BURROWS TALKS FOR BLAINE.

He Explodes the Charge That Reciprocity Is Free Trade.

EX-FOSTMASTER JAMES ON A REFORM

INFECTAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH. BOSTON, Jan. 7.-Boston merchants gave reciprocity a big boom to-night, and in lorsed all that Secretary of State Blaine has done or intends to do in the way of es tablishing reciprocal relations with other countries. It was expected that Mr. Blaine himself would be present to explain his views on the subject, and the members of the Boston Merchants' Association anticipated hearing from Mr. Blaine's own lips the platform on which he would consent to stand in the coming Presidental contest. But Mr. Blaine could not come on account of Mrs. Blaine's illness, and then he wrote a letter embodying what he had intended saving at the meeting. He had asked Hon. William E. Curtis, of the Bureau of Amercan Republics, to act as messenger. Then Mr. Blaine himself was stricken down, and the precious document is still in Mr. Binine's desk at Washington.

Burrows as Blaine's Monthpiece

When Mr. Blaine knew that he could not attend the meeting he asked ex-Congressman Julius C. Burrows to represent him. So the Michigan statesman acted as the ecretary of State's mouthpiece, and the views on reciprocity which he represented may be considered as coming direct from

Mr. Blaine himself. Mr. Burrows and Mr. Curtis were the representative Yankee visitors, and the Southern countries were represented by Senor Romero, the Mexican Minister; Senor Peraza, the Venezuelan Minister, and Senor Monagas, Secretary of the Venezuelan Legation, Ex-Postmuster General Thomas L. James, of New York, was another guest, and he diverted the attention of the merchants from reciprocity to Civil Service reform, his speech being mainly a denunciation of the prevailing system of running the Postoffice Department. He found special fault with the system of sending ignorant in-spectors from Washington to dictate to in-telligent posimesters of large cities as to the management of their offices. He ad-vocated pensions for the old worn-out emploves in the Postoffice Department.

Condensation of the l'ostoffices, Mr. James made this suggestion, which seemed to meet with favor: We should condense our country post-offices, as they do in England. Where there are two or three rural offices within a short distance of one another, put one office in charge of a postmaster and let the others be postal stations, such as we have in cities, The Government could ave a large amount of money in this way. This reform would be a sad blow to the aspiring rural politi-claus who yearn to write P. M. after their names, but it would be of great benefit to the people, who after all, are supposed to be the rules of this country. . the rulers of this country,

The representatives of foreign countries did not discuss the question of reciprocity as fully as had been hoped. They indorsed heartily the sontiments that had been ex-
