

PITTSBURGH FOR TIN.

Niedringhaus Says This Will Be the Center of That Industry.

BURTT IS NOT TO BE A CANDIDATE.

The K. of L. Resolutions to Be Turned Down by the Federation.

INDUSTRIAL MATTERS OF INTEREST

Ex-Congressman Frederick G. Niedringhaus, known as the American tin plate hero, passed through Pittsburgh last night on his way from his home in St. Louis to Washington, where he will watch legislation affecting the tariff.

The tin plate industry of America is growing rapidly, Mr. Niedringhaus said. "Our mill at St. Louis is turning out 18 tons of tin plate daily. When our plant is completed next spring our daily capacity will be 42 tons. When finished our plant will have cost us $300,000. Before two years I predict that $20,000,000 will be invested in various tin plate industries.

"What do you think of the new tariff?" "I can't say," the gentleman replied. "I don't have our schedule of prices with me."

"How many men do you employ?" "I can't say that, either."

"How is the new town you contemplate building coming along?" "We have not yet started our new town."

"Do you know of any new works starting or to be started in this country?"

"We frequently hear of new tin plate concerns, but I think everybody is waiting until ours is completed. The next factory will not cost half as much as did ours. We have been to much unnecessary expense, all of which can be avoided after our experience. Pittsburgh is probably the best place in America for a tin plate factory."

Referring to politics Mr. Niedringhaus said since his experience in Congress he had always watched public men closely. In his judgment the Democrats could attempt to alter the McKinley bill.

"Either Blaine or Harrison. Either one can be elected. With us both are popular. President Harrison's administration has been entirely satisfactory. His message, printed yesterday, was of the highest order. It explains clearly the position of the Republican party on every important issue of the day, and unless Blaine is a candidate it will renominate Mr. Harrison."

BURTT NOT A CANDIDATE.

He Says He is Not in the Field Yet—K. of L. Resolutions Will Not Be Accepted by the Federation, and Affiliation is Not Probable.

DEATHS HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

John C. Russell, one of the best known farmers in Eastern Ohio, died Wednesday night at his home, near Irondale, Jefferson county, O., aged 82 years.

George W. Stewart, inventor, and the inventor of the sea telephone, died suddenly in New York Wednesday evening of heart disease. He had returned home, walked up several flights of stairs to his room, placed a purchase he had made in his wife's hands, and then laid down on the bed and expired.

Major Malbone F. Watson, born in New York in 1838, graduated from West Point in 1860, died at Dayton, soldiers' home Wednesday after a distressing illness of Bright's disease.

Rev. Oscar C. McCulloch, pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church, Indianapolis, and one of the great philanthropists and charity workers in the West, died at his home yesterday morning, aged 48 years.

William Mengel, fire insurance agent, died at the County Hospital in Chicago Wednesday. He was picked up unconscious at the Deering street bridge and expired without recovering his senses.

Father Dineen, the Louisville priest whose church was demolished by the big cyclone a year ago, died Wednesday. The office was a fire one and had just been completed. The cyclone over its destruction resulted in his death.

Joseph Jones (colored), a respected citizen of Monongahela City, died Wednesday of the grip, aged 28 years.

Miss Mary Tyler, widow of the late Robert Tyler, died in Louisville Wednesday morning, aged 82 years.

Miss Ella Silvers dropped dead with heart disease in the lobby at the Deering, Ill., Opera House Monday night. The curtain had just gone up for the first act of the "Charity Ball," with a crowded house. The body was removed without the knowledge of the audience and the play went on.

To-Night's Big Trades Meeting.

The big trades meeting in Lafayette Hall to-night, under the auspices of the printers and pressmen of the city, has all been arranged for. The meeting will be preceded by a parade of the typographical and pressmen's unions. The speakers are F. K. Foster, Boston, Mass.; Hamilton Burt, Wheeling, W. Va.; E. J. Morgan, Chicago; Congressman Ames Cummings, New York; and Rev. Dr. Robinson, Allegheny.

Substitute for the Steam Hammer.

Two bright young mechanics of Braddock claim to have invented a process by which car axles can be rolled out, instead of by the usual costly way of forging. This has been tried often, but never with any degree of success attached to it. The inventors are employees of the Edgar Thomson, and have set up a model, consisting of a complicated system of rolls that work about perfectly. If the system works as perfectly in practical operation, mechanics say that it will be one of the most valuable inventions of late years, as it entirely does away with the costly forging steam hammer process now used. A company is being formed to test the new machines.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is making a number of extra repairs and changes along its lines.

The Pittsburgh and Western Railroad will probably erect an iron tunnel at the Allegheny end of the Sixteenth street bridge.

GENERAL AGENT O'BRIEN, of the Bricklayers' Union, denies the report that President Campbell was mistreated while in Pittsburgh.

The California, Pa., Glass Company has made a contract with the National Heat and Power Company, for a Rose fuel gas producer to take the place of natural gas.

It is officially given out that the Edgar Thomson Steel Works will not shut down until Saturday. Their orders are pressing, and the new machinery is not ready to be placed yet.

SMALL MUSICAL GOODS.

Well, We Should Say So. We have hundreds of violins at $1 and up to $30 and $50. Banjos at $1.50. Guitars at $3.50. Swiss music boxes at 50c and up to $300. Many hundreds of varieties between these two prices to suit everyone; brass band and orchestral instruments by the hundreds.

OUR SUCCESS

In Filling Our Store With Eager Buyers from Morning till Night

Is so exasperating to the toy furniture dealers that they offer in competition a Toy Table at 49 cents. We admit it may be worth 49 cents. WE OFFERED A TABLE SOME DAYS AGO AT 81 CENTS WHICH EVERYONE ADMITTED WAS WELL WORTH $2. Our prices are lower than these toy furniture stores on reliable goods, because we are not under one-third the expense, and we sell only reliable goods at the lowest possible cost above factory price.

Call and see the store of PICKERING'S, crowded with buyers of reliable, low-priced household goods. Then you will understand why these toy stores are doing no business.

BE SURE YOU SEE our line of these goods before you purchase. Come and see them while the assortment is large.
