STRENGTH OF SHERMAN

As Shown Now on His List of Legislators, Giving Him a Majority.

INGENIOUS TACTICS BEING USED

By Foraker and His Friends to Knock Out the Senior Senator.

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH, COLUMBUS, Nov. 12.-The Senatorial contest in Ohio is growing to the point of vicious attack and threatened explosion. The Sherman and Foraker forces are getting in line for a general assault. There is no one who has anything to do with the contest except the members-elect of the Legislature, and so far they have not been consulted, except in isolated cases. To the present time the Senatormakers have been doing all the work, and they have elected their man time and again. The display of wind work has been enormous. The guesses, gossip and able speculation which have been indulged will have but little effect when the time comes for the real forces to assume

The artists of the profession, both foreign and local, have been endeavoring since the result of the recent election was determined to tell their respective journals just how this Senatorial business was going to be settled, and many of them have succeeded to their own satisfaction, but they are now compelled to revise their speculations and begin anew on the absorbing Ohio topic.

Not a Walkover for Sherman. The men who have been claiming that Senator Sherman would be elected without serious opposition based their opinion, in great measure, upon the fact that the distinguished gentleman has never been obliged to enter into a contest for the position which he occupies, but has held it at will and by the mere asking. These able prognosticators forgot that Senator Sherman has been in public life for over 40 years, and that nearly two generations have come and gone since he became prominent in State and national politics. Rather than being an element of strength these things are now being urged against him as a reason why he should relinquish his claim upon further recognition at the hands of the Ohio Republicans. The argument of statesmanship and long service, for a wonder, in the present contest is being turned to a new purpose, and it is urged that the younger, energetic and rising Republicans of the State should be given a chance and receive something in recognition for the work which they are and have been doing.

The point is made that Sherman is living in another age; that his friends and most ardent admirers are back numbers in the political arena, and that the younger men can expect nothing at his hands. In the line of respectable argument these are the most potent factors urged in the present contest, though there is promise by the Foraker aggressive element in the State that something more aggravating shall be brought out, and that it is to be a fight for reputation and blood.

An Anti-Sherman Sensation Promised.

The followers of Governor Foraker have been more enthusiastic and confident the past three days than at any time since the subject was before the people. There are reasons for this, but the details have not vet been divulged. Charles Kurtz, Fora-ker's manager and former private secretary, stated last night, before stepping on a train to meet the ex-Governor, that he would be ready to talk in the next few days, and would then make known the reasons why he thought Foraker would be elected, and he promised something rich on Shermau's record, which he thought would settle the matter definitely.

The confidence of Kurtz and his assistants is something wonderful. They have come into possession of a revised list which has been prepared by the Sherman managers, James and Jasper Robertson, father and line work of laying brick. President cated who will vote for Sherman, and they take the list and point out the instances wherein the Sherman men are mistaken, and show telegrams and letters from some of the members-elect claimed for Sherman who state they are coming to Columbus for the special purpose of voting for the ex-Governor. The Sherman list only includes 52 votes claimed as certain, while 48 votes are required to nominate in caucus. This only leaves a margin of 4 for losses, and the opposition count on 6 of the list, at least, who will vote for their man.

No Figures From the Foraker Men.

While the Foraker managers have given while the Foraker managers have given out no list for publication, they insist they can show a following of 60 members, with a chance of a few more if necessary. In the Sherman list no claims are made on the Hamilton county delegation, while Senator Sherman claims he will be able to control at least a part of the votes from that county. He is only counting upon three of the five members from Cuyahoga, while it is claimed he will get more, hoga, while it is claimed he will get more, and the Foraker men are claiming all except and the Foraker men are claiming all except one or two from that section.

These figures on either side do not seem to be backed up by facts and assurances substantial enough to approach a degree of certainty. There is this week being done a considerable amount of missionary work among the legislators-elect, and it is believed an estimate of strength one week from this time will be of considerable more worth than any number which may be counted now.

Favorable opinion in behalf of the respective candidates is being codified, as it were, for general use. It is urged in behalf of the ex-Governor that he has made a brilliant record as Governor, that he is young and aggressive, and that he would make himself heard in the councils of the nation; that he has his future before him, while that of Sherman, so to speak, is behind him; that he can do more for the young Republians and the workers of the State; Republians and the workers of the State; that he is eminently fitted for the place.

Claims Set Up for Honest John. On the other hand, as stated, the friends of Senator Sherman insist that no State can afford to do so and never has retired a Sen-ator of the reputation and standing in the country which has been attained by Senator sherman; that he can do more for the State and country at large than any other man who can be selected; that there is a demand from other States that his services be retained in the Senate; that he is entitled to the honor because of the great work which he has accomplished as a financier and Senator, and that the party owes him a debt of gratitude which should last to his death. The rising men refuse to accept this cheerful outlook, hence the present disturbance. The tactics to be used are being cleverly outlined. Senator Sherman, in an interview, in a measure belittles the candidacy of Foraker. In this respect many of the Sherman; that he can do more for the State of Foraker. In this respect many of the liberal minded believe he makes a mistake. liberal minded believe he makes a mistake. The situation justifies this view. Indirectly the Senator recalls the ballot box forgery with which the name of the Governor was connected during the last campaign. It apparently is sought to enlist the sympathy of Governor-elect McKinley by reminding him that his name was also a part of the forgery. McKinley, however, in an interview, announces he is not taking any part in the Senatorial contest, but it is well known in select circles that he is anxious that Sherman should succeed himself. He wants no Ohio Presidental timber in his way.

Way.

The Situation an Interesting One. An expert puts it: The national administration wants Sherman returned to the Senate; the moneyed men of the East want him; the system of national banks of the country will listen to nothing short of their champion being returned; McKinley and the entire State administration will give Sherman their support. It is well understood that the touch of the electric button at Mansfield will have a prompt response from the Governor's desk in the executive office. These are strong forces in a contest like that which is about to bloom forth in Ohio and not be settled fill the last legislator has been seen and presented the case in all its varied forms. The situation is an all its varied forms. The situation is an interesting one.

Some of the ultra Republican and Foraker organs in the State have revived, in a concerted manner, the idea that it would be a good scheme to unseat Calvin S. Brice, or rather inaugurate proceedings to prevent his qualification for the office of Senator, and then elect both of the present candidates. Neither side, however, seems to have confidence in the move to the extent that they will join in any formal action in that direction. It is rather a source of suspicion between Sherman and Foraker managers, each believing it a scheme to side-LITTLE IN THE ANTI-BRICE SCHEME agers, each believing it a scheme to side-track the man who takes the initiative. In frack the man who takes the initiative. In fact, the Sherman men look upon it as an effort to revive the Brice scandal, in the hope of placing Sherman in a position by which he would have to assume the pres-sure in the Senate and conduct the fight against Brice in the hope of making an opening for himself.

No Use for the Move Against Brice, The Sherman managers will have nothing to do with the Brice end of the string. While they recognize the inter-State Sena-tor has possibly no legitimate claim to the high office to which he was chosen, they also have a pretty fair conception of the in-fluences which are behind Brice, in and out of the Senate, and they do not care to undertake the unpleasant job. The life-long business, personal, and political friendship which has existed between Brice and Secretary Foster leaves little doubt that the latter would in an indirect manner devote himself to the interest of Banner devote himself. self to the interests of Brice in his efforts to retain the toga which is about to be conferred upon him.

The Foraker contingent in the contest received considerable encouragement this week by the presence in the city of the farmers of the State. Both the secret and open alliances have had conventions here open alliances have had conventions here to mark out their future course and ask of the incoming Legislature several important enactments. While no definite action was taken by the alliance on the Senatorial question a number of the leaders were interviewed and they universally expressed themselves that the farmers were opposed to the selection of Sherman to the Senate, and some went so far as to intimate that inand some went so far as to intimate that influence would be used on their home mem-bers to prevent such a result being brought about. They insist that Sherman's course in legislation has been inimical to their in-terests for a great many years and they

She Replaced a Flag Which Had Beer

Torn From Her School CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., Nov. 12 .- The presentation of a handsome silk flag to Miss Emma Connor, the school teacher who had a flag torn down from her schoolhouse and who put it back and defied the men to come back and attempt to remove it again, took place in this city last night, in the Young Men's Christian Association Armory. The meeting was presided over by Charles M.
Travis, ex-Department Commander of the
G. A. R. An eloquent and appropriate address was made by General M. D. Manson.
He spoke forcibly of the devotion of the American people for their flag, and it pained him to know that there were three men who would insult the flag in order to "spite a school teacher." His remarks were received with great applause.

Miss Connor responded to the presentation address in an eloquent manner. She modestly said she had no idea of creating such a commotion in this country, but she wanted it distinctly understood that the flag will remain on her schoolhouse as long as she is teacher. Addresses were also made by M. D. White, ex-Congressman, the Rev. Mr. Switzer and Parker Willis, State Master of Forms of the Patriotic Order Sons of America.

CONFESSED TO SHIELD HIS WIFE.

A Prisoner Surprises an Iowa Court by Pleading Guilty of Murder. COUNCIL BLUFFS, Nov. 12 .- J. K. Cumson, of Harlan, Shelby county, when arraigned for trial surprised the Court and spectators by pleading guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree. The murder was committed over two years ago, and Cumberland was suspected at the time, but no positive clew against him or any knowledge of the whereabouts of the Robertsons after their disappearance could be found. Cumberland left the county soon after the Robertsons disappeared, but was located in Missouri and was arrested while located in Missouri and was arrested while the grand jury was investigating the case. A confession was found on Cumberland's person, telling where the bodies could be found. Every statement in the confession has been verified, and there was no chance for leniency toward the prisoner, who pleaded guilty, it is thought, to shield his wife, who was arrested as an accomplice. Cumberland has been confined in the Avoca jail for safe keeping, as there were fears of lynching should he be kept at Harlan. The Court has not given a decision, but the death sentence is generally expected.

PITTSBURG'S CHRISTMAS CLUB.

Novel Organization of Young Men for a Queer Purpose.

A novel organization composed of 20 young gentlemen has been formed in this city under the name of "The Christmas Club." It is a temporary institution, having no charter, president or committees like other clubs, the only officer serving in an official capacity being a treasurer. To him each member contributes $1 per week, which the Treasurer in turn deposits in the bank. On the day before Christmas the fund will have become of a liberal amount, and arrangements have been made to give a stag dinner at a swell hotel on the eve. It is to be a most recherche affair, a menu of excellent texts. cellent taste, innumerable courses, and tonsts between each service. Carriages will be in waiting after the fe st. T. R. He asks the Court to decree that 20 certificates, representing 10,000 shares of the stock of the Southern Express Company, transferred to Hoey, be adjudged the property of the Adams Express Company; further, that Hoey be ordered to deliver to the Adams Express Company a power of attorney enabling the company to transfer to itself all the equity of redemption in a certificate of 4,500 shares, alienated by him as collateral for loans, and that the settlement between Hoey and the Adams Company, effected in December, 1888, be set aside as void.

AN ALLEGHENY MAN SELECTED.

Employing Printers Explain Their Side of the Strike.

SUCCESSFUL INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Edward A. Keil was yesterday elected Treasurer of the National Lodge of the Amalgamated Association of Iron Workers to fill the place made vacant by the death of James, Penny. The election was made by the national officers.

Mr. Keil is at present filling his third term as trustee of the association. He is a heater at the Porkhouse mill at Woods' Run, and is one of the best known men in organized labor in this part of the country. He is now 40 years old. He entered a mill when he was 11 years old and has worked steadily ever since. During that time he has been employed by only four different firms. He has been working at the Porkhouse mill for 13 years. He has been identified with organized labor since 1872. He succeeded Mr. Penny, whom he succeeds now, as President of Heaters and Rollers, and was holding the office when the amalgamation was formed. He has been a delegate to all except four conventions since the association was formed, and has always been placed on important committees.

Mr. Keil is of German descent. He is a member of the choir of the Woods' Run Presbyterian Church and is as well known in public affairs in lower Allegheny as in labor circles.

The greivances of the engineers of Jones Laughlins' mill will be investigated by the Vice President of the district. The trouble has not been reported to the district executive board and will probably be fixed up. The Analgamated officials are evidently trying to avoid ordering a strike and it is likely the men will return under the ten hour system. the ten-hour system.

EMPLOYING PRINTERS TALK OUT.

They Claim the Strike Is Broken, and That 33 Offices Are Working

The employing printers of Pittsburg held a meeting yesterday, and authorized the statement that 33 offices which have refused to sign the scale are working almost full. They say that enough of the old hands have returned to their positions to make the work easy for the new employes and that all of the offices are busy. The complaint is made that the strikers are making themselves a nuisance with petty annoyances and threats and bribes to induce the new men to leave their employers, and it is stated that strong affidavits will be presented Saturday when the bill in equity filed by Murdoch, Kerr & Co. will be argued to show the extent of the tyranny of labor in Pittsburg. The circular concluded with the following: "Every employing printer in the association is ready and has all the facilities to promptly execute all orders, and no bet-They say that enough of the old hands tion is ready and has all the facilities to promptly execute all orders, and no better evidence that the backbone of the strike is broken need be offered. The proprietors will not recede nor will one of the new employes be displaced for a striker, and the ultimatum of the strikers will be to lay down their arms and seek work in more congenial climes."

The striking printers have employed Attorneys E. A. Montooth, M. A. Woodward and Charles Stilwagon to represent them in the suit of Murdock, Kerr & Co.

Pleased With the Industrial School, The members of the Master Bricklayers' Association yesterday inspected the trade school recently established on Seventh berland, arrested at Springfield, Mo., six street.
