The Last Annual Report of Secretary of War Redfield Proctor.

WORK ACCOMPLISHED IN A YEAR.

What Has Been Done in the Way of Gun Forgings in That Time.

ENLISTMENT OF INDIANS A SUCCESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.-In his annual report, Secretary of War Proctor says: In the line of coast defense, sites for fortifications have been procured, and engineer-ing work has been begun on batteries for mortars, and emplacements for guns, at New York, Boston, San Francisco, Hampton Roads and Washington. The north wing and center section of the gun factory at Waterviiet has been completed and is nearly equipped. A south wing, doubling the capacity, is now being constructed. Provision has already been made for the manufacture by the Government of is breech-loading steel rifled gans of high power, and 100 more have been contracted for with private manufacturers. A supply of submarine mines and 53 12-inch mortars are also under contraction new methods of recruiting have been don. November 11 for this port. The Lahn, adopted. It is carried on more in small with 218 cabin and 489 steerage passengers towns and business communities, and the recruits are held on probation and their autecedents carefully inquired into. The ration has been increased by the addition of one pound or vegetables daily. Soldiers are now entitled to a discharge at the end of three years of faithful service, and are permitted to purchase their discharge at any time after one year. Summary courts have been established for the speedy trial of petry offenses.

The rational against turbulent seas and everybed, struggled against turbulent seas and everybeing the probation and their autecedents for seven days. No passenger got a glimpse of daylight except through glass until the day before the Lahn got here with her funnels brine-enerusted. Everybedy was kept between deeks, and everybeen established for the speedy trial of petry offenses.

An Inducement for Manufacturers. manufacturers in this country to co-operate with the Government in fabricating guns as well as in supplying the steel forgings. Advantageous bids were received and a contract made with the Bethlehem Company for supplying 25 8-inch, 50 10-inch and 25 12-inch guns.

This contract, and the output of the gun factory from forgings already under contract, provides for the manufacture of 188 breech-loading steel rifle guns of high power, 62 of 8 inch caliber, 85 of 10-inch, and 50 of 12 inch. Four have been finished, two sinch one 10 inch and one 19 inch. 24 more 10-inch and one 12-inch; 24 more hed in 1892, 34 in 1893, 40 in 1894, will be finished in 1892, 24 in 1895, 40 in 1894, when the machinery of the gun factory will be nearly complete. Thereafter there can be manufactured about 45 per year, and the deliveries from the Bethlehem 100-gun contract will be eight to 14 yearly, according to the proportion of small or large caliber. Beside the 198, for which provision has already been made, if forgings are sumplied to the gun factory, 350 more guns can be turned out within the next ten years, and mostly of 10 and 12 inch call-ber. I believe these figures to be conservative, and that the actual results will be greater, for with experience in the manufacture the work should progress more rapidly.

Two batteries, each for 16 12-inch mortars, and emplacements for two 12-inch, two 16inch and four 8-inch guns are now in pro-York; also one battery for 16 12-inch mortars and emplacements for one 10-inch gun, with and emplacements for one le-inch gun, with two more in preparation, at Boston; and emplacements for two le-inch guns, with one le-inch and three P-inch in preparation at San Francisco; for two le-inch guns at Hampton Roads, and for two le-inch guns at Washington. Progress has also been made in providing a suitable supply of submarine mines. A considerable number are on land or under centract for the defense of New York, San Francisco, Boston, Hampton Roads, Philadelphia, Washington and Charleston, and some of the mining casemates for operating of the mining casemates for operating sem are considered or under contract at usee ports and at Portland, Me. Contracts are also been made for the early delivery [75] 12 inch cast from rifled mortars, hooped with steel, of a pattern known to be service-nide, though probably not equal to an all-steel construction now under test. The department has been obliged, on acof the financial embarrassi contractors, to extend the time until Jan-uary, April and July, 1892, for the delivery of the ten guns contracted for with the Preematic Dynamite Gun Company for Sandy Hook, Fort Schuyler, Fort Warren and Desertions Rapidly Growing Fewer. Considerable space is given to the subfeet of desertions, concerning which the Secretary says: Desertions from the army for the year anding September 50, have been less than in any other year in the history of the army. Previous to 1820 there are no reliable records, but from that time till the beginning of the War of the Rebellion the average annual rate of desertion was 14.8 per cent of the enlisted strength, and since the war it has been nearly the same. From January 1, 186, to June 30, 1861, 242, years, the number of desertions from the army was $8.475. It has cost the Government a very large sum for pay, elothing, subsistence, and transportation of recruits to replace these men.

For the year ending June 30, 1830, the rate was 11.6 per cent; for the year ending June was 11.6 per cent; for the year ending June Desertions from the army for the year Washington, Pa., Female Seminary, and mother of ex-Representative John A. Rithcas, 180, 63 per cent. During the 12 months anding September 20 1821, the rate was only 5x necessed and for a like period ending October 31,57 per cent. The diminution is still going on, and the percentage is being reduced mouth by month. Great as the reduction has been, however, there is no good reason why descrious should not be reduced to 5 or even 2 per cent. Probably they cannot be reduced below 2 per cent. This much will have to be charged to the perversity of human nature and the ineradicable restlessness of the American people.

Indian Enlistment a Success.

Indian Enlistment a Success.

Concerning the enlistment of Indians as regular soldiers, Secretary Proctor says: It was not deemed advisable to urge In-It was not deemed advisable to urge Indians into the service hastily, and special efforts have been made to inform them of the responsibilities they would incur and the duties that would be required of them as soldiers. The results have been very satisfactory. Seven companies, three of cavalry and four of infantry, have been recruited to their full complement and seven others partially, and the reports indicate that the organization of these will be completed at an early day. I have had an opportunity to personally inspect some of these Indian cavalry troops, and have received full reports showing the condition of others. In food conduct, drill and military bearing, attention to duty, observance of courtesies, and care of horses, arms and equipment, clothing, barracks, mess rooms and kitchens, they are at least equal to soldiers of other taxes of negreater experience. races of nogreater experience.

The regular estimates for the medical departments will be about $150,000 less than ast year, "due to economy in its administration and to reduction in the number of contract surgeons." On the subject of post traders the Secretary says:

on the 4th of March, 1889, there were 85 tool traders. There are now but 22 and even of these have been notified that their incinces will be revoked within a short time it a date so fixed as to give them an opportunity to sell or reduce their stocks. Four of the remaining is are at posts where of the remaining 15 are at posts whose chandonment has been ordered or soon will by so that at the end of the fiscal year there will be only II remaining. The parties who held these privileges had large personal and positical influence, and it has not been an (Asy or a pleasant task to make this change.

Not Good for the Militia Service. Speaking of the militia service the Secre-tary has this to say: The present method of allotment of the amount appropriation of $400,000 for arming and companing the militim, which is pre-scribed by the not of February 12, 1887 (24 Stats., 401), and which gives to each State an States, 40°), and which gives to each State an amount preportionate to its Congressional representation, is not auch as to produce the last results. The aid given different States is very disproportionate. The amount of Government aid received by some States is not more than half that received by others that maintain double the number of men in their National Guard.

There is no inducement for the maintenance of a greater number of militia than is actually required by the law, but rather the reverse, if economy be consulted. The allotment as now made is not based upon what the States do in return for the appropriahe States do in return for the appropria-ion, but what they ought to do. It would be better to help those who help themselves. If the appropriation, or even one-half of it, was distributed upon the basis of the effective force of the National Guard maintained by the several States, it would better accomplish its purpose of encouraging that or evaluation.

More Money Needed Next Year. The appropriations for the maintenance of this department for the year ending June 30, 1862, are $33,183,425 05. The Secretary estimates the cost for the next year at $45,975,603 37. In conclusion, Mr. Proctor says:

The character and attainments of the older officers of the army, who made their records officers of the army, who made their records ties. 975,603 37. In conclusion, Mr. Proctor says:

The character and attainments of the older officers of the army, who made their records during the great war, is too well understood to require any mention; but I wish to pay a well-deserved tribute to the younger officers, who have not had the great war opportunities of their seniors. Nothing in my connection with the army has gratified me so much as the general high character and professional attainments of the younger officers of the army, who have made the most of their opportunities under the conditions of comparative peace. It is upon them that we must depend in the future, and they can be implicitly relied upon to be equal to the requirements of any emergency.

implicitly relied upon to be equal to the re-quirements of any emergency.

As I am about to retire from this depart-ment, I desire to acknowledge the earnest and loyal co-operation which I have at all times received in its administration from all of its officers and officials, and the en-couragement and support which I have had from you.

DANGERS ENCOUNTERED DURING VOTAGES IN WINTER,

Thrilling Tales Told by Passengers of Two German Steamships Just Landed-Deaths and Disasters at Sea-Cyclonic

NEW YORK, Nov. 20, -[Special.]-The great gale that spread havoc on the English coast, ten days ago, was at its worst when the North German Lloyd steamships Lahn For the improvement of the enlisted force and Werra steamed away from Southampaboard, struggled against turbulent seas and

The rolling and pitching of the ship caused many minor casualties. A steerage Certain provisions in the last two fortifi-cation acts were designed to induce private the second cabin were badly bruised. The crests of seas broke over the vessel inces santly while the storm was at its height, and a steerage passenger, 60 years old, died, pre-sumably of kidney disease, aggravated by sea sickness. She was buried at sea. The steamship company will return the money paid for the mother's ticket to her boys who were with her.

The experience of the Werra was about the same as that of the Lahn. She left Bremen a day earlier, November 9, but waited at the Needles, out of Southampton, for the storm to abute. As it showed no signs of doing so, she followed the Lahn to see, covering nearly the same course. The ships were within sight of each other several days. The Lahn covered 3,053 miles and the Werra 3,051 miles.

The Werra carried 120 cabin and 1,020 steerage passengers. Four women in the steerage passengers. Four women in the steerage died from maindies developed by the stormy voyage. Francesca Micheska succumbed to pneumonia November 12, Josepha Hufka died of Bright's disease November 16, Kunegunde Imbele, aged 61, died of heart disease and Dorothea Mul-lules died of apoplexy Thursday.

DEATHS HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Ex-Consul Isaac R, Diller. Isaac R. Diller, ex-Consul of the United States at Fiorence, died in Philadelphia Thursday from a complication of diseases at the age of 72. For many years he had been a resident of Chicago, where his widow and daughter are now living. At one time and daughter are now living. At one time he was a clerk in the Illinois Legislature. In 1858 President Buchanan appointed him Consul at Florence, and he held the office for several years. President Cieveland reappointed him in 1885, and he remained in office until relieved a few weeks ago. His intention on arriving in this country was to go immediately to his Chicago home, but he feared the rigo: of the coming winter. While in Florence he was a vestryman of the English church there.

State Senator Gilbert A. Deane. Senator Gilbert A. Deane, of New York died at his residence at Cohake, in the 41st year of his age. This leaves the Senate, as the returns now stand, with 16 Republicans, 14 Democrats and 1 Independent. Mr. Deane was elected Senator in Columbia county, was elected Senator in Columbia county, and the Republicans charge that the Democrats, at the instigation of Governor Hill, have been making desperate efforts to count him out. A number of ballots for Deane were thrown out by the Democratic election officers, and seven were burned. The death of Mr. Deane was very sudden, the cause being neuralgia of the heart.

Mrs. Joseph Kitheart.

Mrs. Joseph Kitheart died at her home one mile from Mt. Pleasant, near Steuben-ville, yesterday, in her 70th year, after a week's illness from pneumonia. She was a week's illness from pheumonia. She was a daughter of the late Robert A. Sherrard and sister of Hon. Robert Sherrard, Jr., of that city: Rev. Thomas Sherrard, of Chambers-burg, and Miss Nancy Sherrard, of the Washington, Pa., Female Seminary, and mother of ex-Representative John A. Rith-cart, of Steubenville.

Pittsburg.

John Werner, a well-known citizen of West Elizabeth, died yesterday morning. He was apparently in the best of health, when he dropped from his chair dead. It is supposed heart trouble was the cause of his death. He had been engaged in business for a number of years, and built up an en-viable reputation for honor. He also had business interests in Duquesne and Home-

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It is manufactured as a powier, which can be given in a glass of beer, a cup of coffee or tea, or in food, without the knowledge of the patient. It is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreek. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the specific, it becomes an after impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. 6-page book of particulars free. To be had of A. J. RANKIN.
