not get it he would sue two of the company, W. F. Casey and William Aull, for conspiracy. As they refused to come to his terms he did prosecute them and got Messrs. Reardon and Ramsey to push his suit, while defendants employed Messrs. John S. Robb and Charles Crawford to defend.

Judge Ewing charged the jury that th

Porterie, according to the defendants, as Porterie, according to the evidence, had agreed to the increase of the capital and also had accepted the settlement.

The defendants then submitted evidence to show that Porterie had come to them and said: "Give me $5,000 and I will settle and said: "Give me $5,000 and I will settle and publish in the newspapers a statement that Aull and Casey have done nothing improper." Judge Ewing said that only the matter of costs remained to be disposed of and intimated that they should be put on the prosecutor, as he said Porterie had not been injured in any shape. The jury divided the costs, putting two-thirds on the prosecutor and the remainder on the defend ants.

George E, Williams Claims His Partner Has Mismanaged the Business.

A bill in equity was filed yesterday by George E. Williams against Frank E. Brocklebank. Williams states that in February, 1891, he and the defendant February, 1891, he and the defendant formed a partnership under the title of the Pittsburg Tiling Company. The agreement was verbal. Brocklebank had a two-thirds interest and Williams one-third. The place of business was on Wood street. Brocklebank, it is alleged, had charge of the financial end of the business, and so mismanaged it that the firm is insolvent and unable to pay its debts. In fraud of the plaintiff's rights, it is charged, he has confessed judgments to the amount of $5,088, intending to hinder and delay creditors of the firm.

He has also assigned valuable assets to secure certain creditors, without the knowledge or consent of the plaintiff, and the plaintiff and creditors are liable to irreparable injury. The assets amount to about $10,000 and the liabilities are $10,500. The Court is asked to make a decree dissolving the partnership, appoint a receiver, have an account taken and restrain the defendant rom disposing of any of the asseta
