the first essay. There is danger where, he said, of forgetting that the wis-dom that first selects forms and carries Harley Morse, of Colorado, spoke for 20 them to the highest usefulness may be just as divine in a later change of them for the newer freedom, to which the life of the spirit is ever calling.

The early Church took the world as it had been divinely prepared for its use, entered the cities and worked along the great highways of the Roman Empire. Christianity never did more lasting work than when it went into the country and fastened its truths on the Germanic tribes. The recovery of the waste places of a Christian civilization at the close of the nineteenth century presents a far different problem than that of a spent heathenism in the beginning of the Christian era.

The Hold-Back Policy a Poor One.

Rev. Dr. Lindsay did not agree with the first speaker that where the field is a small one and already occupied by struggling churches it is not wise for the Episcopal Church to crowd in. Many times this is just the Church that will succeed when others fail. The speaker bewailed the fact that the Church does not possess a stronger hold upon the rural communities, and said that the only way the remedy could be brought out was through the better support by the diacese of diacesan missions. What is needed is men and money. The first invited speaker of the morning was Rev. J. T. Zorn, of Morristown, N. Y. The Church, he thought, had never paid so much attention to the matter of diocesan missions as it should. It ought to claim everything, and yet it seemed half afraid to claim anything. It is in the position of a good deal on trust. The Local Govern-great house that will not advertise for fear ment Board have been holding an of hurting the feelings of another house across the way. The Church should not claim to be one of a dozen methods, all of which are good. It is the one and only true way.

The second and last invited speaker was Rev. George C. Foley, of Williamsport. He said one of the most important needs of jection was made by the owner of some missions is an improvement of methods. The Pauper Spirit of Missions.

There is no way in which there can be such a sentimental waste of money as in the matter of diocesan missions. A serious fault to be found with things as they are is the continuance of stipends for years in places where there is no possibility of spiritual or churchly growth. This pauper wirit is either the natural and logical reilt of mission work, or else there is some radical defect in the system. Mission work has been defined as the sending of the gos-pel at the expense of the sender. As it ould be it is the spread of the gospel at the expense of the recipient.

the expense of the recipient. The first volunteer speaker of the morn-ing was Rev. James Mulcahey, D. D., of New York. The Church, he said, laid special value upon its episcopate. Catholicity and Protestantism are only two sides of the same truth. It is not true that the folowers of one come directly and of the other towers of one come directly and of the other indirectly to God. The highest ritualist and extreme Protestant come direct to God. Rev. Mr. H. P. Nicholls, of New Haven, for the sake of cities, urged his hearers never to give up the country parishes, for revelry in Valparaiso had partially subsided, the two corpses were picked up, minutes in favor of free coinage. Judge Goodwin, of Utah, said he did no placed on a rude four-wheeled carryall and dragged through the streets of Valparaiso, believe the Lower House of Congress would pass a free coinage bill this winter unless being spit upon and stoned by the infuri-ated mob. It was a terrible sight to see two ated mob. It was a terrible sight to see two-bodies stiff in death, the arm of one of them stretched out almost upright, being treated in such a hideously uncivilized manner." Another officer, in speaking of the attack on Vina del Mar by the Congressionalist forces, stated that the torpedo gunboat Al-mirante Lynch was lying close by Valpa-raiso directly ahead of the San Francisco. The Lynch steamed ahead as close to the contending forces as possible and opened fire on the Congressionalists with her Hotchkiss rapid-fire machine guns. She had not been firing very long when she low-ered her flag to half-mast and steamed in around the San Francisco and the Balti-more, back to heroriginal anchorage. It was afterward learned that the Hotchkiss gun had exploded, killing a Lieutenant and severely wounding half a dozen other men. That was the reason she retired from the with a hope that the President would veto it. He then moved that the rules be suspended and the resolution for free coinage of silver be passed by acclamation. Scna-tor Stewart, before the question was put, said: "The time for action has come. I am anxions that the voice of Colorado be now The roll of States was called with following results: For the free and unlimited coinage of silver, 481 votes; against, 8 votes. When the State of Connecticut was reached great enthusiasm was manifested by a delegation from that State arising and saying they came there to learn. When he an-nounced the entire vote in favor of the resolution, the most intense enthusiasm was manifested. The delegates arose and for fully three minutes pandemonium reigned. When vote of Canada and Russia was announced in favor of the resolution, there was another scence of confusion. When the total vote was declared there was a scene of ndescribable excitement. Salt Lake City, Deadwood and Cleveland were candidates for the place of holding the meeting. The matter was decided by the selection of Helena, Mont. The Congress then adjourned sine die.

A Full-Blooded Eskimo Speaks.

Rev. S. Gibbons, of Nova Scotia, a fullblooded Eskimo, spoke briefly on the sub-ject of missions. In proof of this latter opinion, he recounted a number of interesting in-cidents of his missionary work among the Eskimos

DR. YOUNG ON THE ECLIPSE.

What the Princeton Professor Says of the Darkened Moon.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 20,-In an interview with Dr. Charles A. Young, the wellknown Princeton astronomer, as to the results obtained from the recent eclipse of the moon, he stated that no news had as yet been received from the European ob-servatories and no communications had passed between Princeton and Harvard and Amherst, the last two being the only two prominent observatories in this coun-try which obtained a good view of the moon during the eclipse. He stated that a few days before the eclipse he had received complete charts from the European observatories giving the num-ber and exact time of all the stellar occultations during the eclipse. These small stars, as a rule, are invisible when the moon is shining as usual, but become visible when the moon is obscured by the earth's shadow.

There would have been 34 of this sort which would have been visible at Princeton during the obscuration of the moon if the wenther had been favorable. Sixteen of them were immersions, or disappearances of the stars behind the moon, and 18 emersions, or reappearances of the stars. Observations
