RAPID STRIDES TOWARD OUR DEFENSE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—The annual report of the Inter-State Commerce Commission states that there has been a marked improvement during the past year in the disposition of carriers toward compliance with the law.

Illustrations are given of certain devices which have been adopted by carriers for the purpose of reducing rates without previous publication of the contemplated reductions.

Upon the question of "sounding lines," the most important subject treated is that of "sounding lines" and "sounding lines."

A necessity for thorough rates. "A proper consideration of the public interest and the needs of commerce."

The question of legislative power to compel connecting carriers to grant these facilities is discussed at some length.

The power of Congress over carriers whose lines are confined within State limits, but who, nevertheless, participate in interstate commerce, is examined.

The dissimilar provisions and conflicting interpretations of bills of lading affect traffic of an inter-State character as well as merely State traffic.

A FAMILY CONSULTATION

Being held after reading the LARGE DISPLAY ADVERTISEMENT of HORNE & WARD on New Year's Day, announcing their great

January Muslin Undergarment Sale.

As well as the GENERAL CLEARANCE SALE IN ALL DEPARTMENTS OF THE STORE, resulted in the unanimous decision that the lady of the house would proceed to the establishment and buy all the UNDERGARMENTS NECESSARY FOR THE SPRING AND SUMMER WEAR.

In regard to purchasing a NEW FUR CAPE AND SEAL JACKET, the conclusion reached is that this is the store to go to, as it is certainly better to go to a house that has first-class goods and the BEST SELECTION of first-class furs, made in the early part of the season, than to purchase from houses that go into the market at the end of the season, and clean out Job Lots, the same being the odds and ends of the Fur Manufacturers' Stocks, which everyone who knows anything about furs, to be very poor, the defects of which the average buyer might not notice, but when the garment comes to be worn will not have the staying qualities.

HORNE & WARD advertise reductions in first-class Furs and always do just as they advertise. A mistake cannot be made in going to the house of
