THREE SUITS ENTERED IN COURT

Against Wholesale Dealers for Selling Less Than 12 Pints.

RETAIL LIQUOR MEN ON A STILL HUNT

The Northside Protective Association composed of about 90 retail liquor dealers, with Detective E. P. Hesser as their agent, has appeared on the warpath once again and yesterday filed petitions in court for the revocation of the licenses of three wholesale liquor dealers of Allegheny. They are August Schlegel, 35 California avenue, Charles Breitweiser, 645 Preble avenue, and William Falck. 2 Hanover street. The ground is taken that they have violated the law of June 9, 1891, in selling in less quantities than 12 pint bottles of brewed or malt liquors. The defendants are notified to appear in court on November 28 to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked. It is promised that these suits are the opening of a crusade against wholesalers that do practically a retail business with a wholesale license. Under the Brooks law wholesale dealers were allowed to sell malt liquors in quantities of a quart or more. The set of the last Legislature limits the quantity to not less than six

Didn't Know the Act Was Loaded,

It has been the general opinion that the latter law will not go into effect until after licenses are granted in 1892, and no attempt has hitherto been made to enforce it. In Philadelphia, however, several licenses have been revoked on account of the law being violated.

The fact that the suits have been brought by an association of liquor dealers makes them still more interesting. When spoken to with regard to the new move yesterday, Detective Heaser said: "The suits have been brought for business reasons only. They are test cases, and if decided in our favor many others will be instituted. These wholesalers in lower Allegheny have been taking the trade away from retailers in the Northside Protective Association and we propose to compel them to obey the law. They sell what re called 'Buffaloes,' containing about one-alf of a gallon of beer. Their customers are young men and boys of any age and when they get drunk and raise a disturbance the retailers are blamed. The remedy is to compel wholesale dealers to obey the aw, which will in reality crowd the ones a the outer districts out of the business.

Will Attack the Rectifiers Next,

"Another move that will be made by the ciation will be to prosecute wholesale dealers who have compound and rectifying Government license, and under State license sell less than a gallon. There is a law gainst this, but, nevertheless, nearly every wholesaler who does a big business prac-ices it. If they are prosecuted, such men as Max Klein and other well-known dealers We will enforce the law, regardless of who it strikes.
"The association has not been making uch noise lately, but it has been doing ectual work. There are only a few speak cusies in Allegheny, and what there are be-long to outlying districts, where they have a effect on the business of the members of the association. Chief Murphy has done good work in suppressing illegal liquor selling since the city entered the second class, and should get more credit than is ven him.

"Since I have been in the employ of the "Since I have been in the employ of the Association, I have noticed that speak-easies and cheap wholesale houses sell nothing but Pittsburg beer. Licensed dealers that an ordinance almost similar to the eal to a great extent with illegal sellers to whom they must give cheap juices. the Pittsburg breweries refuse to deal with speak-easies, they will get patronage from the regular dealers, but not until then."

CONDEMNING PROPERTY.

Colonel Andrews Thinks a Legal Commit sion Should Supervise Bills,

Colonel Andrews is home from the meetng of the North River Bridge Company. By authority of their charter from the Goverament they are taking steps to condemn property on the Jersey City side under the ew Jersey laws. He remarked that it was setter to be sure of every move in such hig undertaking than to spend millions Distabute did on its streets and then lar proceedings will be taken on the k side under the State laws. With grim humor the Colonel referred to se method of making laws in Pennsylrania. He said it was silly and consensical. Acts are put on the catute book, and the public up to them only to discover after while that they have been disobeying the Constitution. The Colonel believes in aving a court composed of the best legal mying the sessions of the Legislature, and apervise the bills presented. Those un-constitutional should be dropped at more, and where the meaning is not clear, or the proposed measure stull of contradictions, the proper correc-ions could be made. He claims such a lan would save the people many thousands dellars. In England they have no written constitution. The laws passed by Par-liament, which is probably the only absolute power in the world, form the basis of Government. The bundle of their accumu-ated acts is the English constitution.

The Colonel continued that some time ngo he attended a dinner party in England. He remarked to his neighbor at the table that something they were talking about would be enacted into a law by the next Pennsylvania Legislature, and then he added that it would be enforced. The Enelishman was dumfounded, and wanted to now if there were American laws that are not enforced. To him such a statement was idiculous and unreasonable.

Yesterday they were in Cumberland and went over the mountain district. They spent last night n Connellsville and are expected in Pittsburg this morning. The party will go over the Pittshurg & Western and the Akron branch, which the President has not seen since its completion. It will be determined on this trip about what will be done to put the Pittsburg & Western in shape to form part of the main line to Chicago. The sheials fully expect to have their fast passenger trains running through Pittsburg to the Windy City by spring. There are a number of details to work out, but the main improvements have already be Hend in this paper. IN FAVOR OF PITTSBURG.

The Committee Appointed to Investigate Whether This City Could Handle the Convention Advance Some Good Ideas-The Business Men Offer to Give $100,000 The special committee appointed to look into the facts and see if Pittsburg could properly handle a national convention met esterday afternoon in Common Council chamber Chairman Robbins explained the object of the meeting and stated that action would have to be taken at once. A letter was read from Architect Alden, who said he had made an examination of the Exposition buildings as to their seating capacity with the following result: Machinery hall will seat 7,680, and the main Exposition building will seat 11,136, and the gallery in the main hall will seat 4,352. T. J. Keenan, Jr., stated this was as much, if not more, than the scating capacity of the St. Louis Exposition.

Robert Pitcairn said that so far as the railroads were concerned they could accom-modate any crowd. Pittsburg has the hall, but its hotel accommodations were not ade-quate. To the speaker's mind there was not enough enthusiasm displayed in this city to make the project a success. T. J. Keenau, Jr., stated he had been in the East recently and the people there thought that outside of New York and Chicago Pittsburg was the most suitable place for the convenbuilt to meet the present demands and not or special occasions. Captain W. P. Herbert said he was in favor of Pittsburg all the time, and he had no doubt of the capacity of Pittsburg and its hotels to accom-modate the visitors. The trouble is a lack of enthusiasm. It was true that pubic spirited newspapers had subscribed $4,000, but where was the subscriptions of the manufacturers who were benefited by the tariff, also from the hotels and business men. The question was, could Pittsburg b depended on to come up with the money Mr. Keenan said that assurances had been received from business men and manufac-turers that if the convention could be secured for this city $100,000 would be raised Mayor Gourley deplored the lack of en-thusiasm and said that the general committee meeting to be held to-day would test the matter as to whether the business men wanted the convention or not. WOLSELEY'S review of Von Moltke's account of some blunders of the Franco-Prussian War will interest especially the German and French readers of THE DIS-

New Ordinances Acted on Yesterday by Public Works Committee. The Committee on Public Works met yesterday afternoon. Ordinances for sewers on Perry street, Homewood avenue, Lipton street, Basin alley, Coral and Fairmount streets, Exchange alley and Carey street were affirmatively returned to Councils, as was also an ordinance for the grading and paving and curbing of Woolslayer alley, Thirty-sixth street, Harcum's alley and Iowa street; also for the opening of Glosser street, Winslow street, Bellefield street, Berthout street and Blair street. An ordinance granting Park Bros. & Co. the right to lay a switch track on Spruce alley Twelfth ward, was referred to a special sub-committee of three, as was also an ordinance granting the Phillips Mining and Supply Company the privilege of constructing a switch track on Mary street, Twenty-fitth ward.

An ordinance granting S. E. Warren the right to construct an elevated switch track over part of Thirty-third street and Spring lley was considered.

Mr. Warmcastle presented a protest ing but Pittsburg beer. Licensed dealers that an ordinance almost similar to the taken up during the present one had been killed in Councils, and it was a question of parliamentary cils, and it was a question of parliamentary
