The Huser murder case went to the jury last evening. The Commonwealth rested yesterday forenoon, after the cross-examination of W. E. Rue was completed. Rue was the most important witness for the prosecution, as he testified to seeing Henry Huser and William Grott push Kelly up into the corner, where he received the fatal wounds.

Mr. Patterson, for the defense, said it was nnuccessary to make an opening address and proceeded at once to call character witnesses for the defendants. These were Robert Young, Henry Landerfeld and Willinm R. Suters, all citizens of Monongahela City, and all of whom testified that the defendants bore good reputations.

Mr. Groft was then put on the stand. He said he had been in Lang's saloon, in Webster, when the fight began. He ran out with the crowd and in the scuffle was cut on the arm. He dealed the testimony of the day before which implicated him, and said he did not have a knife at all.

Did Not Have a Knife.

Henry Huser was next called. He was also in the saloon when the row started. As soon as he reached the outside someone struck him and he got mixed up in the crowd. He was thrown down and hurt. When he got up again he went back into the saloon. He also denied having a knife in his possession or having had any part in the cutting of Kelly.

Barney Huser, the other defendant, said he had been lying on a bench in the saloon sleeping, when the fight occurred. Before he could get aroused sufficiently to get outside the fight was over. He had no knife and knew of none of the others having one.

When Ralph Dixon was called, a little life was put into the case. The witness was in the saloon when the trouble began and immediately started home, and he began to give as a reason that he knew Kelly to be a langerous man in a fight and he concluded he had no business there. District Attorney Burleigh objected to the witness proceeding on the ground that it made no difference what Kelly's reputation was, inasmuch as the defendants had not known it to be had. The Court sustained the objection. Mr.

Patterson then tried to show the character of Kelly, and Dixon said he was commonly regarded as a "black-guard." Henry Lang, the saloon keeper, said the fight was all over when he went out. He said the decensed was blamed for fighting once in awhile.

Kelly Was Sematimes Quarrelsome.

'Squire Jacob Tomer said Kelly was disposed to be quarrelsome when under the influence of liquor. John Vogel's testimony have been asleep in the saloon, as it was against the rules of the house.

'Squire Holland said Kelly's reputation was had, but could not name anyone who ever said aught against him.

The defense rest ed at this point, and then Mr. Burleigh recalled William Kelly, who said that after Groft was arrested he had ad-mitted that he had been cut in the arm while scuffling with a man with a red shirt, (meaning Kelly). Joseph Hoelter testified to having given Groft the knife on Sunday after the cutting had been done and before Groft's arrest.

The jury was next addressed by the coun sel for the defense, asking for the acquittal of all three defendants. The court then took a recess until 7 o'clock.

Only a Second Degree Verdict Asked.

Court was reconvened at 7 o'clock in the evening. District Attorney Burleigh then addressed the jury. He said they should base their verdict on the evidence and not upon sympathy, public clamor or the female relations paraded in court. Kelly, he said, was admittedly assassinated on August 29 Whoever committed the deed was guilty of a foul murder. He then reviewed the testimony connecting Groft and Henry Huser with the killing. He said in his opinion there was not sufficient evidence to convict Barney Huser, there was ample to convict Henry Huser and Groft of either murder in the second degree or manslaughter, according as the jury might find.

At the conclusion of Mr. Burleigh's address Judge Porter delivered his charge. He read the law defining the different de grees of murder. He said that he would not read the laws as to accessories, as he would say to the jury that under the evi-dence, if the defendants or any one of them was guilty, it was as a principal and not as an accessory. The evidence clearly in-dicated that at the time the offense was alleged to have been committed the defendants were all on the ground; therefore, if answerable at all it was as princi-After reviewing the evidence, said that under the circumstances of the did not believe it would be proper to convict any of the defendants of murder in the first degree. He concluded shortly after 10 o'clock and jury retired. Court was then adjourned until this morning.

A Chinaman Wants His Marriage to an American Kept Quiet.

A license was issued vesterday for the marriage of a Chinaman and a white woman. The groom is James E. Bruce, a tea merchant, and the bride is a lady of Reserve township. The parties interested did not want the issuing of the license published, the intended bride in particular wanting it kept out of the papers. They accordingly made arrangements to that effect at the marriage license office and the names were therefore kept off the list.

The marriage license clerk declined to allow the license to be seen and the name of the lady could not be learned. It is understood tint the couple were to be married by Alderman Donovan, of the Ninth ward.

Electric Lighting for Cable Cars.

For the past month or two experiments have been made on the Butlet street branch of the Citizens' Traction line in lighting their cable cars by electricity. These experiments came to a successful conclusion Saturday night and last night the officers of the road witnessed its working. This method is the invention of George Francis Myers, of this city. Cable lines in Pittsburg have experienced considerable diffi-culty and inconvenience with the smoky oil lamps, and it is understood they are all anxious to adort any system doing away with the trouble. The one car illuminated by the above method last night by seven incandescent lamps was as bright as day, and a newspaper could be comfortably read at the farther corner of the car. A Very Wild-Eyed Scheme, Indeed. Two French engineers, Charles A. A.

Barre and L. Guertin, passed through Pittsburg for Chicago yesterday. They have a scheme for building underground street railways to run 100 miles per hour. The cars will be minus wheels and axles and will be propelled by water power. The cars will be run over a film of water which will be forced between them and the rails. They claim a company has been organized in Chicago to build one of the roads to the World's Fair grounds. This is the wildest scheme suggested for many a day, but it may be feasible. Crashed Through a Burning Bridge.

DICKINSON, N. D., Jan. 5.-About 1:30 this morning a double-header stdek train crashed into a bridge two miles this side of Sentinel Butte. The head engineer discovered that the bridge was on fire and the air-brake was applied, but it was too late, as both engines and one car went through, killing Fireman Bert Clough and seriously injuring Fireman G. W. Poor. Both engineers jumped and were not injured.
