

GAINING CONFIDENCE. Evidence that the Result of the Elections is of Benefit TO THE BUSINESS OF NEW YORK.

Matthew Marshall Takes in the Horse Show and a Good Supper.

WHAT HE OBSERVED DOING BOTH

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Matthew Marshall writes as follows, for the Sun, to-morrow, under the heading, "New York's Financial Supremacy."

The bank statement on Saturday showed that the usual autumn return flow of money to this center has now fairly begun. The increase of deposits for the week was nearly $3,000,000, of which about $2,000,000 was specie and over $1,250,000 legal tender. The gain in specie was not due to receipts of gold from Europe, the arrivals of the metal from that quarter having been quite insignificant, though it may have come from the hoards of timid consignees who have been reassured by the results of the elections and by the public declaration of the Secretary of the Treasury that the present gold payments, even if it has to sell bonds for the purpose. Making all allowances, however, we may expect from henceforth, for some time, a steady addition to the resources of our banks.

The receipts of the railroads also exhibit the usual autumn increase, which this year will be very great, in consequence of the large movement of freight products to the Atlantic coast for shipment to Europe. The New York Central is doing an enormous business, and I hear accounts of its earnings which, if they are not exaggerated, are marvellous. For the calendar year, net earnings of 8 per cent on its capital stock are confidently predicted, and for the ten months of October and November an estimate of 5 per cent net is made. The increase of the last semi-annual dividend of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, the very encouraging reports on the Erie and of the Baltimore & Ohio Companies, through they pay no cash dividends as yet on their common stocks, and the bettered condition of the Burlington and Quincy and other western roads, show that they, as well as the New York Central, are participating in the benefits of the crop transportation.

The Railroads a Good Index. The improvement in the railroad business of the country must very soon be followed by a similar improvement in general trade. Even if the farmers and planters persist in the policy attributed to them, of paying off their mortgages with the proceeds of their crops rather than to buy goods, it merely transfers the task of retaining the surplus wealth produced by the agriculturalists to their former creditors. If these cannot lend upon such terms as to make the money they receive, they must devise other means of employing it, and must set on foot new enterprises which will give occupation to artisans and manufacturers. Whether they will build more railroads, or erect mills and houses, open more mines, and lay out more towns, or whether they will embark in some other kind of enterprise, we know not, but it is not in human nature for them to let their capital lie idle.

The interest of New York in this returning prosperity of the country is much deeper and more widespread than is indicated by the statistics of its stock exchange, or even by the business of its merchants and manufacturers. The city is the seat of its own inhabitants, but upon those of the inhabitants of every city, and of the whole of the Union. The surplus production of the interior flows as naturally to this point as the surplus of every city, and the surplus of the interior flows as naturally to this point as the surplus of every city, and the surplus of the interior flows as naturally to this point as the surplus of every city.

He will tell you also that it is economy to take the oil broken up, as it is in Scott's Emulsion, rather than burden yourself with this work. You skip the taste too. Let us send you an interesting book on CAREFUL LIVING; free.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. Two Things IN REGARD TO CATARRH. 1st, It is a Constitutional Disease and 2d, It Requires a Constitutional Remedy. These two facts are now so well known to the medical fraternity that local applications, like snuffs and inhalants, are regarded as at best likely to give only temporary relief. To effect a permanent cure of catarrh requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by purifying the blood, repairing the diseased tissues, and imparting healthy tone to the affected organs, does give thorough and lasting cure.
