

SCOOPED BY A FATHER.

Councilman Matt Cavanaugh's Mad Chase for His Daughter.

HE OVERTAKES HER AT McDONALD.

Harry Roscher Failed to Meet His Pretty Sweetheart in Time.

TWO OF HIS FRIENDS ARE ARRESTED

Society at the Point was startled by news of an elopement yesterday morning, but the father of the would-be bride started out on a still hunt early in the day and, before the shades of evening fell, not only frustrated the lover's plans, but returned the young lady to the parental domicile.

The first intimation of the affair was gained when about noon yesterday Detective Shore arrested Edward Burns, who was engaged as a waiter at the Palace restaurant, No. 36 Diamond square. After Burns had been locked up, Shore returned and waited until John Hess, one of the proprietors of the restaurant, came in. Shore demanded of Hess where his partner, Harry Roscher, could be found. Hess replied that he had not seen him since the previous night.

"Well, I know you haven't," said the detective, "but I want to know where he is now."

Hess again pleaded ignorance, but was taken to Central station just the same. Soon after Hess put up a forfeit of $50 for his appearance and was released. Then the story came out.

He Loved His Employer's Daughter.

Harry Roscher, before he went into the restaurant business, was employed as a bartender at the saloon of Councilman Matt Cavanaugh, down at the Point, and with Cavanaugh's attractive 17-year-old daughter Gertrude. The girl returned his affection and they began to talk of marriage. Cavanaugh, who had heard of it, however, and although he allowed the couple to associate, his daughter was given to understand that she must give up any notion of marriage. The fact that Miss Cavanaugh was a Catholic and her suitor was of another belief is said to have caused more or less of the hostility against him.

On Sunday night the young girl, beset by her lover, demanded the parents' consent to her marriage. It was obdurately refused and the girl left the house in a rage. Supposing she had gone to spend the night with an aunt, her parents thought nothing of her leaving until yesterday morning, when they learned that Roscher had also disappeared suddenly at about the same hour the previous night. Then it was the police officials were consulted, and Roscher's partner and the waiter were arrested. Subsequently it was learned that Miss Cavanaugh had been traced to McDonald station, and her father and brothers, on going there yesterday afternoon found her at an uncle's anxiously waiting for Edward Burns, but she had misunderstood the arrangements and failed to meet her. She was brought home at once.

Failed Through a Misunderstanding.

Roscher was on his way to McDonald when he heard of Miss Cavanaugh's capture and he returned to the city also. It is likely they will get another opportunity to elope. Edward Burns was released from custody as soon as Councilman Cavanaugh returned to the city. He was indignant over his arrest. "They arrested me for conspiracy," he said, "but I know no more about the matter than if I had never seen Roscher. I knew two months ago that he and Miss Cavanaugh intended to elope to Cumberland and get married if their parents refused consent; but I had nothing to do with it, and was surprised when I heard of it yesterday. I don't know why they separated last night, but I know Miss Cavanaugh went to McDonald for the night and Roscher went to meet her there to-day."

John Hess was also indignant, not only at his arrest, but the way his partner had acted. He said he had not heard of the elopement until he was called upon by Detective Shore.

Cool Famine in Minneapolis.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 23.—There is a great soft coal famine in Minneapolis. Dealers have been flying around at a lively rate all the week trying to meet connections. The flouring mills have been living from hand to mouth for several days past, and there is no prospect of any improvement in their condition for ten days or more. The scarcity is caused by a wheat blockade on the line between there and Duluth. Hundreds of cars of coal are side-tracked at Duluth and Superior, the switch engines having more than they can do to keep the wheat cars moving. All energy is being used to keep the wheat trains from blocking. One Minneapolis firm is 1,500 cars behind on its order. Chicago is taking all the Illinois coal, and this, with the fact of the strike among the miners in Indiana, cut the local dealers off from all supply except Duluth. Small consumers are unable to get their orders filled.

A Big Railroad Suit.

FLORENCE, Ala., Nov. 23.—A suit has been filed in the Circuit Court involving the sum of $164,332.84. A. G. Negley, assignee of the North Alabama Construction Company, has sued the Florence Northern Railroad for the amount mentioned on the grounds of non-performance of contract. The survey and construction completed to Linden, Tenn., a distance of 70 miles, the roadbed graded to a point 27 miles north, and the ties and ties furnished and ready for the laying of rails. The terms of the contract were that the Florence Northern Railroad was to pay $50,000 per mile for the roadbed completed. No part of the consideration has ever been paid, and the assignee of the company is suing for the amount of the contract. The suit has created quite a stir and caused considerable comment.

More Books for the Jail Library.

The County Jail Library has had added to it another lot of good books in the form of a donation from James H. Fortt, a well known city attorney. Among the books are "Society as I Have Found It," "The Fight for Missouri," "The Young Emperor," "Major Pauline Geshman," "The Woe of the Water Witch," "Memoirs of the Queen of France," "Children of the Abbey," "The Mystery of Metropolisville," "Guilty or Not Guilty," "Life of the Emperor Nicholas," "George and Cecilia Calvert" and "The Rose and the Ring."

The Yacht's Crew Still Missing.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—The lake shore opposite the point of Jackson's Park where a yacht was seen to capsize and sink last evening was patrolled all night, but neither bodies nor wreckage came ashore. Different persons who saw the craft before it went down disagree as to the number of persons on board the vessel. Some place the number at 5, others at 4 and others at 2. So far there is no clue to the identity of either the vessel or the men on board of her.

An Embarkment Case Settled.

E. D. Shoemaker was before Alderman McMasters yesterday afternoon on a charge of embarkment preferred by H. L. Warner, of No. 22 Anderson street, Allegheny. Shoemaker was accused of appropriating $25 of money belonging to Warner while in his employ. At the time set for the hearing the case was settled by a mutual agreement between the prosecutor and defendant.

All Is Quiet in the Orient.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—The steamer China arrived this morning, 22 days from China and 14 days from Japan. She brings advices to the effect that all is quiet in the disaffected districts in China. The Government is raising money to pay the indemnity demanded by the powers, and it is now thought there will be no more rioting.

THEY DID NOT MEAN TO KLOPE.

But Miss Teetzel Fled With a Married Parson and He Has Been Arrested. LANSING, MICH., Nov. 23.—Rev. Walter Nelson, a Baptist minister of Bayham, Ont., was arrested at the Commercial Hotel on the charge of abducting Miss Rosabell Teetzel from St. Thomas, where she is at the hotel, and as she is 31 years old the minister cannot be held on the charge. Nelson and Miss Teetzel came to the hotel together. The latter was clad in a morning wrapper and had no luggage. They registered under their proper names and in their conduct toward each other have been scrupulously circumspect.

Mr. Nelson says that he married Miss Olive Weiss in Centerville, Ill., a year ago and lived with her three days, when they agreed to separate. He went to Bayham and lived in love with Miss Teetzel. Last Friday he invited her to take a ride and she, clad in her wrapper, went with him. They were gone longer than they intended to be, and Miss Teetzel feared to return and explain to her friends her prolonged absence in such a costume. He took her to St. Thomas, where she was to return home the next morning, while he was to proceed to Illinois to get a divorce. They did not intend to elope, both say, but Miss Teetzel was unwilling to be left alone, and they finally decided to seek some small Western town where she might teach and he preach until he should get a divorce and be able to marry her. Miss Teetzel is highly connected and has two brothers who are prominent at the Ontario bar.

WHITTIER IN IMPROVED HEALTH.

He Has Not Been Notified of the Testimonial Proposed by New Yorkers. AMESBURY, MASS., Nov. 23.—John G. Whittier is visiting his life-long friend, Joseph Cartland, at Newburyport. When asked about the proposed testimonial to be tendered him by prominent New York gentlemen, Mr. Whittier said that he had not received any notification from them in regard to it, and although disliking the notoriety that such an affair would bring him, he did not feel called upon to interfere in the matter.

The poet will spend his birthday, December 17, either at Newburyport or Amesbury. His general health is much better than for some time past.

IN THE FATAL GRIP OF A BEAR TRAP.

David Allan Dies of Exposure and Starvation in a Canadian Forest. KINGSTON, ONT., Nov. 23.—David Allan, an Englishman, who lived in Waynetown district, started out a month ago to examine his traps, but failed to return. On the supposition that he had lost his way, the forest was searched ten days without result. The mystery surrounding his fate was accidentally solved by two hunters who were hunting for beaver in the forest. They saw Allan's dead body lying face downward, both hands fastened in a bear trap. Allan was evidently in the act of setting the trap when it closed upon his wrists with a vise-like grip and held him until he died of exposure and starvation.

HAMMOND MUST GO TO PRISON.

Washington's Supreme Court Affirms the Verdict of the Jury. TACOMA, WASH., Nov. 23.—The Supreme Court has affirmed the decision of the Superior Court in the case of Charles R. Hammond, a scandalous notoriety, who was convicted of stealing a seal skin cloak, and he will be taken to the penitentiary in about two weeks to serve a two year sentence. Hammond was sentenced December 7, 1900, and since has lain in jail awaiting the decision of the Supreme Court. Hammond maintains that he is innocent.

DEATHS HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Mrs. Isabel Davenport, Actress. A telegram from San Francisco, received by Mr. E. L. Davenport, of the Boston Music Bureau, announces the death in that city Friday of Mrs. Isabel Davenport, wife of Actor Harry Davenport, of New York City. Mrs. Davenport, who was professionally known as Belle Archer, had been in ill-health for several months, her last appearance being, it is said, with Harrigan's company in New York last spring. She was a great favorite with "Frisco" audiences, her earliest success being in the part of Nellie in "The Great Train Robbery" at the Grand Opera House. She had been married to Mr. Davenport for about five years ago. Mr. Davenport first met her in California, when she was playing in J. G. Harrigan's company in "The Bargain." "Rose-dale" and other Eastern successes. This was about two years ago and their marriage occurred a few months later. Coming East with her husband she gained much favor with New York, Boston and other audiences, playing in "Leather Patches," "Old Lavender" and other Harrigan productions. She returned to San Francisco during the summer season. Mrs. Davenport is said to have been a native of San Francisco. Her maiden name was Tucker and she was about 24 years of age.

Sister Therese, Superioress.

Sister Therese, the Superioress of the Sisters of Providence, in charge of the Asylum of St. John de Dieu, of Longue Pointe, Quebec, died Sunday, aged 73 years. Her name was Teta. She entered orders in 1844, and 11 years later she founded a house in Valparaiso, Chile. In 1857 she visited San Francisco. Later she became superioress of an asylum in Burlington, Vt. She founded the Longue Pointe asylum in 1876 and rapidly acquired property valued at $1,000,000. Her health suffered greatly in consequence of the fire at the asylum in the spring of 1890, when 94 nuns lost their lives, and she has been ailing ever since.

Edward Washington, Centenarian.

Edward Washington, colored, is dead at Galesburg, Ill., at the remarkable age of 108 years. He was born in Fairfax county, Va., whence he moved to Hannibal, Mo., Va., whence he moved to Hannibal, Mo. He has lived in Galesburg 30 years, and had the appearance of an old man when he came. He was married three times, and was the father of 22 children. In addition his descendants comprise 95 grandchildren and 29 great-grandchildren. He claims to have seen Washington often, and was familiar with the events of the War of 1812. The mantle
