

THE PARTY BANKRUPT.

Straightouts Defeated by Money and the Lack of It.

ARCH H. ROWAND PAYING BILLS.

The Straightouts to Maintain Their Organization and

DEMOCRATS WILL PROFIT THEREBY

The Straightout infant was a trifle impatient yesterday. Among strangers, without a cent of money in its clothes and nothing to eat but crew, the feelings of the youngster were anything but happy. It has not given up life, however, and the announcement is made that it will continue as a regular Republican organization of "the great State of Allegheny."

Hope of success was not abandoned by the Straightouts until 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Up in their modest headquarters on Diamond alley Chairman Flesson and a coterie of his fellow leaders gathered around a fire kept burning with old campaign documents, and as they anchored their hopes on miraculous results from untried districts, they retold the grievances of their party and pledged themselves to stick together for the good of their cause. It was a disheartened gathering, but it looked like a band of happy angels in comparison with the face of Arch H. Rowand, who was kept busy at his office receiving campaign bills.

A Deafening Wall of Woo.

"And not a cent to pay them," said the Straightout leader as he picked up a little missive from the District Messenger office, asking payment for the work of the boys who had manned the polls. "Our treasury has been empty for a week," continued Mr. Rowand, "and I have been contracting debts on my own account. Now I will have the pleasure of paying them."

"I tell you," continued Mr. Rowand, raising his voice to a clamorous exhortation and knocking the dust out of the table with his fist, "it was money on the other side and lack of it on our side that lost us. A week ago we had the battle won, but we could only pay $5 for men to man the polls, and the other side went us five better, so they got the word workers and we had to hire messenger boys. As the returns have shown, the plan wasn't a brilliant success. Besides that we had to cope with the office holders and all their relations in the county. Why, there wasn't a brass button or a front office man on the Allegheny police force that didn't work for the ring, and of course Pittsburg kept up the same pace. We had to fight our own battle and we only had $5,000 to do it with, but no one will deny that the effort was a good one."

We Are the People.

"Will the organization be kept up?" Mr. Rowand was asked.

"Will the Republican party in Allegheny county be kept up?" he questioned in reply. "We are the Republican party, and our banner will be flying when the City Hall organization's tomb is crumbling into dust. Mr. Flesson is Chairman of the Republican County Committee, and will probably call a meeting soon to straighten out the party's affairs. Our primaries hereafter will be under the Crawford county system, and if the ring men can come in and get a nomination we will turn in and support them. The next fight will be on the city election of Councilmen, and following that the selection of delegates to the National Convention. We are in this tight to stay. A new party has seldom gained as great strength as we have in a single conflict, and it seems to me that the future has bright things in store for us."

"How about those prosecutions you were to make to-day?"

"Haven't got the cash," replied Mr. Rowand. "I don't know what the committee will do, but for my part I intend to drop the matter, although there is plenty of evidence of fraud."

Continuing, Mr. Rowand stated that a Straightout club would be organized in Pittsburg on the same plan as the American and Tariff clubs. He stated that 70 men had agreed to pay in $10 each to start the club, and he thought enough others would join to get good quarters.

Three Dejected Democrats.

A few doors below Mr. Rowand's office three dejected Democrats, who had joined the Straightouts, were found discussing the situation. They were Attorney O'Brien, Councilman Hickenstein, of Allegheny, and William Walls, the ex-labor leader. The opinion was unanimous that boodles had done it. Mr. Walls said that the Democrats would continue their fight and that the next effort would be to prevent "O'Leary, Larkin and that gang," from getting the honors at the Democratic National Convention. He thought the reform people in both parties would unite to knock out the ring and that the Straightout Republicans and Straightout Democrats together make a factor in politics that would be invincible.

The committee of 21 independent Democrats, he said, would probably hold a meeting soon, to decide what to do, and he thought steps would be taken to form a permanent organization.

Ex-Judge Fetterman is getting used to defeats and this last one didn't seem to worry him. The only reason he knew for not being elected was that he did not get enough votes on this side of the river.

"Will the Straightout organization be continued?" he was asked.

"Why certainly he replied. "It's pretty lively for a year old and has demonstrated that it is here to stay. The greatest gain in the future, I think, will be in Allegheny where it will probably join with the Citizens' Reform Association. The two combined will get control in Councils and when the people on this side of the river see the good government the Northside is getting, the Pittsburg ring will be thrown overboard and the Straightouts will be recognized as the Republican party. This was a preliminary fight and our strongest opponents must admit that we made a good showing."

Democrats Will Stand Alone.

"Provided the Straightouts keep up their strength will the Democrats again unite with the Republicans against them?" Commissioner Dennis Boyle was asked.

"Democrats are for reform," was the reply "and we are for the best man. The Democratic party has the best men; and therefore it will make its own nomination and if the Republicans or Straightouts wish to join with us they are perfectly welcome to come in. The circumstances under which the two parties united this time were peculiar and it is hardly likely they will occur again. If the Straightouts fight the Republicans, the Democrats will step in and get the victory. We will make an attempt to elect as many Commissioners next spring as we can and I look for considerable success."

Pat Foley held the same views. He thinks the opportunity for the Democratic party in Allegheny county is at hand and that the opportunity will be accepted.

SPECULATION RUINED IT.

THE MAVERICK BANK PLUNGED DEEPLY INTO BAD RISKS.

Comptroller Lacy Charged With Knowing the Bank's Condition Since Last January—Hints That He May Lose His Official Head—The Five-Cent Bank Run.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—The Journal says: There is nothing in the affairs of the Maverick National Bank of which the Clearing House has not been fully advised. The committee has guarded every point. It arranged that T. P. Beale should be the receiver for well-considered reasons. The facts regarding the loans of the bank have been in possession of the Comptroller of the Currency since last January, and it is now intimated that another comptroller is likely to be appointed before long.

The general loan account, outside of the $2,400,000 due from directors and the Evans losses, is good and shows good judgment and careful banking. The directors' loans have still considerable collateral behind them. Speculation is the one word that explains all—speculation in stocks and grain, with the Maverick Bank funds backing the deals. The first great speculation of the Maverick Bank was by Messrs. French & Potter in New York and New England. It was successful from a pecuniary point of view, but in that success lay concealed the ultimate ruin of the bank. In the New York and New England mystery deal the bank's funds were used to a startling degree.

Although the Maverick Bank has been known as a speculative bank, no one outside of Mr. Evans and the bank directors could have imagined the extent of the speculations. It is now not to be wondered at that when the death of Irving A. Evans was announced, President Potter, in the directors' room, should have physically collapsed; but it is a wonder, in the light of present revelations, that he should for so many days have patched up affairs and stemmed the current.

Examiner Ever says he hopes to get out within three or four days some sort of statement that will enable the other banks to gauge the advances that shall be made to depositors.

The run on the Five Cent Savings Bank continues. Following are the names of the entrants. President Evans says he will continue to pay out money until it is deemed advisable to take advantage of the 60-day law. One national bank has offered him $300,000, and he has received offers of large amounts from other institutions.

Killed in a Coal Mine.

Johnston Carrington, colored, employed in the Pittsburg and Chicago Coal Company's mines, at Snowden, Pa., was killed by the premature explosion of a blast yesterday morning in the mine. He was brought to Snowden with about 100 others from Roanoke, Va., but a few days ago to work in the mines. The body was taken to the morgue, and an inquest will be held to-day.

Struck by an Engine.

Martin Wormsley, a young man who lives on Franklin street, near Sedgwick street, Allegheny, was struck by an engine on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad at the Washington avenue crossing yesterday afternoon. His right leg was broken, and it is feared he suffered internal injuries. He was removed to his home and Dr. Gardner summoned to attend him.
