TO RELEASE MUTRIE,

A Movement on Foot Among the New York Club Directors to Down Truthful Jeems.

TOO FOND OF THE FLOWING BOWL.

President J. B. Pay the Only Magnate Who Is Sticking By the Famous Manager.

EX-MANAGER HANLON'S OPINIONS.

Two Local Ball Players Wanted Out West-Basebal News of General Interest.

ISPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH, I NEW YORK, Nov. 5 -There have been many changes in the New York baseball club since the season closed. Connor and Richardson have cut loose from the metropolis, and Rusie will pitch next season in Chicago. In the case of those players, John B. Day and his fellow directors set their feet down against paying them the exorbitant salaries they demanded. The fabulous offers of Association officers had turned the heads of the players, and the local directors determined to let the men go rather than pay salaries out of all proportion to the services rendered. The places of the deserters will be filled by men quite as efficient and the idea that New York cannot get along without any one of its ball players seems to get hadly shattered. In their actions the directors have thrown sentiment to the wind and looked at the case from solely a business standpoint. The stockholders will not get a cent on their investment for the past season, and they do not feel justified in increasing their already large salary list. The changes in the organization have not all been made.

Another Important Move.

Another move is contemplated, and it is one that will attract more attention than any yet made. There is a well defined movement on foot which will probably result in the release of Manager Mutrie. The majority of the directors are averse to Mutrie continuing as manager, and from present indications some other man will take the place, and that very shortly. The directors realize that too much time has already been lost in filling the gaps in the team, and they are determined to at once decide the question of a new manager. There will undoubtedly be strong opposition to the release of Mutrie, and it will come from President John B. Day. He and Mutrie have acted together ever since the club was organized, and the relations of personal friendship will impei Mr. Day to make a stubborn resistance. Half a dozen conferences have already been held between Mr. Day and the other directors. The lat-ter have endeavored to persuade Mr. Day to accede to Mutrie's retirement, and thus have the mot er ended without any jar. To this proposition Mr. Day has invariably responded with an emphatic refusal. May Settle It To-Day.

Another meeting will be held to-day or to-morrow, and one final effort will be made to induce Mr. Day to reconsider. In case of continued refusal on his part it is the plan of the directors to hold a meeting of the board and then remove Mutrie without the consent of the President. At the present time it is known that Mr. Day stands in his desire for the retention of Mutrie. Directors Talcott, Robinson, Van Cott, Spalding and Sullivan are all opposed to Mutrie remaining as manager of the team, ns is also McAlpin, a beavy stockholder. They assert that the interests of the club de mand a change, and in their action are guided solely by a desire to advance the business welfare of the organization. Mutrie's contract for the past season confrom indulgence in certain beverages. opposing directors point out that the manager has not in that respect lived up to his contract, and insist that his example has been demoralizing to the players. Must Ignore the Bowl.

other directors, the former has agreed to guarantee that if re-signed, Mutrie will abandon the flowing bowl. This has had no weight with the others. The action as contemplated by the other directors is in line with a settled policy to in future con-duct the affairs of the club on a strictly business basis. The directors have merely been waiting for the election excitement to subside in order to listen to the treasurer's report and lay out their plans for 1892. A reporter talked with several of the directors to-day, and they all expressed themselves as determined to make a change in the management. Unless they completely change their attitude, Jim Mutrie's success

BUCKLEY'S VIEWS OF IT.

The New York Catcher Thinks His Old Clab Is in Very Bad Shape-Ex-Manager Hanlon Also Discusses the Matter and Says a Few Sensible Things.

Dick Buckley, the well-known catcher of the New York club, was in the city vesterday. He said Rusie had certainly left the Giants, and that he (Buckley) will likely leave them also. He added that the New York club will be in pretty bad shape for next season.

Referring to the New York club vesterday, ex-Manager Hanlon said: "I am awfully sorry that Richardson and Connor have left the New Yorks. I don't think they have taken a wise step, but I think they could have been signed by the New York club. A few days ago when I was in New York I could have signed Richardson for the New York club at a salary of $3,500. Richardson's loss to that club is agreat one: in fact, far greater than the loss of Rusie or anybody else. Rusie, like all pitchers, is uncertain; they may break down at any time; but an infielder like Richardson is a sure and reliable man. If the New York club wants to get Richardson's equal-that is, if his equal can be had—more money will bave to be put up than what would have held Danuy. The truth is, the New York club is going to be in very bad shape, indeed. I am not blaming anybody in particular, but I am only mentioning the fact because I am sorry to see it. But a reaction will take place, and when it comes we may all look out. Clubs cannot possibly stand the big salaries that players are now demanding. I know what I am talking about when I say this. Of course, I am a player, but I do not want to have matters forced so far as to ruin ourselves. The demanding of big salaries will in the long run end disastrously to players as well as to those who are putting up the money."

Ed Swartwood received a letter from Manager Buckenberger yesterday. The latter fully expects to be appointed manager of the Washington Association team. The matter will probably be settled to-day. Those who know Mr. Buckenberger best speak very highly, indeed, of his ability as a manager. If he goes to Washington it is almost certain that Ed Swartwood will be his right fielder. Ed will doubtless fill the bill in first-rate style.

ROGER'S REASONS.

The First Baseman Explains Why He Does Not Like New York.

Roger Connor gives as his reasons for not wanting to play here again that the newspapers are down on him, writes Sam Crane in the New York Press. Now 1 know that Roger fully believes what he says. I had a short seance with him recently, and was unfortunate enough to strike Roger in a very unamiable mood. Talk about the effect o a red flag on a mad bull. Whew! It wasn't a marker to the effect my appearance had on Big Roger. He fairly flew at me and threatened to knock seven kinds of daylight out of me, or any other baseball reporter that ever lived, in as many minutes. As his big form loomed up over me and his brawny fist made belligerent hieroglyphics before my face a very vivid recollection came to me of what an effect that same fist had on the features of Ed Caskins several years ago. I would have bet even money just at that stage of the game that he could lick John L. Sullivan in a punch, and I de-cided to forego, for some time at least, all further thought of making any arguments with him.

One misguided friend congratulated me on being a gentleman at taking all the abuse I did in a quiet manner. But he did not know Roger. I did. Roger laid great stress on the fact that I once said "he hadn't a heart as big as a Sports Down Perrysville Road. About 40 of the "young bloods" of the two cities had a night of rare sport last night. They adjourned to a quiet retreat far along Perrysville Road and witnessed a rattling prize fight and two four-round contests which were termed "friendly set-tos," but they were vicious for all that. The leading event was an eight-round battle between Tom Kelly, who claims to hail from Philadelphia, and Jack O'Brien, an Ohio light weight. The latter weighed about 133 and Kelly was a few pounds lighter. Marquis of Queensberry rules governed the contest, the purse was $100 and four-ounce gloves were used.

gloves were used.

For about four rounds the contestants were about even the fighting being very tame. In the fifth round, O'Brien began to force matters and Kelly responded, but he was being out-fought. The crowd urged the fighters on and in the sixth round Kelly was considerably used up when time was called.

In the seventh and eighth rounds O'Brien had Kelly at his mercy and although Kelly was knocked down three times O'Brien declined to knock him out. When time was called at the end of the eighth round Kelly was completely done and the victory and purse were awarded to O'Brien. Preceding the chief event two young local men named Powell and Brown had a round go. They battered each other hard and their contest was declared a draw. Then two "young bloods had a turn for four rounds and they made matters exceedingly lively. The whole party returned home in the early hours of morning extremely pleased with the fun they had enjoyed.

Local Football Players All in Line for To-Morrow's Games,

A LIVELY LOCAL PRIZE FIGHT.

Jack O'Brien and Tom Kelly Fight in Presence of a Number of Sports.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

The fifth round of games in the Western Pennsylvania Football League competition will be played off to-morrow. The race is now a pretty one and is becoming more interesting every week. The defeat of the champions by the Pittsburgs last Saturday will go a long way toward making the competition from now on most exciting.

The other teams in the League think if the Pittsburgs can down the hitherto invincible McDonalds they can do the same thing, and the Homesteads, who are at present in the lead and who are scheduled to play the champions at Homestead, declare their intention of retaining their position at the head of the list by adding two other points to their record to-morrow. The Mc-Donald players will have something to say to this, however, and will in all likelihood play their very hardest to regain their lost ground. Whatever the result may be, another great game may be looked for. Secretary Macpherson has appointed Mr. R. H. Liddell, of the Pittsburg club, to referee the game.

The Home Contest.

The local game will be almost as important an event as last Saturday's contest. The game will be played at Recreation Park, and the contestants will be the Pittsburg and the New Castle teams. The New Castle players have made a big reputation for themselves since joining the League, and are now looked upon as being second to none in Western Pennsylvania. Last Saturday they beat the McKeesports by 4 goals to 1, while the previous Saturday the Me-Keesports defeated the Pittsburgs by a similar score. The question is now being asked, Are the New Castle team so many goals better than the Pittsburgs? The local players say they will solve the riddle tomorrow. They will be represented by the same team that performed so nobly last week, with the possible exception of Bald-win in place of J. Attwell at half-back. The latter caught a severe cold through playing in the rain on that occasion, and has been confined to his home nearly all

The game at Recreation Park to-morrow

GREAT CONTEST EXPECTED.

To-Morrow's Football Game Between the Daytons and the Three A's.

What promises to be an exceedingly ineresting Rugby football game is that which takes place at Exposition Park to-morrow afternoon between the Dayton team and th Three A's. The former are chiefly college players and have all figured in football contests with more or less success. Mr. R. R. Dickey, Jr., is captain of the team, and he has great confidence in his men. Arrangements have been made for auother game between the Washington and Jefferson and the East End Gym Rughy teams. Last Saturday the contest betwee these teams ended very unsatisfactorily, and it is pleasing to know they have agreed to meet again. The contest ought to be a very interesting one because of the rivalry between the teams. There will certainly be lots of spirit displayed in to-morrow's game and it will be well worth seeing.
