Have a Terrible Record.

The Cooley gang is famous for its cold-looded and deliberate outrages. The blooded and deliberate outrages. The Cocleys are both natives of southern Fayette county. Frank Cooley, the leader, is a burly, desperate looking character. He is about 35 years old. His brother is probably five years younger, and their comby nive years younger, and their com-panions, four or five in number, range in nge from 20 years to 30 years. All are ro-bust, hearty fellows, and all dress strictly after the wild Western fashion. They ap-pear in public occasionally and are always armed to the teeth. One or two of them carry rifles, but all of them carry smaller weapons. They travel about on horseback or on foot, and they turn up in public at the most unexpected time. Occasionally they appear at one of the mountain churches or break in upon a rural dance or gathering, and during their stay at any of these places they practically have things their own way. They stand in no apparent fear of arrest, and they have no more regard for the law than they have for the people they so frequently attack and Probably the most daring exploit of the Cooley gang was the robbery at the point of guns of the office of the Fairchance Furnace Company at Fairchance. On that occasion two of the band entered the office at the noon hour of the monthly pay day. They demanded from the two clerks in charge the money and were handed over some $5,000 in station 57. By the time the department arrived the stable was burned so much that he might bring nothing but civil action. The adoption of this paper may be difficult. Common Council is believed to be with the reformers, but Select, which contains only 13 members, is doubtful. On a call for ayes and navs, if public opinion was cast aside, it would probably be eight for Wyman and five with the reformers. Allegheny citizens are taking great interest in the investiga-tion, however, and the representatives will be influenced by what their constituents say. The situation has just enough doubt about it to make it interesting. it was impossible to save it. Wyman Must Have Known.

The ordinance providing for sanitary li-censes was passed August 20, 1878, and, as

Mr. Wyman has been in continual business since then, it is considered hardly possible that he was not aware of its provisions. The Council meeting to-night will proba-bly be the liveliest in the city's history. Besides the resolution from the Audit-

Tortured an Old Lady.

One of the most brutal outrages was the burning of an old lady's feet at her home at Mosertown. They held the old woman's feet into the fire until she told them where she had her money concealed. They took the money and left her bound and gagged. The same grade of punishment was inflicted upon an old man near Fairehance. His feet were burned to the bone before he dis-ciosed the whereabouts of his money. She was left a confirmed cripple by the danger-ous gang. Innumerable other outrages were perpetrated by the Cooleys, and nearly every citizen in southern Fayette county has, through tear of cruel treatment, paid . liberal tribute to them. A couple of years ago one of the gang was arrested, but before he was called for trial he escaped from the county prison in which he was confined after the old juil was demolished and before the new jail was finished. Several efforts has been made to recapture the outlaw, but with no success. The gang have not within the year committed any startling brime, but they have been roving about and have been robbing whenever and wherever they see fit. The citizens have repeatedly asked for protection from their own county, but the officials there have no been able to grant it, and the outrages have continued until they have become continued until they have become unbearable, and in desperation outside aid has been secured.

The Gang Should Be Run Down.

"That Cooley gang should be arrested and punished," a Pittsburg police official said last night. "It is an awful commentary on our civilization. A band of notorious outlaws at large and unmolested within 60 miles of Pittsburg, and in Fayette county, where there are plenty of courageous men, and where the people generally are lawabid-ing. I know the Sheriff of Fayette county personally. He is a most courageous officer. He does not know what fear is, yet, within his jurisdiction the Cooleys are allowed unchecked freedom. Other citizens of the community in which the outlaws roam are in constant terror, and have no guarantee of safety for their lives or their property. The Cooleys should be arrested and punished, even if the National Guard should be called out for that ,-urpose.

"We have no authority to send officers into Fayette county, but we have authority to send detectives there, and we have pledged the nervous citizens of Fayette any assistance we can give them, and I hope to hear of the taking of the entire gang before long. Unless they leave the county altogether there is reason to believe that they will spend the severe part of this winter in

Maggie Barkley's Sad Ending.

Last Monday Maggie Barkley, aged 18, died at the Poor Farm of consumption. Until ten days ago she had lived with an aunt, on Fifth avenue, but as the woman was very poor, the girl was sent to the farm. Undertaker Flannery, who had charge of the funeral, now tells a queer story. He says she is the daughter of a story. He says she is the usaging with Brooklyn expitalist, who is at least worth $400,000. The man has been married twice, and about a year ago the girl and her stepmother quarreled. As a consequence, Maggie left home and came to Pittsburg. When she died a telegram was sent to her father, and he wired back to bury her at an expense not exceeding $50.

A Sad Case for the Humans Society.

Humane Agent Sweeney has a peculiar case on hand. Johnnie Hassey, aged 4 years, whose parents were sent to the workhouse yesterday, was taken seriously ill at the office of the society. An examination by physicians revealed that the child was suffering from some malady similar to lep-rosy. One physician pronounced it that dread disease. An attempt was made to place the child in several institutions, but admission was refused. The mother was then released from the workhouse in order to nurse him.

about it to make it interesting Are Not Pulling Together.

Chief Murphy's line of action has not een discovered. From the fact that he declared his willingness to appear before the Auditing Committee just after Mayor Wyman's attorney denied its jurisdiction the conclusion has been reached by many that the accused officials have cut loose from each other, and will make their own fights. The delay of Chief Murphy's hear-ing will separate his case from the Mayor's, and it is thought that this will benefit Murphy.

A movement was on foot yesterday, how-ever, to introduce a resolution in Councils to-night providing that the City Solicitor be instructed to proceed against Chief Murphy also. If it is thought enough votes can be secured to get the resolution through, there is no doubt about its being brought up. Select Council would hardly nass it at present.

POLICE MATTERS IN BRIEF SHAPE.

ALDERMAN GRIPP yesterday afternoon held a hearing in the assault and battery case of William Kinyon, Jr. against Timothy O'Leary, Edward Glenen and Charles Mc-Keown, striking job printers. The allega-tion is that these three defendants met Kenyon on Ninth street recently and assaulted him. O'Leary and McKeown were held for trial at court and Alderman Gripp reserved his decision as to Glenen.

MRS. CATHERINE SOMMERS WAS sent to jail yesterday to wait for a hearing before Alderman McMasters next Monday on a May. Recently Lenhart May, husband of the prosecutrix in this case, was held for trial at court by Alderman McMasters on a similar charge by M. Sommers, husband of the defendant.

GEORGE WILSON, of Parnassus, was arrested last night at the request of John Boyle, of South Seventh street, who accused him of stealing a diamond pin. Wilson was taken to the Twenty-Eighth ward station. He had plenty of money, but no trace of the pin could be found. LARBY MEERS, of Second avenue, was yes-

He says that in former years the protection service was greatly embarrassed by the apparent sympathy on the part of many of the fishermen along the coast with the poach ing vessels of the United States, and no in ormation could be obtained from them with formation could be obtained from them with respect to infraction of the laws. Within the last two or three years, how-ever, public sentiment in this respect has entirely changed. The Canadian fishermen, he says, better appreciate the importance of the in-shore fisheries and the necessity of carefully gradient the three like the second of carefully guarding the three-mile limit, and now freely give information as to viola tions of the law. Upon such information to 12. this season the department has upon one or two occasions successfully taken action.

fident. An ordinary political contest, in which contending candidates are in charge of the struggle, could not be more interest-ing, and rarely, if ever, excites more atten-tion from the parties concerned. There is great fear that the controversy has progressed to such a distance, and has excited so much feeling, that the result of the bat-tle, no matter which way it terminates, will cripple the organization and that a split

It Is a Serious Matter.

A member of the congregation, who refused the use of his name, said yesterday: "It is bad, very bad, for the church. The prosed changes in the customs of our congre-gation are serious and are of greater importance than one would suppose. The or-thodox church, if it wants to remain orthodox, must submit to customs of the Phari-sees, and if we begin to change our customs

A Natchez Lawyer Sent Up the Road.

JACKSON, MISS., Nov. 18 .- [Special.]-J. F. Chesney, a prominent attorney at Natchez, was to-day sentenced to six years in the Detroit House of Correction by Federal Judge Niles, for pension frauds. He was convicted in three cases, where the money coming to negro women amounted to $5,251 and Chesney only turned over to them $2,380, retaining the lion's share. The scene in the court room when sentence was scene in the court room when sentence was pronounced, beggars description. The prisoner cried like a baby, wrung his hands and implored the Judge to be lenient. The cases were worked up by Special Agent J. M. Kennedy, who has secured 14 similar convictions during the past year.

A Doctor, Held for Murder, Snicides

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 .- Dr. A. J. Schroeder who was recently held to the grand jury by a coroner's jury for causing the death of Mary Murphy, a servant girl employed at French's Hotel, in Evanston, by malpractice, was found dead in bed at the home of his brother this morning. Dr. Schroeder was held on the charge of murder. When the Murphy girl was dying, Schroeder more than once said he would kill himself if the girl died.
