Senator Sherman Now Rounding Out Pittsburg Has the Second Largest Jobbing Trade in the Country in This Line. His Long Political Life.

The Chio Senator Says So, and Believes Harrison's Manners Are Bad.

P. FOLEY TALKS ABOUT STATE POLITICS

United States Senator John Sherman passed through Pittsburg last night on his way from Columbus to Washington. The Senator says he is forever hereafter out of politics. He was suffering from a severe cold, but he looked hearty and for half an hour he talked glibly on politics and other issues of the day. He don't believe that Senstor Quay will go into an open battle with the President. He was surprised to hear that Senator Quay and Mr. Magee had arranged their differences and were now pulling together in politics.

"What is new in the political world, Senator?" was asked. "Well," he began, "the politicians are moving pretty rapidly jest now. I have been away from Washington for two days and have got behind in my political information.

"Will Mr. Blaine be nominated for Presi-

"If the result at Tuesday's primaries can be taken as an indication I rather think be can be if he wants the nonlination. I still think he should not be nominated, how-"Is it true that ex-Governor Forsker is endeavoring to swing the Ohio delegation for Alger?" Fornker Does Not Control Ohio.

"I think not. Mr. Foraker says he is for Binine for President. Foraker is strong in Ohio. While he was Governor he put the machinery of his party in good shape. He looked carefully after all the details and he is a good organizer. I believe however he is for Blaine for President."

"Will Mr. Foraker control Ohio's delegation to the National Convention?" "No, sir. The people of Ohio will attend to that matter."

"Will President Harrison be renominated?" "I don't know."
"Will he get the Ohio delegation?"
"He may, probably. Mr. Harrison would be more popular with Ohio people if his manner was more agreeable. However, the Ohio Republicans have confidence in Mr. Harrison and his administration." "In your judgment, Senator, will Mr. Blaine accept the nomination for Presi-"I hardly think he will. His health, I believe, will not permit him to accept the nemination, and I don't believe he wants to "Well, who then will get the Blaine delegates to the National Convention? Alrer's Star Is Growing Brighter.

"I can't say. I think most of them will go to any man who can beat Harrison. I hear much talk of their going to General Alger, of Michigan."
"Will you be a candidate for President, sir," the Senator replied, as he squared himself, evidencing interest in the question. "I will never be a candidate for President. I am content with what the people of Ohio have given me and I will round up my political life with my present term in the Senate. Six terms in the Senate is more than the people of Ohio have given any man in the past. I can't say what they will do in the future."

MR. FOLEY INDIGNANT.

He Denies His Alleged Talk in Favor of Barrity-A World's Fair Office Here.

P. Foley, the Democratic politician and World's Fair Commissioner, returned from Harrisburg last night on the Chicago limited. He was accompanied by George every corner to accommodate more bundles. Riley, also a World's Fair Comm Mr. Foley denied that he went East to attend a political conference of the Harrity men and said that he had not talked politics since he left Pittsburg. "How about that interview sent from Harrisburg to a local evening paper?" was "I saw that interview to-day. But I was not interviewed about Harrity's chances or on any other subject since I left here. I tell you positively I did not talk favorable or otherwise of Mr. Harrity. I suppose these reports properly colored are sent out to manufacture sentiment in the State Com-mittee light which comes off at Harrisburg next Wednesday."

Mr. Foley, in the interview sent from Harrisburg, was reported as being strongly in favor of Mr. Harrity for the late W. L. Scott's place on the National Democratic Committee. Mr. Foley, however, has been instructed to vote for J. M. Guffey for the place, and he said last night that he would certainly obey instructions. The effort to manufacture sentiment in Mr. Harrity's favor being made at Harrisburg by Mr. Harrity's correspondents is amusing the Pittsburg Democrats, whe have unanimously indorsed Mr. Guffey.

"No. I was not East holding a conference with Mr. Harrity or any of his friends," Mr. Foley said. "We were at Harrisburg attending the meeting of the Committee on Manning ungers, of the World's Edic Con-Manufacturers of the World's Fair Commission. We had a satisfactory meeting, and decided to open an office in Pittsburg, where we will engage a secretary and sev-eral clerks and will receive applications for and grant space for the exhibits of our local manufacturers. The Pittsburg office will be made one of the most important in the State, and we will be busy with the affairs of the World's Fair Commission for a year

Mr. Coulter has charge of the financial end of the postoffices of the country. He asked kindly for Postmaster McKean, and expressed keen regret at Mr. and wool, all-wool and fine merino underand expressed keen regret at Mr. McKean's illness. "Mr. McKean is one of the best postmasters in the United States," Mr. Coulter said. "His reports come to us in the most gratifying shape, and we have never had to correct his account to the extent of a penny during his administration.

Pittsburg has the best postmaster in the world I think," Mr. Coulter concluded.

BLAINE IS TOO DELICATE TO RUN. SOME INTERESTING FACTS IN THAT CONNECTION.

> The Manner in Which a Leading House Conducts the Business.

For a quarter of a century Mr. John S. Roberts has been in the wall paper business, serving in every capacity from clerk to pro prietor. In order to obtain information regarding a branch of business which is in many people's minds about spring season, a call was made on Mr. Roberts in his new location, 719-721 Liberty street, yesterday. "Yes," said Mr. Roberts, in reply to questions, "it is a fact, although not generally known, that our jobbing business is the largest in the country, with one excepthe road during ten months of the year, and our receipts of wall paper average three carloads a week the year round. Of course, much of this is reshipped by us to our retail customers, so that between receipts and rehis ments we handle about one carload of wail paper every working day of the year. Our business goes largely through seven States, and in lesser quantities to 10 or 12

MULTIPLICITY OF DESIGNS. When asked regarding the number of patterns and colorings which were represented in so extensive a trade, Mr. Roberts referred to his books and stated that they had in stock, or else in samples which could be promptly supplied, over 7,000 varieties in wall papers and 5,000 in borders. This tremendous assortment is recorded by such an ingenious system of bookkeeping that it is possible at a very few moments' notice to tell exactly how many rolls of any particu-lar pattern are on hand; and, in fact, it is possible to take account of stock from these records without going through the six stories and basement, which are piled full of rolls and bundles of paper. But of course a personal examination of stock is required to show the condition of the goods. 'How do you know which patterns to

"How do you know which patterns to order for your trade? Is not that the risky part of your business?"

"Well," answered Mr. Roberts, "no man can tell whether a pattern will prove popular until it is presented to the retail trade. The manufacturers get up their new designs early in the summer. The jobbers then work night and day during July and August to put samples of these into book form for their traveling salesmen, who start to visit the trade early in September. Sales are usually made for delivery in March. When the jobbers' orders accumulate the manufacturers start to turn out the stock, and many a design, that at first seemed sure to find favor everywhere, is left far be-hind by some pattern that was not so much esteemed. In fact, we never trust our judgment as to which papers will sell best-we wait to ascertain before ordering."

E MUST ALWAYS HAVE SOME OLD STOCK. Mr. Roberts smiled when asked how he managed to get rid of old stock, so as to keep up with the times and show as fine novelties as wall paper men newly engag-ing in business. "The fact is that old, standard papers are a necessity to a first-class wall paper establishment," he said; "the worst drawback to the dealer now en-gaging in business is his inability to obtain some of these old papers which are not manufactured now. For instance, a dark dado which is very frequently called for must be obtained from some lucky dealer who has it in stock. They no longer make them. Similarly with such specialties as perspective papers, used in churches, and Corinthian columns, which are needed for theaters and halls. These are nearly unattainable except from a first-class design who has kept them in stock. I might mention others, but these will illustrate what The reporter was guided through this immense establishment from cellar to sixth story, everywhere finding that even these acres of floor space were crowded with the stock needed for the trade. In fact, scaffoldings and shelves are being added in Yet if receipts stopped it would take only two weeks' business to completely deplete the stock. Mr. Roberts keeps the largest line of moldings in the State-or, perhaps, in the country-and it is a fact that if every branch of business in Pittsburg transacted the same proportion of the trade of the United States that is done here in wall paper jobbing, the streets could not contain the vehicles required to handle them. The retail department is on the first floor and comfort and excellent light are features which will be appreciated.
