

SHADY SHARE TRADES.

Bad Charges Against a Corporation. President, Now Resigned.

TWO COMPANIES ARE MIXED UP.

Mr. Andrews Accused of Running One for the Other's Benefit.

LITIGATION FOR $3,000,000 TO ENDS

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Wallace C. Andrews, President of the New York Steam Company, and until lately President of the Standard Gas Light Company, is likely to be involved in a lawsuit with the latter company as to the validity of certain stock amounting to about $3,000,000, which it is alleged Mr. Andrews obtained illegally from the company while he was its President.

Mr. Andrews resigned the Presidency of the Standard Gas Light Company two or three weeks ago, and J. A. Bostwick was elected in his stead. It is said that had not Mr. Andrews resigned when he did he would have been expelled from that office by vote of the directors. Immediately after the resignation of Mr. Andrews and the election of Mr. Bostwick an injunction was issued on the application of the company to restrain Mr. Andrews from selling or otherwise disposing of certain of the company's stock then in his possession. The company also issued the following notice:

Question having arisen as to the validity of certain common stock of this company, the Board of Directors thereof have this day devoted to close the books for the transfer of common stock pending an examination and until the further order of the board.

The Charge Against Andrews.

It is charged that $1,000,000 of the $3,000,000 of the Gas Light Company's stock which Mr. Andrews obtained from the company fraudulently, is held in the name of the New York Steam Company, of which Mr. Andrews is President, and which he is believed to control. In addition to this proceeding, it is said another action has been instituted against Mr. Andrews to recover a block of the Gas Light Company's preferred stock owned by Mr. Andrews, and for an accounting of certain disbursements by him as President of the company.

In this suit it is charged that Mr. Andrews has subordinated the interests of the Gas Light Company to those of his Steam Heating Company, that many of the poor investments of the latter have been charged to the former; that the unproductive properties of the Steam Heating Company have been unloaded on the Gas Light Company, and that these and other things Mr. Andrews was able to do through the "dummy" directors in the Gas Light Company, elected through his influence.

J. A. Bostwick, the new President of the Standard Gas Light Company, was seen at his home this morning, and spoke very freely. He said: "I have been connected with the company from its beginning, but my vote was always in the minority, and I gave up attending the directors' meetings. Finally some of their notes were presented.

Offered to Pay the Company Debts.

"To protect myself and those who had gone into the concern on account of my name, I offered to assume all debts of the company until its affairs could be straightened out.

"Mr. Andrews, whose schemes had far outreached his capital, but charged, is held which he could not keep. As a result I paid out nearly $500,000 in 30 days. Much against my advice, there was $5,000,000 worth of stock issued, which was given to Andrews and others for distribution. I had supposed that at least half of this amount was held in trust for the company's treasury. When the new directors were elected it was discovered that much of this stock had been sold for insufficient consideration, and that the rest was held by three persons or their estates.

"It is absurd to say that any of this stock is unaccounted for. We know where every share is and for how much it was sold. There has been nothing surreptitious about it. We simply think these gentlemen sold the stock for much less than it was worth. This stock, in its present state, is tainted, and to protect the public we have issued the notice closing our books for the transfer of this common stock.

Protecting Prospective Stock Purchasers.

It is possible that Mr. Andrews or any of the others might sell the shares, when the buyer would suffer as much as ourselves. There is no question that Mr. Andrews had complete control of both the Gas Light and Steam Companies, and the charge that he transferred useless real estate from the steam company to the gas company is not fair to him. At the time he transferred the property he unquestionably intended putting up gas plants on it.

The Board of Directors of the Standard Gas Light Company met here to-day. The Secretary said some action had been taken relative to the trouble between ex-President Andrews and the board, but refused to say what it was. Ex-President Andrews was present, and when seen after the meeting, he claimed that none but routine business had been transacted.

A Narrow Escape.

Persons subject to cramps will be interested in the experience of J. F. Miles, Wesley, Venango county, Pa. He was taken very severely and called in two doctors who prescribed for him, but failed to give him relief. A druggist of Butler, Pa., then gave him a double dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy, and in 20 minutes he was all right, and is enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

A Crash in Plates.

Owing to a fall of our plate shelves in our warehouse a great many of our new and choice plates were broken. We offer for a few days only the broken dozens at half regular prices. These goods are all fresh, new goods of this year's importation, and comprise plates for any course in Coalport, Crown Derby, Royal Worcester, Doniton, and in fact, any of the well known fine goods, such as we carry in stock. The sale commences Friday morning, November 27, and will last only a few days owing to the holidays. Early buyers will get choice bargains at Reizenstein's, 152, 154, 156 Federal street, Allegheny.

Two Things In Regard to Catarrh.

1st, it is a Constitutional Disease; and 2d, It Requires a Constitutional Remedy.

These two facts are now so well known to the medical fraternity that local applications, like snuffs and inhalants, are regarded as at best likely to give only temporary relief. To effect a permanent cure of catarrh requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by purifying the blood, repairing diseased tissues and imparting healthy tone to the affected organs, does give thorough and lasting cure.

A Permanent Cure for Catarrh.

After suffering with catarrh in my head for a number of years, and using every obtainable remedy, I was requested to take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Gossip From Daniel O'Day.

Daniel O'Day, of the Standard Oil Company, returned to New York last evening. He said the company had invested a great deal of money around Pittsburgh, and that he had to come here occasionally to see how the business was going. The Standard can now handle 80,000 barrels per day in the pipe lines from the McDonald field. The question now is whether it ought to be increased or not. Mr. O'Day says the output was keeping up splendidly well, but it may drop to 20,000 barrels when least expected. He remarked that the Pittsburgh people have no idea of the natural resources all about them. He thinks there is still plenty of gas, but he doesn't believe this fuel was ever intended for the industries. It is all right for domestic purposes. He laughed at the newspaper stories printed about the movements of the Standard managers, and he declared their business was not any more secret than the affairs of other companies.

Made $196,000 in Three Years.

S. S. Marvin, with his wife and son, went over to New York last evening to eat Thanksgiving turkey with his father-in-law. He talked at some length about the Exposition affairs and particularly the management. Mr. Marvin said he regarded Mr. Johnson as the best manager in the country, and the financial men in the company would not allow him to be replaced. He added that Mr. Johnson would be re-elected and he had consented to stay. Mr. Marvin claims that all the noise has been made by people who have little stake in the enterprise. In the last three years he says the Exposition has made $196,000 of a profit. Last year was not up to the mark, but he said they couldn't always expect a big, even the average season. He has faith in the future of the Exposition, and there is no danger of the exhibition being discontinued.

After using the remedies for two months, he was entirely cured, and is now as fair as any boy.
