

SERIOUS OBJECTIONS.

Some Adverse Views on the Accommodations in Pittsburgh

FOR A BIG NATIONAL CONVENTION.

A Prevalent Impression that the Plan is Impracticable.

SOME PEOPLE THINK IT IS FEASIBLE.

The attempt to secure the next National Republican Convention for this city is still creating some talk, but the general belief, though expressed with regret, is that Pittsburgh has not the hotel accommodations for such a multitude as the convention would bring here.

My views on this subject are positive and can be expressed very briefly. I do not think Pittsburgh could entertain a national convention. It is simply beyond her power.

Would Do the City Good? I am in favor of bringing the next national convention to Pittsburgh if possible. I think it would be a good thing for the Republicans and a good thing for Pittsburgh.

Thinks the Plan Impracticable. It is not to be thought of, I am convinced that Pittsburgh, if she has all the will in the world, has not the power to provide for a big convention such as that of the Republicans of the nation next year.

BROOMS ON THE RISE.

Several Causes Tend to a Big Advance in Their Prices.

This is an exciting week in the broom country. Its members have been holding a meeting in Chicago, where it has been discovered that the price of brooms of New York have been buying all they could get their hands upon.

It was learned there that the trouble was caused by a shortage in the amount of acreage planted. Broom corn has ruled very low for five years past, and the Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Kansas farmers who have been raising it largely turned their attention to wheat and corn instead.

To-Day—Men's winter underwear and socks. Don't let the cold snap catch you unprepared. Stocks complete and prices lowest.

To-Day—Unrivaled and unapproachable collections of all the newest things in dress goods and silks.

To-Day—Extra bargains in ladies' and children's winter underwear and hosiery.

Why, Certainly, the People All Go Where they can get the best prices for least money: at Aufrecht's new gallery, 77 Fifth avenue. Children welcome.

DEATHS HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Captain Leodegar M. L. Kinsky.

Captain Leodegar Maria Liph Kinsky died suddenly in Boston Sunday night of heart trouble. He was born in Prague, Bohemia, in 1840 and received his education at the Ritter Academy at Brunn, the University of Vienna, Austria, and was graduated second in a class of 200 from the Military Academy of Vienna, Austria, as Lieutenant of Engineers in the Austrian army.

Dr. John Francis Williams.

John Francis Williams, LL. D., Assistant Professor of Zoology and Mineralogy in Cornell University, died at Ithaca Monday evening. Although Dr. Williams was only 29 years old he had achieved eminent distinction. He took his baccalaureate degree at the State Polytechnic Institute, and afterward studied at Gottingen for three years with such success that when his teacher (Prof. Klein) went to Berlin Dr. Williams accompanied him as assistant. Returning to Cornell he became an instructor in zoology, and as a result of his work he has been complimented by Prof. Rosenbush, the greatest living authority, when it became apparent that he had brought from the malarious regions of Arkansas the seeds of a fatal disease. His experience of three or four consecutive autumns enables me to say that the hall is no more important than the committee rooms, where headquarters for State delegations and candidates must be located.

Captain Edward F. Smith.

Captain Edward F. Smith, of Parkersburg, aged 51, and one of the oldest and best known postal clerks in the service, died Tuesday morning. Although ailing considerably he started on his run to Grafton Tuesday morning, but when Parkersburg was reached he was prostrated by paralysis. He was taken to Grafton and then brought to Parkersburg, where he died in a few hours. His death is said to be largely the result of a little later to America he took a position as a student in Clark University, and afterward was employed in a very important part of the State of New York.

Mrs. Mary G. Jones.

Mrs. Mary G. Jones died yesterday morning of heart disease, at the residence of her son-in-law, William Rees. Mrs. Jones was well known among the oldest Welsh people living in this country. Her husband had been a member of the Welsh Congregational Church for 40 years. She leaves three children. They are Thomas G. Jones, of the postoffice, W. B. Jones, of the Bellows Glass Company, and Mrs. Thomas Jow. Notice of her funeral appears in another column.

Samuel Chipman, Centenarian.

Samuel Chipman died Tuesday in Halifax in his 102d year. His 101st birthday was October 18 last. He had been identified with the public affairs of Halifax since 1827, when he was first elected to the Legislature. He was probably the oldest Free Mason in the world, having been initiated in Virgin Lodge, of Halifax, in 1813.

James Sewright.

James Sewright, an old resident of Allegheny, died suddenly yesterday in his 66th year. He has been a prominent business man in that city for the past 30 years, and was a prominent member of the Arch Street M. E. Church for that period. He leaves a wife and two sons.

Obituary Notes.

CAPTAIN D. C. ALLEN, a well-known Ohio river steamboat man, died at his home in Little Hocking, W. Va., Tuesday night.

TWO LEPERS ON THE FRONTIER.

Fears Entertained at Seattle That They May Cross the Border.

SEATTLE, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Intense excitement prevails at Victoria on account of the turning loose there of two Chinese lepers, who arrived from New York about two months ago. They had been under guard in a shanty down by the bay, but the Victoria City Council refused to bear any more expense, and so the guard was removed. As soon as the doors were thrown open the lepers started for Chinatown, but they were shunned by all their fellow-countrymen, and could not get shelter. They came back to the city, and all day wandered up and down the principal business streets in the rain, appealing personally for help to the passers-by.
