

PREPARING TO ACT.

Attorneys Now at Work on the Papers in the Injunction Case.

MAY BE A DEFECT IN THE LAW.

The Last Resource Will Be to Ask for a Repeal of the Statute.

SEVERAL OTHER LABOR HAPPENINGS

The papers necessary to take a case to the Supreme Court are now being prepared by Attorneys Patterson and Stillwagon, counsel for the printers in the injunction suit. Last night several of the leading printers held a quiet meeting at the Hotel Effell, and it was intimated that the injunction case will be taken to the Supreme Court. Already our attorneys are at work on the papers. It may take several years to get a final decision, but we have the means to push the case and the patience to wait for the answer. If we lose in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania it will be carried on to the United States Supreme Court. Should the judges there sustain the rulings of both the lower courts, we still have an alternative. The injunction brings about a constitutional question. It is either a mistake in the interpretation of the law or the law is a bad one. This we can find out by taking it to the higher courts. If the laws have been blindly interpreted, and we have every reason to believe that they have, we have faith enough in the higher tribunal to think they will set it right. On the other hand, if the decision is sustained on account of a defect in the law, we will then set about having the statute repealed.

In Chicago recently there were two cases, exactly similar to the one heard here, tried in the courts, and in both cases the defendants were dismissed. There they heard and weighed the evidence on both sides, but here we know they did not. This had been done only one man could have been enjoined instead of the score who were. The only man who had in any way violated the city ordinance was T. O'Leary.

The meeting of the trades of Allegheny county will probably be held this week.

President Costello was in the city last night and when seen said he had just heard that 50 more negroes had been imported by the officials of the Snowden mines. He said the mine owners were still strongly opposed to making a new contract with the whites.

The Motor Department May Be Removed. The Westinghouse Electric Company may move its street railway motor department to the recent site of the abribrake works on Robinson street, Allegheny. The present quarters are not large enough for the amount of work being done.
