diers and Police.

THY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.) LONDON, Jan. 9. - [Copyright.]-The prophecy in THE DISPATCH last week has been precaptly fulfilled by the discovery of a "dynamite plot" in England and the arrest of so-called dynamiters in London. The three prisoners have been remanded, as it will take considerable time for the police to complete their investigations, so | cle of we are told. Until then there is no need to say more here than that the police story lacks symmetry, and that it requires no strain upon the imagination to trace the rascally but masterful hand of Red Jim McDermot in the plot.

A: the moment of cabling this THE DIS-PATCH reporter learns that the man Deakin who was arrested in London has greatly disappointed the Scotland Yard people. The mysterious fluid which he carried in a there. small bottle within a eigar box proves to be chloroform, as Deakin declared it was.

The Police Have a New Theory Ready. This necessitated a new theory, and has been promptly furnished to fit the case. The police allege that the anarchists have lately been discussing at their meetings the destrine of "individual expropriation," which is said to mean justifiable stealing, Ergo Deakin meant to stupefy someone with caluroform and then rob him. The theory, although comforting to the police, will not bear magisterial investigation, and it has been decided to take Deakin to Walsall and charge him with complicity in the dynamite plot there.

The homb said to have been found in the house of one of the prisoners is of the size and shape of a large pear, comfortably portable, and, according to official experts, powerful enough, if filled with dynamite, to iil a dozen people.

From another source of news it has leaked out that the police investigations have developed the fact that the prisoners, Cailes, Simplifier and Deakin, with others who are not yet in custody, were hatching a plot re-sembling in its details the plot of the an-archists in Chicago which led to the Hay-market massacre in 1886.

Sensational Developments Promised.

It is asserted that some of the documents seized by the police are of an extremely startling nature. Further arrests are pretty certain to follow the knowledge obtained by the police, and sensational developments comised when the authorities make ublic all the details of the conspiracy. The platters had evidently little fear of ee, or else they thought the nearer they were to them the safer from discovery hey would be, for their club room was within a stone's throw of the police station. When the police searched Slaughter's lodgings they found an immense assortment of literature, in which the most violent form of language was used to call Anarchists to revenge themselves upon society for the wrongs which they claim to suffer. Among the papers was a circular which reads: A Blood and Thunder Manifesto.

Give Hot Battle to Soldiers in a Garrisoned Town-They Attack the Police, Who Hold Their Ground Till the Troops Take

The gendarmes gers on the Louisville and Nashville Railhad got wind of the affair, and when the road from Louisville to New Orleans went Anarchists reached Xeras they were sur-

They dispatched a force of eavalry in pursuit of the Anarchists, who in some way became cognizant of the

them. The prisoners will not be given the benefit of a civil law trial. They will be arraigned before a court martial, and their punishment will follow swift upon convic-

The attack made by the Anarchists was commenced just as the people were leaving the theaters, and was directed principally toward that quarter of the city in which the prison is situated. The intention of the Anarchists was to remove the prisoners. The troops stationed at the prison made a sortic, however, and repulsed the rioters, while the gendarmes were routing a number of scattered bands which were creating disturbances in other parts of the city. After a stubborn resistance by the Anarchists three of their num-ber were killed and 20 more or less seriously wounded. An innocent spectator was killed during the fight by an Anarchist armed with a scythe.

The audacity of the Anarchists, in attack ing a city where a battalion of infantry and ing a city where a bartalion of infantry and a regiment of cavalry are quartered, is regarded as alarming and inexplicable. Detachments of cavalry are in hot pursuit of the fugitives, who are divided into two bands, one fleeing in the direction of Lebrijo and the other toward Arcos.

One shot fired at 3 o'clock, with a moderate elevation, skipped over the water and finally seemed to strike the land far to the southward. During the firing of the service charges observers were stationed at differ-ent parts of the ship, below deeks and on the superstructure, to note the effect of the ssion. Everything was found to work satisfactorily at all points after the heavy explosion, and the firing has been attended with no unpleasant results to the ship, officers or crew. A few more shots will be fired during the week and the monitor will then return to the navy yard.

A BIG FIGHT ON BUTTER.

PRODUCERS OF THE MATERIAL TO ORGANIZE AGAINST OLEO,

Congress Will Be Asked to Act-Grance and Alliances in the Movement-Wholesale Prosecutions Promised-More Im portant Than Gold and Silver.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—The Dairynen's Association has announced its intention to make the fight against oleomargarine a national one. Heretofore the great strength of the association has been in this State and city, and here most of the moves against illegal butter men have emanated. Included in the movement will be most of the State Granges and branches of the Farmers' Alliance throughout the Union.

Last year the dairymen expended over $9,000 in their prosecutions, but it is estimated that from this larger body from $25,000 to $50,000 will be subscribed to keep up the sinews of war. The strength of the newly-organized body is to be first used for the purpose of securing national legislation. Senator Hiscock has charge of a bill giving to the States the power to legislate against the sale of oleo in original packages. The verbiage of the measure is identical with the Wilson liquer bill passed by the last Converse avenue that the world Schemes. Congress, except that the word "oleomar-garine" is substituted for the words "intoxienting liquors." This bill was framed by the legal advisers of the dairymen, and by them it will be pushed.

As the first step in the battle, petitions have been sent, within a few days, all over the country, through the agencies of the newly organized association. These are now pouring into the office of Attorney Lu-fher S. Kauffman, filled with signers. So ast are they coming in that the services of a number of clerks is necessary to handle them. They are being arranged in Congres sional districts for presentation. Early next week Attorney Kauffman and President C. F. Darlington will go to Washington and endeavor to secure votes for the bill. The petitions will be presented as soon as they can be arranged. It is estimated that there will be over 50,000 signers, representing almost every Congressional district in the

"The strength of this body can be estimated when I tell you that the annual output of the American cow exceeds the com-bined output of gold and silver in this country," said Mr. Kauffman vesterday. "By actual figures the butter, milk and cheese products for last year represented in round numbers $250,000,000, while the com-bined output of gold and silver equaled about $206,000,000. The dairy products of the country would be dealt a death blow if the manufacture of oleo is allowed to flourish, so there is ample reason to believe that the country will act in a mass. As soon as possible we will begin a series of wholesale prosecutions in the other large cities where the business has gained a foothold similar to those we have been mak-ing here. With all this activity I think that oleomargarine will soon be unknown."

COVERED WITH A PALL

Strange Fatality Hanging over Cincin-Reported Within a Week-Each of the Prominent Theaters Has a Victim on

CINCINNATI, Jan. 9 .- For the past few days a pall has rested over the theatrical community in the city. Some strange fatality seemed to be pursuing the profession. The Museum, the People's and the Grand had each suddenly and in quick succession lost a member of the troop under engagement.

John Dietel, the fat man at the museum, had succumbed to an attack of la grippe after a very short illness. Then last Saturday night Lizzie Smith, one of the bright performers at the People's, went to her hotel, and next afternoon was a corpse, an ac-cidental over-dose of drugs having caused her. death. The next night Mary Bird, of "A Straight Tip" company, at the Grand, went from the theater to her room, and from blazing perfume received injuries which re-sulted fatally in a few hours. These last two deaths in the theatrical profession proper had especially filled the more superstitious with forebodings. "There must be a third," was the common remark behind the scenes, and they wondered to whom the summons would next come. When anybody complained of feeling badly it drew the comment, "It is your turn next." These half jesting, half serious remarks spread a gloom in the crowd back of the footlights, despite the forced smile that invasible secondarial than smile that invariably accompanied them.

The consternation can be imagined when yesterday, during rehearsal at Havlin's, one of the troupe rushed in and announced that J. F. Dean, of the "Old Homestead" company, had suddenly breathed his last.

A similar scene followed a few minutes later at Heuck's, where the "Old Homestead". stead" was being rehearsed. Dean had gone to his hotel the night before complaining of a cold, but no serious fears were en-tertained, even yesterday morning, when his condition required the services of a doctor. The sad announcement came over the telephone wire to the theater and caused a great shock to his fellow members of the company.

the progress of the plot. Judge Botkin will go to Springfield Monday and open court under military protection. The Judge's house is still guarded by a detachment of A Equad of Armed Strangers. Late last night Aaron Potter arrived here

That seems to be the only remedy, as the departure of the troops only icans a resumption of the troubles.

W. E. Hutchinson has adjourned the Dis-
