IT IS A COMPROMISE.

The Mercer, Beaver, Butler and Lawrence County Republicans

AGREE ON A CONVENTION AT LAST.

Candidates for Congress to Pay Up and Announce Themselves.

NEWSY NOTES FROM NEARBY TOWNS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.]

NEW CASTLE, Jan. 6.—The Republican Congressional conferees of Mercer, Beaver, Butler and Lawrence counties, met at the Fountain Inn this afternoon. The members of the conference present were: Butler, H. H. Goucher, with three votes; Beaver, Hon. Charles Townsend and Ira F. Mansfield, with three votes; Mercer, Major Alexander McDowell, Captain P. E. Shipler and W. M. Kennedy; Lawrence, James A. Gardner, David Jameson and John Sword. Butler and Beaver counties desired the popular vote, or the Crawford county system, while Lawrence and Mercer was in favor of the delegate system, with a convention. All were in favor of a delegate system so arranged that the delegate would represent the people who elected him, and not the candidate.

One member moved that in the nominating convention the consent of one delegate from each voting precinct in the district be necessary, but this was objected to by Lawrence, for the reason that she has only 32 precincts, while each of the other counties have more than 50. The popular vote system was objected to on the same grounds by Lawrence county. She gives a Republican majority of 2,800, but has scarcely more than half the population of the other counties in the district. After discussing the various plans for four hours the conference finally unanimously agreed on the following:

Resolved first, That nominations for Congress in this Congressional district shall be made by a delegate nominating convention to consist of 15 delegates from each county according to the present system now in force, the said delegates from each county to be elected by the method now provided. Each delegate in convention shall vote the choice for Congress of the sub-district from which he is elected, as expressed by the vote of said district, for at least ten successive ballots, provided, the choice of his district so long remains a candidate before the convention. After said ten ballots each delegate shall be absolutely free and at liberty to vote for the person who in his opinion will prove the best acceptable candidate for the district.

Second, Each candidate for Congress, at least two weeks previous to the Republican primary election in the respective counties, shall send to the Chairman of each County Committee in the district a notice that he is a candidate for Congress, and upon the payment of the necessary fees said person shall be considered a candidate to be voted for in that county. Without a compliance of this rule or resolution, votes shall not be counted for the candidate thus failing to announce.

It shall be the duty of the chairman of each respective county committee to cause to be printed all tickets for Congress, and upon all of which shall be placed the names of all candidates who have complied with the preceding rule or resolution. Electors, in voting the said tickets, shall erase therefrom all names of candidates except that of the persons for whom they are desiring to vote.

A motion was carried that the nominating convention be held in New Castle on the second Tuesday of May this year, but after this convention the chairman of each county shall fix the time and place for holding the convention, Beaver to have the first selection, Butler second, Lawrence third and Mercer fourth. The report will be presented to the different Republican County Committees for concurrence, and the conference adjourned to meet at the call of the Chairman.

MRS. KOONS EXPELLED.

A Sensational Ending to Canton's Woman's Relief Corps Case.

CANTON, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—At a meeting of the local Woman's Relief Corps this afternoon Mrs. Emma F. Koons, as result of the accusations by Ada F. Clarke, was found guilty of three of five specific charges. The charges were writing the annoying and ugly anonymous letters to Mrs. Clarke, a councilor of the order, and two charges of "unbecoming conduct." Mrs. Koons was suspended from the corps and the order for five years.

Mrs. Belle Tenney, President of the local corps, changed the penalty from five years to one. When this was reported to the department to the corps for indorsement Mrs. Clarke, as prosecutor, made a motion of appeal to the Department President, and asked for a sentence of dishonorable discharge. The motion was carried. Mrs. Tenney at once made application to the local corps for a transfer card, stating that she did not desire to longer remain a member of a body carrying such sentences through. Her application for transfer was granted, and she left the order here.

GARNERED IN M'KEESPORT.

An Innocent Abroad Done Up in New York —New Annexation Talk.

MCKEESPORT, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Word reached here to-day that William Fehl, of this place, was robbed while in New York of $75 and a gold watch. Mr. Fehl is a civil engineer of this place, and while visiting the metropolis took two slick strangers into his confidence to his sorrow.

Oliver Black, Superintendent of Versailles Cemetery, was retired from that position by the directors yesterday. Undertakers, business and professional men have petitioned the directors to allow him to remain.

Christy Park, a suburb of this city, has a movement to be taken in as the Ninth ward of McKeesport. Reynoldton, also, is thinking of coming in.

The Scotch of McKeesport will pay a glowing tribute to the memory of Robert Burns on the 25th.

COLLIDED WITH A COAL TIPPLE.

A Serious Wreck on the B. & O. Railroad Near Fairmount, W. Va.

WHEELING, Jan. 6.—One mile east of Fairmont, W. Va., at 5:36 this morning, as the Chicago limited Baltimore and Ohio express train was crossing a bridge over Monongahela river at the usual rate of speed, the rear truck of the baggage car suddenly left the track, but was held in place by the stay chains and the Janny coupler until the end of the bridge was reached, when it swerved in crossing a switch and struck a coal tipple. The end of the smoking car struck the tipple, tearing it down, the entire structure falling on the coach, tearing off the roof and sides. Some of the passengers were slightly injured, but no one was killed. Conductor Sheehan was badly injured, and Chief Pitcher Moriarity, of Newark, had his right arm torn from its socket.

The Economites in a Law Suit.

WARREN, Pa., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—The case of Jacob Henriel and John Duss, trustees of the Harmony Society at Economy, versus Samuel Davidson and others, was called this morning. It is an action involving the ownership of 600 or 700 sticks of white pine, and 4,000 of oak, valued at $15,000. The Economy people claim that the timber was cut on their land on the Allegheny river in Warren county. They replevined the property, but Davidson went on, rafted the lumber and sold it, so the Economites sued for its value. The chief of the Economites is here and several of its members.

A Rebellion in Fayette County.

UNIONTOWN, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—The County Commissioners have removed L. K. Moyer, night watchman at the Court House, and Sol Clifford, janitor. Hugh O'Neil was put in their place, being expected to do the work of both men for $2 a day, saving the county $302 per year. Last night O'Neil went to Moyer to get the keys, but the latter refused to give them up and performed his duties as usual. A number of Moyer's friends were present and they made it so warm for O'Neil that he retired in haste.

Looks Like the Work of Train Wreckers.

BETHLEHEM, Jan. 6.—As the Buffalo express train on the North Penn Railroad was speeding through Perkasie tunnel, a few miles from here, the steps of the cars and journal boxes on the fireman's side of the train were torn off. Trainmen think it was an attempt to wreck the train for the purpose of robbery.

A Love Spat Gave Him Away.

GREENSBURG, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Jacob Pence, foreman of Gillinder's glass works here, is a defendant in an interesting criminal case. He is charged by I. H. Rouff with threatening to shoot the latter's daughter, Mary, aged about 17 years. Pence is young, married, and has two children. He denied that he threatened to shoot the girl. Aside from a few little love spats he never had any grievance against her. He often gave her money, he said, and at one time she had $175 of his money, which she was keeping until the sum reached $500, when they intended to elope. Decision was reserved until next Saturday.

Whipped a Little Child to Death.

BELLEFONTE, Jan. 6.—[Special.]—An official investigation is now being made into a very suspicious occurrence in the vicinity of Colliers' saw mill, in Penn Valley. It is said that a man living there had whipped his 9-months'-old child with a strap until it was black and blue. The child died soon after, and was buried.

Tri-State Brevities.

MALIGNANT diphtheria is ravaging Locust Gap, a mining town near Mt. Carmel.

J. H. KIRKLAND, a merchant of Wellsburg, W. Va., has fled, leaving $16,000 debts behind him.

DANIEL BURKE, near New Castle, has been arrested for shooting six times at his mother-in-law.

THE A. French Spring Company, of Pittsburg, has applied for space at the Columbian Exposition.

JOHNSTOWN will try to secure Andrew Carnegie's presence at the opening of the new Cambria library.

IT is believed the defunct Washington, Pa., Live Stock Insurance Company will pay 60 cents on the dollar.

THE B. & O. is negotiating for the purchase for $3,000,000 of the line of the Wheeling Bridge and Terminal Company.

PATRICK MALONEY has sued the village of Salineville, O., for $10,000, for damages resulting from a fall over an unprotected embankment.

THE Supreme Court has decided the McGinty case at New Castle. Sarah Randolph McGinty is in the penitentiary for soliciting one Samuel Kissinger to kill and murder W. S. Foetz, President of the First National Bank, of New Castle. Her counsel carried the case to the Supreme Court on the claim that a solicitation of such a nature was not a crime under the statutes of Pennsylvania. Judge McMichael held that it was a crime and the Supreme Court sustains him.

A FAMILY CONSULTATION

Being held after reading the LARGE DISPLAY ADVERTISEMENT of HORNE & WARD on New Year's Day, announcing their great

January Muslin Undergarment Sale,

As well as the GENERAL CLEARANCE SALE IN ALL DEPARTMENTS of THE STORE, resulted in the unanimous decision that the lady of the house would proceed to the establishment and buy all the UNDERGARMENTS NECESSARY FOR THE SPRING AND SUMMER WEAR.

In regard to purchasing A NEW FUR CAPE AND SEAL JACKET, the conclusion reached is that this is the store to go to, as it is certainly better to go to a house that has first-class goods and the BEST SELECTION of first-class furs, made in the early part of the season, than to purchase from houses that go into the market at the end of the season, and clean out Job Lots, the same being the odds and ends of the Fur Manufacturers' Stocks, which everyone who knows anything about furs, to be very poor, the defects of which the average buyer might not notice, but when the garment comes to be worn will not have the staying qualities.

HORNE & WARD advertise reductions in first-class Furs and always do just as they advertise. A mistake cannot be made in going to the house of INTERESTING FUR NEWS.

It has been our experience in former years that many people defer the purchase of Till after Christmas. The extremely warm weather has made this year specially notable in that respect. We have kept up our stock of fine garments and are offering them at prices which will sell them without trouble.

THIS WEEK ONLY

We quote the following prices:

25-inch Alaska Seal Jackets $150, have sold everywhere at $200.

27-inch Alaska Seal Jackets $160, formerly $210.

30-inch Half Sacques $180, sold everywhere at $225.

These goods are positively this year's make, with high shoulders, rolling collar, and every garment warranted exactly as represented.
