Court room. Judge Porter was presiding. The Grand jury had just made its returns. Among the true bills were those against Murray on the charges mentioned. When this was over the Judge adjourned court When for dinner. The crowd of spectators be-gan to pour out both doors of the court room. Deputy Sheriff's Johnson and Devlin prepared to take the prisoners over to jail. Johnson started ahead of them and Devlin brought up the rear. The door leading to the jall is only a few feet from the exit into the corridor.

Got Out With the Crowd.

In the confusion of departing crowds Murray slipped from the ranks and out with the throng of speciators. A moment later he had walked down the steps and out a front door to the street. Nobody saw him go, and the deputies were ignorant of the escape until they got over to jail and counted their men. With the County Detective and several court officers they started in pursuit, but the man had too good a start, and could not be traced. The police were notified, but up to a late hour last night had no clew worthy of consideration. It is not thought probable he will be captured.

It is thought the fugitive had friends on the outside. prisoner's dock a man in the audience was seen making signs to him. A few moments before the adjournment of court County Detective Beltzhoover remarked to the deputies that Murray was acting strangely, and should be carefully watched.

Here Only a Short Time.

Murray has been in Pittsburg but a short time and the robbery in which the police interrupted him was probably his first work here. In June he was in a Milwaukee hospital, but since then has not been seen by the police in any of the cities he fre-quented. After his arrest here, when As-sistant Superintendent of Police O'Mara was talking to Murray, the latter said: "I have seen you before."

"You have the better of me," said

O'Marn. "I have never seen you." "A few weeks ago I got on a train at Council Bluffs You were there with a prisoner coming to Pittsburg. A man with me pointed you out. I kept in another car all through the trip so you would not see me and remembe; me at some future time. The time ment oned was when the Assistant Superintendent was bringing Theodore Doerflinger, the defaulting School Board Treasurer, tack from Omnha. "This man Murray," said O'Mara, "is one of the slickest men of his class in the courtry. His favorite method is to climb porches and get in the second-story windows. He is well known in New York, Chicago, Milwaukee, Cleveland and other places. But he will not last long, as he is dying with consumption. Murray is 5 feet 4 inche high and weighs about 110 pounds."

Treasurer at the late election was 20,000 less than the Presidental vote of 1876. There can be no question that the rank and file of the Democratic party here are just as honest and zealous in their attach-ment to their political faith and just as anxions to uphold and realize those princi-ples as they ever were. Why then should there be a decrease instead of an increase in the actual vote moled? ANTONIO YEUGEL had a hearing before Alderman Donovan yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct. ples as they ever were. Why then should there be a decrease instand of an increase in the actual vote polled? We'beileve, especially in view of the recent county election, that this shrinkage and falling off, instead of growth and progress, are due to the bad faith and inefficiency of the party management. All the worst evils of Republican machine politics have been adopted and even surpussed by those who now control the organization in the county. Domination by the few, set up in conven-tions, bad candidates and ring alliances are the result. Can this be remedied and the party restored to a condition of integrity and efficiency? We are hopeful that it can, and to that end a new organization has been formed under the name of the Democratic Association of Allegheny County, and the nudersigned have been appointed to solicit the Democratic voters throughout the county to become members of this associa-tion. A meeting for permanent organiza-tion will be held in this city of Pittsburg on Saturday, December 19, at 2 r. x., in the hall, third floor of the University building, Dia-mond street, which you are cordially invited to attend. In the meantime we trust you will instruct us to enroll you. JACOB MASCH, of Butler street, found a irunken man near his home Thursday night.
