BUILDING THE NAVY.

Torpedo Boats Constructed Now Just as Well at Inland Points

AS AT SEACOAST NAVAL YARDS.

Interesting Points in a Report to the Secretary of the Navy.

WOODEN WAR VESSELS PLAYED OUT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 .- Commodore Theodore Wilson, Chief of the Bureau of Construction, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Navy recommends that the Galena be sold, as useless to the Government and a source of expense.

Of the single turret monitors now in the James river, the report says that they should be repaired or sold. For a comparatively moderate sum they can be made useful adjuncts to whatever other means the country may possess of repelling an enemy, their shallow draft rendering them especially adaptable for service in the smaller harbors of our own coast, which sea-going armored vessels of modern design can't enter on account of their great draft, and where, consequently, they would only be exposed to the attacks of unarmored cruisers.

The Wooden Navy's Day Is Over.

Touching the old wooden navy the report says: "These vessels are rapidly disappearing from active service. Only 12 are now available for cruising purposes, and they within five or six years will be mustered

Stress is laid upon the significance of the contract made for the construction of torpedo boat No. 2, with the Iowa Iron Works. as it indicates the possibility of building these valuable craft at safe inland points. The report states that contracts have already been made for 11,210 tons of the 15,945 tons of armor required for the vessels now building.

Attention is called to the fact that with the advent of modern steel vessels, comes a pressing necessity for a large increase in the machine departments of the navy yards to make the unavoidable repairs, if they are to be expeditiously and economically made. To this end appropriations are recom-mended as follows: $25,000 for the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard; $150,000 for the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard; $150,000 for the New York Navy Yard; $44,000 for the League Island, Pa., Navy Yard; $48,000 for Norfolk, Va., Navy Yard, and $100,000 for the Mare Island, Cal., Navy Yard.

Need of Sheathing Steel Cruisers. Seizing the opportunity afforded by the unfortunate experience of our steel cruisers in Chilean waters, the report treats at length of the necessity for sheathing the bottoms of steel vessels. It says:

bottoms of steel vessels. It says:

The importance of the preservation of the bottoms of steel vessels from corrosion and fouling can hardly be over-estimated, and is continually emphasized by the reports of loss of speed and increased consumption of coal received from our new unsheathed steel vessels now in commission. Unless we are willing to admit that the role of our cruisers in time of war shall be entirely confined to cruises of snort duration in the neighborhood of of our own ports, it would appear that they are deficient in a most important quality, namely, the shifty to maintain high speed at sea for long periods of time.

Reference is made by the valuable data bearing on this subject collected by Naval Constructor Philip Hiebborn, and an earaest recommendation is made that Congress adopt his conclusions, summarized as

1. All cruising vessels intended for general service in foreign waters should be sheathed if above 1,000 tons displacement.

2. Vessels of less than 1,000 tons displacement, intended for general service as cruising gunboars, etc., should be of composite construction, viz; with steel framing, wood inside, planking and copper sheating.

Britain has adopted these ideas in new con-struction, that 78 per cent of it is to be since 1886 are of composite construction, enabling them to keep at sea for long periods without docking.

Where Candidates for the Navy Fail.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 .- In his annual report to the Secretary of the Navy, Commodore Ramsey, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, devotes much attention to the Naval Academy. He says a large number of candidates for admission to the Naval Academy fail to pass the required mental examination. It is believed that this is chiefly due to want of proper instruction and of time for preparation.

LIARS ABROAD IN BRAZIL

Government Dispatches Fintly Contradic! Rumors of Trouble in the South.

LONDON, Dec. 1 .- The advices from Brazil regarding the situation in Rio Grande do Sul are of such an extremely conflicting character that it is impossible to conceive the true situation there. A dispatch was received here from the Brazilian Minister of Fereign Affairs, stating that immediately on the restoration of the legal Government of the State after the diposition of the Dictator, Da Fonseca, the insurgents laid down their arms. The Foreign Minister's dispatch further says that Senhor Ferdinand Lobe, who was sent to the State of Rio Grande do Sul as representative of the The cars of the local train, consisting of Government has been satisfactorily received by the people.

The dispatch does not agree with the structing the authorities to restore Governnor Castilhos to office; that the National Guard had been mobilized, that the greatest excitement prevailed and that a serious outcome was looked for. Brazilian dispatches are evidently colored by the wishes

FATHER AND SON DEFAULTERS.

As Trusted Employes They Victimized

Publishing House for Years. St. Louis, Dec. 1 .- It has just been dicovered by the Concordia Publishing Company, printers of religious books, that Martin C. Barthel and Martin H. R. Barthel, father and son two of its most trusted employes, are short in their accounts. Martin H. R. received an order for certain publications which he filled in, but neglected to turn over the cash, which brought about an investigation revealing the fact that the peculations of both were large.

The falsification of the books has been going on for a number of years. Martin C. has been manager for 25 years, and while the investigation has been progressing he has been absent. On his return he at first denied the charges, but afterward broke down and admitted his guilt, turning over $50,000 in real estate to cover the shortage. The son has disappeared and no trace of him can be found. The officers of the company say that the property turned over more than secures the present defalcation.

GENERAL BUTLER RECOVERING.

Death's Door. LOWELL, MASS., Dec. 1 .- [Special.]-It is now admitted for the first time by General Butler's physician and members of his family that he was very near death's door last week, as was stated when he was first taken sick. His trouble was an abscess in the ear. As the abscess increased in size General As the abscess increased in size General Butler's life began to tremble in the balance. If it broke inside, death would quickly follow. If the abscess found an outlet through the ear his life would be the pressure on the brain was relieved by the outward flow of pus. Now General Butler is rapidly recovering his strength and will soon resume active work

FISH CULTURE IN CANADA

Most Satisfactory Results of the Season' Operations Up North.

OTTAWA, ONTARIO, Dec. 1. - Fish culture has now reached a most important stage in Canada, and every year millions of eggs are gathered from the haunts of the various fish and artificially hatched in Government breeding houses. In the fail of the year the collectors go out to the spawning boats and carefully gather the ova which have been deposited there. The ova are placed in cans specially prepared and conveyed to the hatchery, where they are placed in the hatchery troughs. The fish-breeding operations are nearly over for the season and the returns received by Mr. Wilmot, Government Superintendent of Hatch-eries, are stated to be very satisfactory. The officers at many of the stations have made their returns for last season. At the hatchery at St. John's river, N.

B., 2,000,000 salmon ova have been collected, at Gaspe hatchery 800,000, at Miramashi hatchery 1,200,000, while the collecting is still going on at the Tadousac, Bedford and Sydney hatcheries, on the Atlantic. Fraser river hatchery leads the list on the Pacific river hatchery leads the list on the Pacific coast with some 7,000,000 salmon ova collected. At Newcastle, the parent house, an immense number of salmon-trout eggs have been collected and the officers are still engaged in collecting more. As usual, Ottawa will be supplied from Newcastle. Speckled trout eggs will be imported and hatched out in various places. Of these the supply never equals the demand, it apparently being impossible to obtain sufficient of these delightful fish. The importance of artificial hatching can be gathered by the one fact that by placing 2,000,000 salmon yearly in the Sacramento River, California, the catch there has been increased from 5,000,000 to 15,0000,000 pounds annually.

LIKELY TO GET A DIVORCE.

Report of the Commissioner in the Famou Guerrero Case,

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 .- [Special.]-The divorce suit of Mrs. Henrietta A. Guerrero, nee Potter, of this city, is now before Judges Fell and Pennypacker, the master of the case, Effingham B. Morris, having made his report to the Court recommending that the Judges grant the decree asked for. A rule for a final decree to declare the divorce absolute, taken out by Carroll R. Williams, counsel for Mrs. Guerrero, will be heard by the Judges of Common Pleas Court No. 2 Monday next.

STODDARD STILL IN BUSINESS.

A Celebrated Forger Whose Fertile Brai Work Cannot Be Repressed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.-[Special.]-When Detective Morris, of Jersey City, captured the now eelebrated forger, Edward L. Stod-dard, and he was subsequently taken to the jail in that city, it was supposed that Stoddard would be obliged to suspend business Figures are given to show that Great for a time. He is still carrying on business. It is believed that Stoddard is the author of the letters sent out in the name of Winnie Davis, Jefferson Davis' daughter, with the intention of swindling General Beauregard and other men in the South.

A week or two ago Stoddard sent two letters to Demopolis, Ala., under cover to some friend there, who mailed them to New York. The forged letters were ad-dressed, one to Dr. William M. Polk, and the other to his sister, Mrs. H. L. Deas. The name of C. B. Whitfield, a wealthy planter in Demopolis, was signed to each letter, and each contained a check for $1,600 with Mr. Whitfield's name attached. In each case the recipient was asked to give the forger this money for the sake of an old friend who wanted to reform the young man. Mr. Whitfield was communicated with, and the attempted decaption became apparent. Stoddard himself wrote to the New York parties advising them as to the way in which to bring the money.

A JEWELER BADLY ROPED IN.

He Gives Up $3,690 for Brass That He Thought Gold Dust. NEW YORK, Dec. 1 .- [Special.] -- Jeweler Ephraim Grinspan was the victim to-day of a gold dust gang. He gave $3,100 and a cheek for $500, dated ahead, for a bag which he believed contained gold dust. When he reached his place of business he found the bag contained nothing but brass fillings.

All the swindlers but two were captured.
Those arrested are Nathan Wendel, his wife Bessie, his two sons, Jacoband Samuel, and Annie Remsberg. Grinspan did not quite understand how he had been cheated. It was an old game, however. The top of the dish was lined with gold, but on his way from his house to the store the gold had worked to the bottom of the bag.

TROUBLE IS BREWING

In Large Quantities for Millions of People in the North of China.

GENERAL LEW YEE'S BIG REVOLT.

Four Million Able-Bodied Men Under the Banner of the Rebels.

THE THREE PROVINCES INTERESTED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] NEW YORK, Dec. 1 .- The Hongkong, Chinese newspaper, Swin Ye Bo, of October

Trouble is brewing in the North. It will be remembered that General Lew Yee, the famous black flag general of Tonquin-Fiance celebrity, was some time ago promoted to the Generalissimo of the armies of the North by the Pekin Government, where he subsequently plotted for the downfall of the present dynasty. His agents have succeeded so well that the entire population of Manchuris, Chinese and natives, have joined under his standard of revolt, and are even now making ready to march upon the capital at Pekin. The revolutionists number at least 4,000,000 able-bodied men. It is said that no part of the Imperial army at present upon the field is capable of meeting this emergency. The best and latest information concerning the three provinces which compose Manchuria is to be found in the "Long White Mountain," in which Mr. James recorded the results of a journey through the country several years ago.

Curious Facts About Manchuria. One is that the Manchus are not very numerous, particularly in the lower part of the country. They seem to have been gradually drained off in great numbers to China proper, while their places have been taken by emigrants from the Chinese province of Shan-Ung and Chihli. So the peo-ple who have been reported as feeding and encouraging the rebels on their march toward Pekin are in large part natives of China, who have emigrated to the fertile valleys of Manchuria.

Manchuria is divided into three districts
—the province of Lian-Tung in the south.

Manchuria is divided into three districts
—the province of Liau-Tung in the south, Kirwin in the center, and Helung-Kiang in the north. Liau-Tung is more generally known as Fengtien, or "Heaven-Ordained," which means that this region was ordained the research of the present by Heaven to be the source of the present ruling dynasty. Fengtien is densely populated, and is computed to contain 12,000,000 to 13,000,000 people. Kirwin contains probably 8,000,000, and Tsitsibaa 2,000,000. Only the province nearest to China has yet been permitted to have a Governor-General. The Governors of the other districts are subordinate to the Governor-General of Fengtien.

One Province Long Partly Civilized. This latter province joins the Province of Chihli, in which Pekin itself is situated, and has always been comparatively civil ized. For centuries it was subject to Corea then a warlike and powerful State; but since the eighth century, except during one brief interval, it has been incorporated with China. The other two provinces did not come under the direct control of Pekin till 1644, when the Manchus conquered the Chinese empire. These two northern provinces were reserved until comparatively recent times portly as a nursery for Taylor and times, partly as a nursery for Tartar sol-diers, but mainly as a place for the trans-portation of criminals, and it is only since 1820 that colonists have been permitted to settle there. It is still, used as a kind of Botany Bay not only for criminals, but for all ill-behaved Mandarins. In consequence the country swarms with a multitude of evil Chinese characters, who probably have much to do with fomenting the present dis-

While everybody knows that Manchuris is the cradle of the existing dynasty of China, it is not equally well known that China has been conquered twice before by the Northern part of it, has been ruled by

Just Like All Oriental Monarchies. Mr. James says that the history of China is the history of most Oriental monarchies. a powerful tribe under a powerful head conquers the country, and for one or two generations rules it wisely and firmly. Gradually luxury creeps into the court. The Princes become dissolute and effete. The administration falls into the state of degradation and inefficiency, and then the colleges of the dynasty is only and then the collapse of the dynasty is only a matter of time. Not a few writers upon China at the present day assert that the Government of China is in this condition now. It has been asserted for some years that the central power was effeminate, weak that the central power was effeminate, weak and unprogressive to a degree which disgusted intelligent Chinese, and that palace intrigues, jealousies and ambitions, in which some of the court women took a large part, have had far more to do with shaping the policy of the State than the real interests of the country.

MILLIONS IN THE TREASURY. More Money in Pennsylvania's General

Fund Than Ever Before. HARRISBURG, Dec. 1 .- [Special.] -- State freasurer Boyer's monthly report, issued o-day, shows $5,720,721 80 in the general und, as against $5,389,117 50 last month. fund, as against $5,389,117 50 last monun. This is probably the greatest amount ever in the general fund of this State, and would have been larger had not the expenses of the extraordinary session of the Senate, amounting to nearly $50,000, been paid during the month. The bill for printing the proceedings of the extra session, which were very voluminous, has not yet been rendered, but will undoubtedly amount to several thousand dollars.

several thousand dollars.

The cash in the sinking fund has been reduced during the month from $2,780,537 75 to $1,259,123 75, the difference, $521,414, having been expended in purchasing the bonds due next February. Notwithstanding that the State agrees to pay the interest on the bonds until February next, only one-half have been presented for liquidation. About $1,500,000 is still outstanding. This is considered evidence that money ing. This is considered evidence that money is easy for this time of year. It is expected that the need of money to meet January settlements will bring the bonds in faster this month. The gross debt of the State is now about $10,000,000, the net or actual debt being $3,000,000, a decrease of $2,144,575 87 since May last.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 .- Walter Wyman, Supervising Surgeon General of the Marine Hospital Service, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Treasury, states that 52,992 sailors were treated in the various marine hospitals and dispensaries of the service during the fiscal year 1891. One thousand three hundred and thirty-One thousand three numered and thirty-three surfmen and keepers, of the Life-Sav-ing Service, were examined physically, of which number 59 were rejected for disease or disability; 1,082 pilots were examined for blindness, of which 29 were rejected. The Surgeon General calls attention to the prevalence of leprosy, particularly in the neighborhood of the West Indies and South America, and to the presence of the lisease in various cities and localities of the United States, and states that cases may be allowed to exist undisturbed in some localities by the health authorities because no provision is made for their segration. Whatever theories may be advanced regard ing the contagiousness of the disease, there is no doubt that where indifference is mani fested as to isolation it slowly spreads, and as no State possesses a leper hospital, the establishment of a national leper hospital is

DEATH OF NELSON DECKER.

The Actor's Attempt to Taka His Own Life

Not a Fallure. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—William Nelson Decker, the well-known actor who made an attempt on his life, Wednesday last, at the Edwin Forrest Home, died at 1:30 o'clock this morning. A sensation was aroused at the home last Wednesday by the discovery of Decker lying in a pool of blood on the floor of his room shortly after the breakfast hour. A razor was found near him, with which he had inflicted terrible gashes in his throat and wrists. The discovery and the prompt summoning of physicians restored him temporarily, but death was only a question of time.

The cause of Decker's misfortunes in the first place was a severe attack of nervous prostration which brought on a partial paralysis of the functions of speech. He became unable to articulate distinctly. This was his growing misfortune and subjected him to spells of despondency, from which he was scarcely at any time free. Decker was admitted to the Exercit Home let Severe Tartars from this region. Sawtelle Confesses to Fratricide. CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 1.-Counsel for Isaac Sawtelle went to the State prison this morning and obtained a short affidavit from Isaac, covering the details of the murder of his brother Hiram. They and the prison officers decline to furnish the document for publication, but it is known that in it the prisoner confesses to killing his brother with a pistol. He says he did it alone and unaided, and that the crime was committed in the State of Maine, where there is no capital punishment. The papers in the case were submitted to Judge Chase, of the Supreme Court, this morning, and he at once transferred them to the full bench for action.
