A GREAT CALAMITY.

The Recent Earthquake in Japan Rendered 200,000 Homeless.

THOUSANDS OF LIVES ARE LOST.

Cities and Temples Are Demolished by the Shocks or Burned.

EXPERIENCE OF TRAIN PASSENGERS

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 9 .- A severe, prolonged shock of earthquake occurred October 28, a few minutes before 7 o'clock in the morning. It was the severest experienced since the terrible catastrophe of 1855, and must be ranked as a national calamity. The greatest damage to buildings and loss of life ecurred in the prefectures of Gifu and Achy, in which nearly 4,000 people were killed outright and 4,000 seriously wounded. throughout which the disturbances were strongly telt is 31. The center seems to have been in Mino and Arows, but even as far south as Higo and Rikushu in the north the disturbance was sensibly felt.

The destruction of 40,000 houses means that 200,000 people are rendered homeless. Up to November 5 the earthquakes still continued to be felt, but with intervals between them. The intensity of the shocks gradually diminished.

Over One Shock Every Two Minutes. From the commencement of the disturbsuce up to that date it is estimated that 6,600 shocks, or more than one every two minutes, were felt. The town of Gifu, on the Toknido Railway, with a population of 15,000, was almost entirely destroyed. Thirty-five hundred out of a total of 4,400 houses in the town were overthrown or burned. Seven hundred and forty-five peoburned. Seven hundred and forty-five peo-ple were killed in the town of Kano, where 600 houses were overthrown. One hundred people were killed in the town of Oraki and 3,500 houses were overthrown. Two thousand houses burned and 700 people were killed in another place. Many sur-vivors were so terror-stricken that they could only stand vacantly staring at the scene of destruction.

At Inchoynama and Kyeseu the people have managed to save a few mats and were preparing to pass the night in the open fields. The villages were a waste of fallen houses which the flames were rapidly devouring. Throughout the day and night the work of earrying the wounded to Nagoya proceeded.

The Shocks of the Vertical Kind. The inhabitants of the ruined towns describe the shock as conveying an impression that the houses were first raised and then suddenly lowered through a space of from two to three feet. The fact that there was a marked sub-sidence of the earth's surface for a considerable area about Gifu, indicated that the latter town was the center of disturbance. Shortly after the shock had leveled thoueands of houses in the town, and hundreds of people were lying buried in the debris, flames burst from the rains of a silk factory and in a short time spread to such an extent that citizens were compelled to desist in their work of digging out the wounded and dying. This conflagration burned out in one direction, but three other fires imme-diately broke out, and, joining into one, swept from street to street, being fanned by a strong northwest wind, which began to blow at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. By 8 in the evening almost every part of the town of Gifu was wrapped in fire, and the inhabitants, abandoning all hope of staying the flames, saved what few articles they were able and fiel the town, taking refuge in the woods and on hillsides..

Students and Convicts Fighting Fire. The police, aided by normal school stuned until the forenoon of October 28, when it had been burning for 28 hours, and almost the whole town had been burned over.

Potteries in the prefectures of Owari and Mino, great centers of the porcelain manu-tacture in Japan, at Seto and other towns, were almost entirely destroyed, and there is reported to be no prospect of resuming the industry during the present year.

The top of the scared mountain of Fusivama has been rent asunder for 1,300 feet in width and 600 feet in depth. Much of the destruction of houses is attributed to poor material entering into the construction of tirick and stone buildings, and the excessive weight of their roofs. Well-built wooden weight of their roofs. Well-built wooden buildings suffered but little, except as to baildings suffered but little, except as to plastering and tiled roofs.

Up and down trains on the Tokaido Railway were just meeting at Gifu station, the center of the seismic disturbance, when the first shock occurred. The shock was accompanied by a rumbling and the movement was so violent that the passengers slipped from the seats and were thrown into a state of great alarm, believing that a collision had taken place.

lision had taken place. Large Fissures Opening and Closing From the windows, however, they beheld the station in rains, and the water in a in the two cities is caused by the water used neighboring pond being dashed violently from side to side. The rumbling movement continued, and large cracks from two to three feet wide were observed opening and closing in all directions, volcanic mud and ashes being thrown from some of them. So numerous were these fissures that to step in any direction threatened destruction, and the passengers dared not to leave the train. Passengers who made their way into Gifu found immense heaps of ruins of fallen houses, while others were so dislocated that each succeeding tremor threw some of them down, as if crushed by a descending weight. In almost every house some unfortunates had been buried, and their chances of escape were greatly diminished by fires which broke out in many places.

It was ascertained that the railway line had been too much damaged in both direc-tions to allow of further progress of trains, and the passengers, accordingly, were com-pelled to make their way on foot to neighboring towns. The roads were almost im-passible by reason of fissures and landslides, and no conveyances were to be had. Other Cities Found in Ruins.

Proceeding from Gifu to Kano, the latter place was found wholly in ruins. Not a couse remained upright. The town of Kasmoutsu fared like Kano, every dwelling be-ing a mass of debris. Everywhere surviv-ors were found to be digging out dead and wounded and fighting against confiagrations that broke out on all sides. The shock ex-perienced at Ogoki was so severe that scarcely a sound house was left standing, except the castle, which, despite its 400 very, stood the shock remarkably well. Gobo temple, belonging to the Shin Sen Society of Baddhists, was crowded with worshippers, it being the anniversary of the death of Shirran, the founder of the sect. The temple fell, burying at least 50 people. The rains took fire and the shricking victions were consumed before the eyes of the troprified onlookers.

The town of Nagerio escaped lightly in comparison with the region west of there, embracing Gifu, Cgaka and Kieto. Slight shocks were felt at Nagerio on the night of October 25. On Wednesday morning 40 Christians were assembled in one of the buildings of the Methodist Protestant school. The sound of distant rumbling arose, the building began to totter and the worshipers fled to the door. One Christian and his wife were killed by falling bricks, and two Japanese were badly injured.

Blockaded With Ruins and Fugitives. Many streets were blockeded with fallen houses and others were choked with people rushing to and fro. The chimneys of the Normal School went crushing through the roof and the building presented the appearance of having been abandoned. The upper story of the postoffice was ruined and the railway station was destroyed. The Cwari

Thread factory's large brick building crashed in, killing hundreds of people. The loss of life in the three towns which go to make up the city of Nagoya, is variously estimated at from 750 to 1,000. As the wounded were brought into the city from the surrounding towns, reports con-tinued to come of lives lost and damage done. Fissures opened two feet wide and several deep, railway rails were twisted, iron bridges broken, river embankments sunk and fields floor

A lake 600 yards lo z and 60 yards wide was formed at the trust of Hakusan Mountain, in Gifu prefecture. Gogen hill and several other hills in Gifu gave way and water sprang from the cracks in the ground, Water in wells was changed to a brownish color and rendered unfit for drinking.

Rivers@mbankments Must Be Rebuilt. The embankments of the Nagara, Kiso, Shouai, Gojo and Niko rivers were broken, and it is estimated that about one-half of the 350 miles of embankment damaged in Gifu prefecture will have to be rebuilt. The general appearance of Mizushing divi-sion of Motosu district underwent a com-plete transformation, and at Nogo in Ono district, a marked subsidence of the earth's Achy, in which nearly 4,000 people were killed outright and 4,000 seriously wounded. In those two prefectures 42,000 houses were totally destroyed. The number of provinces was raised about six feet, and the rumbling of the mountain in that vicinity was heard at different intervals.

Out of 700 temples in Gifu prefecture, more than one-third are totally destroyed. Anything like a heavy rainfall would cause nearly the whole of Gifu to be flooded, and many months would be required to repair the embankments. In some parts of town boiling mud spouted out of the fissures to a height of ten feet. A majority of these geysers continued spouting for over two hours.

DEFORMED IN BODY AND CHARACTER.

A Desperate Kentuckian Winds Up

Spree With an Attempted Suicide. CYNTHIANA, KY., Nov. 23.-William Kimbrough is the wayward son of the late C. R. Kimbrough and a good Christian mother. Owing to a terrible deformity his father lavishly humored him, but at his death, last August, left his entire estate, which was considerable, to his wife. Since then William has been very sober and industrious, and it was hoped he had reformed. However, he has not. Yesterday afternoon, after coming to town and filling up, he returned home and asked for money, and when it was refused him proceeded to break up the furniture, and drawing a pistol, threatened to kill his mother and brotherin-law, William Cunningham, who lives with Mrs Kimbrough. He then ran out and set fire to the barn and afterward the house. The brother-in-law in the meantime came to town and swore out a warrant, which Sheriff Leach served upon the recreant as soon as he could reach his home, a mile from town. Kimbrough was promptly brought here and ja:led.

This morning about 10 o'clock Bennett, a prisoner confined for attempted bank reb-bery, discovered young Kimbrough hang-ing from the roof of his cell by a rope made of bed clothes. He gave the alarm, and and the suspended man was cut down, and after some time resuscitated. Kimbrough is the hero of many escapades. He once took a pair of horses to St. Louis, sold them, and had a high old time, spending the entire proceeds of the sale, some $1,500. He also attempted suicide over a year ago by hanging in his father's barn, but was discovered in time by his mother. He is connected with the best people here, and his father was one of the most estimable men in the community. William received a classical education at Eminence, near Louisville, where he figured in many

The Decision of a Suit for $7,500 in a Court in Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—By a decision in the courts here Father M. J. McBride, a Catholic priest, is cut off from an inheritance of $7,500. One year ago Robert Brennan died in this city, and, a few hours bedents and 89 prisoners from the jail, fought fore throughout the night, but it was not subhis entire estate to Father McBride. William and Richard Brennan, of Buffalo, nephews of the dead man, and his only relatives, contested the will on the ground of undue influence. It was brought out in the case that Father McBride refused to administer the last rites of the church to Brennan until he signed the will. Brennan was about 82 years old. After the will was signed the last rites of the church were ad-

Father McBride used to be Vicar General of the Harrisburg Diocese, embracing a large territory in Central Pennsylvania, and was a candidate for Bishop two years ago. When he was Vicar General of the diocese he was suspended for alleged cause and Father McGovern, of Danville, was ap-pointed Bishop by the Pope. He removed McBride, who is now in charge of a small parish at Bonneville, Md.

DEATH IN THE WATER.

Dr. Winslow Says the Allegheny River Is Poluted by Petroleum,

Dr. W. H. Winslow, the Penn avenue physician, has written an open letter in which he alleges that much of the sickness which is poisoned by petroleum from the oil refineries above the water works pumping station. Dr. Winslow advises the drinking of beer, milk or wine in preference to what he terms the poisoned water. He con-cludes his letter as follows: "Indians poison springs for their enemies. This is the first instance I have known of white men doing it for their friends. Until the water of this city is purged of its impurities, it will not be safe to use it for household purposes, there will be the same mysterious symp-toms of illness, and the death rate will be

Health Superintendent Baker says Dr Winslow exaggerates. He contends that Pittsburg has the best drinking water of any interior city in the country.

WHO ARE BRAIN WORKERS?

Business Men and Clerks Sure.

The brain-workers of the world are business men and clerks, and they do far more real, hard brain work, more exhausting expenditure of nerve and brain power in this pushing age than all literary workers combined. That is what makes so many ner-vous, with worn out nerves, tired brains and ex-hausted energies. There is headache, a dull, dizzy, bad feeling head, confused thought, loss of memory, despondency, sense of anxiety, loss of appetite, malaria, dyspepsia, constipation, sleeplessness with tired waking, without ambition to take hold of the day's work.

Anything which exhausts the nervous energies will produce these symptoms, and all should at once use the great nerve and brain invigorator, Or. Greene's Nervura, which will immediately restore power to the brain, strength to the nerves, and vigor and health to the body. Purely vegetable and harmless. Druggists, $1 00.

"I take pleasure in testifying to the great virtues of Dr. Greene's Nervura. I could not attend to my business more than half the time. I had beadache, rheumatism and dyspensia. The doctors said I had a bad state of my blood, liver and kidneys also I certainly felt very bad indeed. Igot much better the first month and am now entirely cured, and have Dr. Greene's Nervura to thank for curing me. M. Cusick, 32 Fountain St., Fall River, Mass."

N. B. Dr. Greene, the successful specialist in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, 35 W. 14th Street, New York, can be consulted free, personally, or by letter. Call or write him about your case, or send for symptom blank to fill out, and a letter fully explaining your disease, giving advice, etc., will be returned
