Mr. Bail Brownfield, whose memory went back to 1800, and who was raised at Smithfield, said he had always understood from old people that this was the first forge west of the Allegheny Mount-Jacob Searing, one of the first settlers, said that he had dug ore for Lewis for ser-eral years before his failure, which came in 1799. At this forge the raw iron was worked through the use of charcoal into bar 1799 iron of great toughness. The ore was specially suited to this process and made good iron; it was called "red short," and the vein was two and one-half feet. There Were Mortgages Then, Too. In the county records is mention of this same forge, saving that Thomas Lewis made a mortgage to Pailip Jenkins, of Georges township, which embraced "all that certownship, which embraced "all that cer-tain tract of land located in Georges township, adjoining lands of Joseph Still-well, John Shacklet, the heirs of Augustus Smith, and W. Davis, with his forge, houses and all man-ner of buildings." This tract of land ner of buildings. This tract of land was held by warrant and improvement. It can be placed as a certainty, however, that John Hayden, in the year 1790, first discovered iron ore west of the Alleghenies and made the first iron. A town now de-cayed, but then noted for business, was founded by him and in maps and history still bears his hame, as does also an aricient cemetery. The latter is not far from his

Essential to Spiritual Life.

So churches and church services and orms are now essential to spiritual life, which cannot be developed if these forms be disregarded, but the time is coming when Christians must enter into immediate fellowship with God, and the only profitable ains. use of church ordinances must have constant regard to this fact, and be a prepara-tion for the higher state in view.

The sermon was illustrated throughout by actual occurrences, tending to show under what different circumstances God's people had entered in part into this higher experi-

Rev. William M. Robinson, pastor emeritus, offered the dedicatory prayer. A coltion was then taken up, amounting to 50.800

$2,800. In the afternoon special Sunday school and congregational exercises were the features. It savored considerably of a reminiscent meeting, addresses being made by Mr. Smith Agnew, Jr. J. P. Orr, Mr. Dickson, Superintendent Logan and Mrs. Poindexter, who gave in entertaining speeches their memory of the organization of the church, and of the experience they had as scholars and teachers of the same. Mr. J. S. Slavle spoke of these early days Rev. J. F. Robinson offered prayer. A collection was then taken up, and, al-though not so large as the contribution of the morning, was quite a generous one. The most pleasant feature of the afternoon service was the fact that Mrs. Samuel Ramsey, wife of the founder of the mission, was present. The Promising Fature.

In the evening Rev. John L. Milligan addressed the congregation, speaking of the promising future the church has. Rev. Henry T. McClelland, D. D., preached the sermon. The music was of marked excelce and was under the directorship of Miss Hammer, assisted by an orchestra chosen from the young folks of the Sunday school. The tone and power of the new pipe organ was favorably commented on. The present pastor of this church, Rev. William A. Kinter, was given a call while yet a senior at Princeton Theological Semipary. He was installed in September, 1889, and for the past two years and a half has been fulfilling his mission creditably himself and church.

NECESSITY OF SALVATION.

Rev. F. E. Farrand, of the Southside, Says

Now Is the Time. Rev. F. R. Farrand, of the First Presbytering Church, Southside, chose his text for last evening from Mark viii., 36: "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his soul." The minister said

"The value of the soul, is immortality. It is yours to save. Now is the opportunity to raise it to the highest pinuacle of faith and hope, or sink it to the lowest depth in misery and degradation. What are you doing to save yourselves: are you satisfied? You know and God knows just where you stand. Oh, friends you have never felt the need of the loving one. The affection of Jesus will ena-ble you to be saved. Oh, come with me to that fountain of life. Now is the accepted Walk with me to the fold of God. He that believeth not in the Lord will uffer eternal punishment.

"How many are there whom you meet every day who seem to have no ambition, whose souls are lost in sight of God and man, and to lose the soul is to lose your being. You are lost forever."

Beginning of the Week of Praver.

This is the Week of Prayer, and services of an evangelistic nature will be the order done here. Read our two ads in this paper; in the churches. Many of the pastors last then come and see about it. evening commenced the revivalistic cam-

Drover Joseph W. Campbell Run Down by a Shifting Engine. Joseph W. Campbell, a prominent stock dealer of Glen Grove, Mercer county, was killed by a train at East Liberty stockyards at 3:30 vesterday morning. The circumstances were such that there will probably be some difficulty in placing the responsibility. Campbell, with J. G. Breunner and S. R. Williamson, had brought a number of cars of stock down to the city. In the Allegheny rards the train was cut. The drovers were tranferred to the caboose and tcld that their stock would follow. When Torrens station was reached the conductor ordered the train to slow up and told the men to jump off, as the train would not come to a dead stop. Wil-liamson jumped first, and by taking a big leap escaped an engine that was backing up alongside the train. No bell was being rung and there were no lights, so that Campbell, who immediately followed, did not know of the danger, and was instantly killed. The Coroner made an examination and will hold an inquest to-day. Campbell was 54 years old, and was a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity, and was also a member of the United Workmen. Dinner Wasn't Ready and He Beat His Wife, Joseph Madden was arrested at 697 Proble avenue vesterday, for beating his wife. His excuse was that she had been too drunk to cook his dinner. The wife denied this and as she did not appear intoxicated to the officer the husband was looked up.
