

FIGURES DON'T TALLY.

W. A. Sipe's Proffered Poor Farm Assessed at Seven Thousand.

COURT RECORDS SPEAK OUT AGAIN.

Chief Elliot Demands an Investigation of Recent Charges.

STILL INSISTS ON A LARGE ACREAGE

The offer by Attorney William A. Sipe of his farm at Brighton station, on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railway, eight miles below the city, for $30,000, as published, was the subject of unlimited comment at the Court House yesterday.

At the time of the appeal, Mr. Sipe was assessed on 9 acres $7,500. On the appeal the County Commissioners consented to a reduction of $400. Mr. Sipe then appeared to court and after hearing various testimony, some of it going to show discrimination on the part of the assessors, Judge Ewing refused the valuation of the land to $50, making the assessment, minus $400, and subsequently with Judge Ewing, in the matter of appeals that he took two years ago. Some people are inclined to think that Mr. Sipe's offer is intended as a travesty on some other that has been made.

A Neighbor Offers His for $10,000. Joseph Wilson offers to sell the farm adjoining that of Mr. Sipe, with the same river frontage and ten acres more land for $10,000, all oil and gas rights thrown in, and he says he regards it as a fair price for it. It is the farm on which William Noel lives, and Mr. Wilson says he regards it the equal so far as fertility of soil and the gas and oil production are concerned of Mr. Sipe's, and as to buildings, they are of very little account in a purchase of a poor farm.

Mr. Sipe's offer is helping along the good work, as his discussion tends to confirm all the statements made so far as to the power to purchase a dozen farms in the county available for the purpose for $100 an acre, or less. In justice to Mr. Sipe it should be stated that he based his appeal on the ground that the assessors had discriminated against him, and it all the surrounding circumstances were taken into consideration, the balance of effects that rural jealousy sometimes entails on a community, but all the same a farm assessed at $7,500 might be considered a fair price for it.

Chief Elliot said yesterday that he was not paying attention to the discussion of the Poor Farm question now. "I have performed the duty assigned me by Council," said Chief Elliot, "and I am now waiting for Council to act on my work. Mr. Alexander cannot withdraw his farm until Councils say so."

Chief Elliot Out to Blood. "I have refused to listen to outside chatter and I propose to bring the people who have made charges against me to the rock and make them prove everything they have said. The Committee on Charities will hear witnesses and I must insist upon their proving me guilty or innocent. I will bring forward all those with whom I attempted to deal and they will say that in each case I told them that I insisted upon dealing directly with them, and that I refused to hear or talk with any agent or middleman."

"Regarding the size of the farm to be purchased, I have been governed by the practice of managers and authorities of other institutions. The committee insisted upon selecting a site for the incurable, and the State purchased at Reading about 600 acres of land. Dixmont has about 500 acres. The Allegheny County Poor Farm has nearly 200 acres and has only about 75 patients. The poor farms in every county in the State have from 150 to 200 acres of ground and I have always contended that it is cruel to pen the unfortunates up without giving them at least a breathing space. We have Schenley Park, the Northside people have large parks and yet there are people who would say that the unfortunates should be crowded into a small lot just because they are unfortunates. It is not because they are unfortunates that charity is intended to be charitable."
