On Wednesday, when the party will visit Pittsburg, a grand campfire will be beld in Old City Hall, which promises to be the biggest thing of the kind held here. All old soldiers, whether Grand Army men or not, are cordially invited to attend, also all friends of the old soldiers. An entertaining programme will be arranged, and the affair made very interesting for all. All com-manders are requested to have their posts attend to uniform.

Another meeting of the Executive Com-mittee will be held at the Pension Office next Wednesday evening to perfect ar-rangements. All members are urged to attend.

The Date Must Be Changed.

At the meeting of the Executive Commit tee on Wednesday evening the growing feeling against the date fixed for the hold-ing of the Washington Encampment was demonstrated. Post 88 has joined Posts 131 and 236 in the protest. The Executive Comand 236 in the protest. The Executive Com-mittee will bring the matter before the De-partment Council of Administration, which will bring its influence to bear on the National Council Aside from the strong protest that is being made from this vicinity, there has arisen a contingency that will necessitate the bolding of the encampment at an earlier date, but just what that date will be is of course impossible to forcese.

MOVEMENTS IN TWENTY-THIRD WARD

The week was broken by a holiday which surtailed the volume of transactions, but the general characteristics of trade underwent no material change. There was a fair movement in real estate. Brokers reported good inquiry for investment and use, eading them to anticipate an active martet after the holidays. A good reason for his expectation is found in the fact that the city is neither oversold nor overbuilt. The number of home-seekers, constantly reinforced from the outside, is greater than at any former period. The stock market opened dull and listless but finished with a snap and at about top prices. Although forecasts of speculation bould be taken with considerable allowance, in this case the revival bears such evidence of genuineness as to induce the be-lief that it is permanent—subject, of course, to the usai noliday luil. There is no rea-sonable doubt that local securities have been given an impetus which will insure an active movement early in the new year. The tendencies of the week were in the right direction. There were two or three ulation, but legitimate business was not dis-turbed. All the great and little industries were in good condition. There was a better demand for iron. Railroad earnings were large. There were nearly 100 fewer business failures than the week before. Money was easy at all the leading trade centers. Con-siderable gold was received from Europe. While there was no bulge in activity in any part of the country there was a large acqui-sition of confidence and the outlook mate-rially brightened. Points in Beal Estate. ance, in this case the revival bears such At the concert given by Anchor Castle, Miss H. Several new schemes ap peared, involving downtown and suburban properties, some of which will no doubt be consummated, while others are mere fairy consummated, while others are more mary tales. There was a good trade in small lots. The acre market was dull, but indications were good for a season of activity toward spring. Several building companies are looking for large tracts of land, with a view to subdivis-ion. The prosperous condition of the city and the extension of rapid transit into new districts are sufficient grounds for belief in the success of all such enterprises when properly managed. The National Council of Daughters of America will give a social entertainment and oyster supper at the Milivale Opera House Thursday, December 3. The affair will be exclusively of a patriotic nature. English Standard No. 31, O. S. of St. G., will hold its regular meeting Thursday, Decem-ber 3. The order for the evening is initia-tion, installation of officers and new by-laws. a chance to cover despite the bull faction." Improvement in Tone. Henry Clews & Co. say: "The past week has shown some improvement in the tone of business at the Stock Exchange and some recovery in prices. The change has been in a large measure due to a relief from the ex-treme tension lately existing in the Eu-ropean markets. The late depression abroad, while due to real and serious causes, has no doub been agaravated by speculative influ-ences, and those influences have been ex-erted to close upon the verge of producing widespread panic. The European hears, how ever, appear to have known exactly how far they could go without provoking general disaster, and just when a crash was is ared have become buyers, with the effect of a general recovery of confidence. "The trade of the country at large is be-shing to allow a more distinct response to the stimulus couning from our abundant harvest. The earnings of the railroads are still gaining upon those of last year, and that there ever all factors are producing a firmer feeling among holders of stocks; and as the market is largely oversold, the purchases of the bave a favorable effect on prices at an early day.
