Leading D'mocrats Predict a Higher Position fo Governor Campbell.

Charles Herman, who lives a few miles from Salt Lake City, stopped over in Pittsburg yesterday to see the city. A DIS-PATCH man met him in a downtown office in the afternoon. He had & good deal to say about the Mormons. Though Canon and some of the other leaders have bowed to the will of the inevitable and have expressed a willingness to observe the laws, the great body of Mormons are defiant and not vet subdued.

"The escheat of the Gardo House and some of the valuable property in Brig-ham Young's estate, under the law of 1864, has made the Mormons said Mr. Herman. understand the colony which they have started in Northern New Mexico is flourishing, and I think in course of time the faithful of the sect will migrate there from Utah. The decision of the escheat was a severe blow to the saints, and it has convinced them that their property is not safe in the United States as long as they adhere to their religious views. It is charged by the Gentiles that polygamy is still in vogue, but it is kept so well under cover that no case has come under my personal observation. The Mormons are strong in the territory, and they control its politics. Salt Lake City is in the hands of the Gentiles, but their margin is so narrow that it will probably be wiped out in the next election. The Mormons are an industrious class, and were it not for their abominable beliefs they would be very desirable citi-

days. He remarked casually that he had enjoyed his trip to Europe, and then the party disappeared into carriages that were waiting for them. They engaged rooms at the Anderson, but they didn't go there from the depot. It was rumored they held a conference with C. L. Magee late last evening, but this is denied.

Among the stories floating around yesterday was one that Mr. Magee had given orders to the Duquesne men to have the road in good order on Sunday, as he had a party of friends to take over the line. This report could not be verified. former age. Mr. Herman advances the ex-planation that the lake was formed like the one in Southwestern Colorado. It is fed by internal waters, and he claims it is too far away from the ocean to make the Pacific theory sound reasonable. A number of salt works are now being erected around the lake. The water is so briny that a great deal of chloride of sodium is produced. It makes a first-class article for rough purposes, and the plants are paying

TOO MUCH FRUIT THIS YEAR.

No Profit in the Business for Dealers or

Growers-Good Crop of Oranges. This has been a remarkable year for fruit," said Tony Barcky last evening, "but it has been unsatisfactory to dealers and growers. Since I have been in the business the crop has never been so large. There was too much. Those who owned orchards a few miles from railroads didn't make enough money to pay for propping up the trees, while the growers close to the stations who had little hauling to do were glad if they made the freight on shipments. There was a little money in choice packages, but nothing for common fruit. Grapes were sold in New York State for 15 cents a basket. We sold them here for that price, but at such a rate there is no profit in the business. Now all the New York grapes are frost bitten, and the growers must get what they can for them. This is why grapes are so cheap at the opening of winter. Peaches were plentiful, but very unsatisfactory. It was too wet while the crop was maturing, and the peaches were watery. Housewives complained a good deal about the quality. The California fruit men were sharp. They held their stock and dried it for the can-

"Oranges have not been so cheap for ten years. The crop is heavy, but the fruit is very small. Several years ago the Florida growers turned their attention to producing arge organges. The size was satisfactory but the covering was thick and the pulp dry. Then they trimmed the trees to raise smaller, but juicier oranges. The result is they are now under size, and there is more dissatisfaction. They pruned away too much."

AN ENGINEER'S PREMONITION.

He Side-Tracks His Train and Thus Avoids

a Collision. A telegraph operator on one of the single track roads leading out of Pittsburg had au experience last week that will last him a Alex Adamson, 6 cents fine and eight life-time. The young man become careless months to the workhouse for a serious life-time. The young man become careless, as dispatchers sometimes will, and he gave orders for a freight and passenger train, moving in opposite directions, to go to a certain station. When the trains had started, the operator suddenly remembered that they couldn't reach the place without a collision. It was too late to countermand the order, and in his agony cold drops of perspiration ran down over his face. In describing his feelings afterward, he said he lived years in the few short minutes which would decide the fate of the trains. He was startled and re. lieved by seeing the engineer of the freight walk into the tower. The engineer had re-ceived his orders, but when he reached a switch he had a premonition there was something wrong, and he turned in on the side track. His train was scarcely out of the way when the express thundered by. The next day the operator went to the superintendent of the road, and told him what had happened, at the same time hand-ing in his resignation. The manager looked at him for a moment, and then said: "Go back to your work, my boy. This experi-ence has been a lesson for you. I don't think it will occur in the future."

The telegrapher, in telling the story, remarked that another such fright would drive him crazy. He added that this is only a sample of what narrow escapes people have on railroads. There is something in luck, but few understand how intelligent train men often avert disasters.

In the theatrical line this week the Baltimore and Ohio road had the Fabio Romani Company to Zanesville. The Emma Juch Opera Company, 125 people, will arrive from Cincinnati this evening in a special of seven cars. Last night the Braddock Wire Company sent ten men over the Baltimore and Ohio to work in their plant at Joliet. This morning the winter schedules on all the railroads go into effect. The changes in time have already been pointed out. The passenger agents ask the public to take notice to avoid mistakes. Very often people

"The Governor is a remarkable man," he said. "They say Horace Greeley died of a broken heart, because he was defeated for the Presidency, but it would take more than that to kill Campbell. When I left him yesterday morning in Columbus, you never would have known that he had suffered a knockout. He was bright and cheerful, and all the pangs, if he ever had any, had disappeared. You can't keep the Governor down, and the country will hear from him in the future. He is yet sure to occupy a high place in the nation. But I must say that I never saw a man recover from the effects of disaster so quickly." was in the city on Friday returning to the

Before the election Mr. Campbell said if he was beaten for Governor he knew there was nothing further in store for him. On the contrary, the luke-warm support offered him by Virgil P. Kline, Martin Foran and Tom Johnson, of Cleveland, Neal, Remelin and the rest, and the jealousy of the lead-ing Presidental candidates, has earned for him the sympathy of the people at large. Some Decorum Among Birds,

In the Italian colony, back of the Duquesne Hotel, one of the inhabitants keeps a lot of corn on a flat roof to feed the spar-rows and pigeons. The latter are very dainty creatures, and they refuse to eat while any of the sparrows are around. A guest of the hotel watched the birds enjoying a dinner the other day. As a rule sparrows are very pugnacious and selfish, but when the pigeons lighted on the roof to receive their share the little fellows gracefully retired in their favor. The sparrows and pigeons seemed to take their turns alternately at the food and strange to say there wasn't the slightest janglisg between them.

The Cricket Back in His Home. One of the curiosities of the Anderson vator. During the flood last winter the little fellow was washed out of his home, but he turned up after several days in another part of the house. He has been there now for several months, and evidently was glad to get back as his song has been sharper and merrier ever since. The little fellow is well fed, but nobody in the house has seen him. He Knocks Several Charges Against Wyman and Murphy.

EVERYTHING SHOWN IN THE BOOKS

Some Inside Facts About the Pooling Privileges of Allegheny.

THE TWO CHIEFS GIVE THEIR VIEWS

Pending the meeting of the Auditing Committee of Allegheny's finances, which occurs to-morrow night, much interest is taken by citizens on both sides of the river. Many charges of corruption have been made against Mayor Wyman and Chief Murphy, all of which these dignitaries deny and say ample proof can be shown which will fully exonorate them from any malfeasance in office as charged.

One point in question which has given rise to talk is the discrimination shown to managers of different attractions as regards licenses. In this connection H. O. Price, the former well-known pool seller, makes a very opportune and positive statement. He, with E.-R. Gasper and several others, owned what was called the "Summe Theater" at Exposition Park several years

He states that Louis Koerner, who has said that he was superintendent of the park, was not in that capacity, he being only in charge of laborers and general utility man.

John A. Ellsler was the sole manager o the Summer Theater. Koerner had charge only in the winter time when the park was closed. In his affidavit Mr. Koerner says that he paid $25 a day rept, with a grand total of $10,800.

Price Takes in Amusement Privileges. To this Mr. Price takes exception, and says Koerner had nothing whatever to do with paying the license. "When starting the theater," said Mr. Price, "we had some dispute with Mayor Wyman, he claiming that as we were going to sell liquors the license would be $30. We thought this was wrong, and only a theatrical license was to be imposed upon us. We had a regular liquor license, and after an explanation to Mayor Wyman everything was arranged satisfactorily with him, we agreeing to pay $5 a day rent. Barnum's and Forepaugh's shows paid $500 per day to us for rental privi-leges, but paid to the city the regular licenses for such shows. The Buffalo Bill concern was not classed as a circus and Mr. Cody himself explained the difference satis-factorily to the authorities and he was only charged the license as a common every-day exhibition, which was $5. The ordinances governing such matters will show the rea-son. Mr. Koerner has figured quite promi-nently in this matter, and needlessly, be-cause he was only a figurehead."

In regard to the wheel of fortune privi-lege which Mr. Koerner claims to have paid

lege which Mr. Koerner claims to have paid money for, Mr. Price said:
"If Mr. Koerner paid any money to Mayor Wyman or Chief Murphy for the privilege, as stated in his affidavit, he did not get it from H. O. Price & Co. This was rented to Charles Hurlick, and no one ever had the same privilege while H. O. Price & Co. had the lease of the Exposition

Did Not Put Up to Run a Wheel, Mr. Price denies ever paying Mayor Wy-man or Chief Murphy for the privilege of running a wheel. "Did you ever visit Mayor Wyman, Mr. Price, in behalf of Mr. Koerner, for Chief of Police?" asked the reporter.

'Yes. About February, 1890, two gentlemen called at my place of business in Cleveland. I was in Chicago at the time. They left their names as James Bradley and John Hendricks, and I think left word for me to come to Allegheny City as they wanted to see me on business. I did not see them then, but received a telegram from Bradley, asking me to come to Allegheny, and that he would pay my expenses. I came on and met Mr. Bradley who introduced me to J. R. Stayton, In who introduced me to J. R. Stayton, Immediately afterward they asked me if I did not know of some crookedness about Mayor Wyman receiving money for a wheel of fortune privilege. I told them there was not a word of truth in it. Mr. Koerner met me afterward and asked me if I would not go over and see Mr. Wyman, saying that I might influence the coming Mayor in giving him a good position. This I positively refused to do then. He, however, insisted upon me to such an extent that I consented to go and see Mr. Wyman and do what I could for him.

Once Tried to Got a Privilege "He and I went to Mr. Wyman's residence together, but Koernerdid not wish to be seen by Mr. Wyman, who, by the way, was sick in bed. Mr. Koerner, upon my was sick in bed. Mr. Koerner, upon my request to go up and see him, personally refused to do so. I then went up with my story and request and Mr. Wyman told me very plainly that he could make no promises before the election. Notwithstanding this I thought Mr. Wyman felt kindly toward Mr. Koerner and his position was assured. I positively state that I never asked Mr. Wyman to appoint Koerner Chief of Police."

Mayor Wyman was seen at his home, and the above statement by Mr. Price was told him. He corroborated it in every particu-lar, and further added that certain persons, lar, and further added that certain persons, for political reasons, were raising this hurrah upon no just basis. "When the time comes," said he, "I will be able to prove myself guiltless of any and all charges made against me. The books will show all money received in the end, notwithstanding the loss of stubs which were carelessly destroyed. There are a few people in this city, instigated by political prejudices, who are aiming to throw me down, but I am perfectly at ease as regards the result."

Chief Murphy also heard the story of Mr.
Price, and coincides with Mayor Wyman's views, and laughingly remarked that "when a man gets in power his enemies endeavor to do him up, no matter what the means and methods may be."

Late last night Mr. Price was seen, and said Koerner was a man who was given to jumping at conclusions without facts, and was a great man to exaggerate all that he hears or sees.

WINTER OPENING.

True Economy Dictates That Buyers Go t Lynch's, 438 and 440 Market Street. Winter has come and with it merchants are displaying their new line of goods, but it is safe to say that a more complete stock than that of H. J. Lynch's, 438 and 440 Market street, cannot be found. That this is recognized by buyers is attested by the rapidly increasing patronage of this house. The stock comprises all the latest novelties in French and American dress goods, serges, plaids, Bedford cords, cashmeres and henriettas in all the leading shades. The underwear department is especially notable for its complete stock and low prices. It comprises natural wood, camel's hair, scarlet and merno for ladies, men and children. New line of cheviot and diagonal cloth sacques, with fur trimming; plush Winter has come and with it merchants dren. New line of cheviot and diagonal cloth sacques, with fur trimming; plush coats, reefers and children's wraps. STOCK BROKERS' SECRETS.

e Brought Out at the Hearing of the Conspiracy Case of M. K. McMullen Versus I. N. Richards and F. R. Merriman-Alderman McMasters Reserves

The hearing in the conspiracy case before Alderman McMasters, which involves the integrity of a prominent stock broker, I. N. Richards, and a well-known telegrapher, Frank R. Merriman, came up yesterday afternoon. The hearing was over two hours long, and during all this time the Alderman's office was crowded with oil and stock

M. K. McMullen, the prosecutor, was the first witness called for the Commonwealth. He testified that Merriman had been in his employ for over four years as a telegrapher employ for over four years as a telegrapher at a salary of $25 per week. As to the alleged wrong-doings of Merriman while in his employ, he had no personal knowledge. On cross-examination he said he had discharged Merriman about three weeks ago, when he first heard of his alleged wrong doing.

In answer to a question as to who belonged to the Keystone Provision, Stock and Exchange Company, he said he was the only member. He could not fix a date upon which the alleged fraud, conspiracy or any part of it was committed, but thought the first six months of the year 1890 was about the time.

Attorney William Reardon, who represented Merriman, inquired whether the Keystone Provision, Stock and Exchange Company was still alive, and also wanted to know if it was chartered. Mr. McMullen said the company could be revived at any time. Robert McChesney, who was for sor time and until very recently Richard's telegrapher, was the next witness. He said he knew both defendants and sent messages from Richards to Merriman touching Mc-Mullen's business. Attorney Marron then asked what were the messages? The witness replied, orders to buy or sell stock in connection with McMullen's busi-

"Do you know whether at any time these essages were false?"
"I only know that some were not received in the usual way."

Here the witness gave practical illustrations by which he showed the legitimate mode of transacting the business. He first sent one message ordering McMullen to buy stock and in answer to this he would receive a message saying the stock was bought, all these messages he said were filed for Mr. Richards and in a few hours or days, as the case would happen, Richards would order him to send a message telling McMullen to sell the stock and in reply to this would get an answer saying that it had been sold.

As to the messages sent in a usual way, McChesney said at times stocks would rise and fall in a very few minutes. He noticed that on occasions like this Merriman would that on occasions like this Merriman would send a message stating that certain stocks had been bought, sold and the deal closed. In instances of this kind he said McMullen would invariably be a loser, and if Richards and Merriman were working the thing together they would profit.

This concluded the important testimony in the case, and Attorney Brown asked for a discharge of the defendants because the evidence was not positive, and he stated that evidence was not positive, and he stated that there was no intent to deliver the goods, and for this reason the case would not hold good in court.

Attorney Marron discussed the case from beginning to end and argued that the Alderman had no jurisdiction as to deciding whether the business was legal or illegal.

Alderman McMasters reserved his decision until next Tuesday.

The only way in which gas bills can be reduced is by the use of gas saving stoves and gas grate fixtures. Demmler Bros., 526 and 528 Smithfield street, Pittsburg, Pa. carry a large line of the very best gas stoves, ranging in price from $3 50 to $25 apiece, according to size and finish, and their gas grate fixtures are very simple, cheap and casily put into the grate. The Leader gas heating stoves are the most powerful heaters in the market, easy to handle and ornamental. The jewel champion and Chicago gas heating stoves are excellent heaters, and give universal satisfaction.

Good gas stoves will pay for themselves in a short time by the small quantity of gas they consume, and the large amount of heat they radiate.

Demmler Bros. also show a large assort ment of brass fenders, coal vases, fire irons dish drainers, Pasteur filters, perfectio eners for gas fires, coffee and hot water urns, cuspidores and an endless variety of other useful goods for the house and kitchen.

Legal proceedings for a divorce suit were about to be served upon a very prominent business man of this city, when friends interfered and called upon the much wronged wife. She on her part averred that the only way she would consent to stop proceedings was for her husband to go forthwith to M. J. Smit, the first direct importer of diamonds, in whose windows she had seen such an elegant display, and purchase for her a pair of genuine diamond ear drops and lace pin to match. The friends immediately advised the husband as to the above, and he readily consented and all concerned wended their steps to M. J. Smit's, 311 Smithfield street, and made the purchase. Thus all is well that ends well. A Divorce Prevented purchase. Thus all is well that ends well.

PIANOS AND ORGANS. Our Grand Display.

Our stock of pianos and organs at the present time is the finest display that has ever been shown in this city. We have had excellent opportunities for securing the choicest that the different factories have excellent opportunities for securing the choicest that the different factories have been making, selecting particularly as regards tone and action. In the styles of cases, great care has been taken to get something pleasing to the eye, and the different cases in walnut, mahogany, rosewood, oak and other woods, make a handsome appearance. The prices of these instruments are within the reach of all, lower, in fact, than we have been selling the same instruments for before, and on such easy terms will we furnish one that it is now a very easy matter to secure a piano. In makes of pianos we have the celebrated Hardman, Krakauer, Vose and Harrington, with world-wide reputations, and in organs the United States, Chase and Chicago Cottage, all at lowest prices and easiest terms. It will pay you to call at our warerooms and get catalogues and prices, whether you intend purchasing or not.

Have been located at

KENSINGTON

The new manufacturing city on the A. V. R. R. The CHAMBERS GLASS Co. selected this new city as the place to build and operate their extensive factories. They will cover 48 acres of ground and will employ 1,800 people. There will be four buildings erected, two of which will be 1,200 feet long and 150 feet wide, and two buildings 750 feet long and 150 feet wide. In addition to this extensive plant

Has the following manufactories located, some of them being operated: Brownsville Plate Glass Co., Pittsburg Reduction Co., Bradley Stove Foundry, Rolled Steel Wheel Co., Nelson Piano and Organ Co., The { Kensington Tube Works, Excelsior Flint Glass Co., B. F. Rynd Planing Mills, Kensington Roller Process Flouring Co., Logan & Sons Planing Mills, Kensington Chilled Steel Co. These works will make business and give employment to all who purchase property and locate there.

THIS IS THE TIME TO SELECT

LOTS AND BUY AT

The city is growing rapidly both in buildings and population, which is increasing the value of the property every day. Lots can be bought now at the same price as before all the above works were located. No advance in price has been made by the company, though the land has almost doubled in value. Hundreds of the choicest lots for Business and Home sites are still left and for sale. They are going very fast. If you want to be suited in location buy now. Many have been disappointed in not getting the lot wanted by delaying the matter too long. The demand is so great that we must sell all that is open. The most beautiful part of

For Homes is situated on the upper side of the railroad, which has been graded and made ready for sale.

The best investment open to-day is in property in this new city. Go and see it. With each deed we give (free of charge) a policy of insurance of title from the Fidelity Title & Trust Co. FREE TICKETS THERE AND RE-TURN. Salesmen always on the ground. For further information apply at office of
