Councils May Have to Pay Big for a Free Bridge Site—Private Corporation Have Secured Nearly All the Franchises—Robertson Has One.

If Councils do not keep their eyes open they will have to pay a large price for a site upon which to build the proposed free bridge to the Southside...

Talking over the matter yesterday the chief said the committee had limited him to the space between the Smithfield street and Tenth street bridges...

But the city clerk's office there is an ordinance, presented last June by A. C. Robertson for the Short Way Bridge Company...

The Southside Bridge Company, also incorporated under State law, had a charter and right of way granted by Councils for a bridge from property owned by the First Avenue Traction Company...

The South Twenty-second Street Bridge Company has a right of way granted by Councils for a bridge from property owned by the First Avenue Traction Company...
