Rule the subject of an interesting sermon "In the liberal church we gain, our free-dom by hard thinking, which substi-tures trath for the errors of olden times. Believing that, there is no real freedom in mere ignorance, we scorn that so-called freedom, which merely denies other mer's create and set merely denies other men's creeds, and set purselves to seeking after truth, knowing that the truth, any truth, will make us genuinely free. It is very commonly sup-posed of us that our only aim is to be free, as if we were so childish or so indolent as not to care to think any more, or to strive for goodness any further, or to stand by our fellow-men in the stress of a common advance. But this is a grave misconception. We do not desire the ireedom of the animal or the careless mind. Our chief aim as a church is not freedom-but truth. And in the search for truth we are ready to bend our minds to continuous study and hold our wills to lite-long faithfulness to the struggle for improvement, and wait, if need be, for ireedom. Only after we know the truth shall we, or can we be, nobly free, 4

"Let true freedom be your test of every dogma of the church or of science, and every custom of the world. Does a given doctrine cheer and lift you, attract your seem just and hopeful? Does it appear as m aid to good character and an appeal to your independent reason? If not, that doetrine is not true, no longer a vital part of the thinking of mankind. Take for a single instance the dogma that human nature is totally depraved. What feeling has that ever given to a single mind save grief horror and a sense of bondage. But truth gives freedom, light, hope, growth. So that dogma shows its falsity by its influence on the minds that believe it.

A TIDE THAT LEADS TO FORTUNE.

Lost Opportunities Are Learnedly Discuss by Rev. Dr. Sutherland,

Dr. Sutherland, speaking on "Lost Opportunities" at the Second Presbyterian Church, vesterday, said: "There is not a great nation of ancient or modern times, now living simply in name, whose decline and fall cannot be clearly and distinctly traced to a failure to take advantage of some supreme opportunity afforded it in the providence of God to prove its right to continued existence. I do not believe that a self forever of a blind superstition on the one hand and hopeless atheism on the other. But these opportunities come to individunits as well as untions-special opportuni-ties, as we say. Some of them come through descent, through pious ancestry and the salutary influence of Christian homes. Again there are opportunities that belong to certain periods of life. There is, for ex-sumple, the season of youth which is emphat-ically the golden period of life and the senson peculiarly favorable for obtaining an interest in the rich blessings of the gospel. There is a day of grace for all men. It is a day of opportunity which, to those who do not improve it, will end in a night of gloom and despair. But to those who do improve it its golden setting will be but the promise and prophecy of the brighter day in the brighter realm where there is no night nor sindow of gloom to dim its glory."

Joseph's Reception of His Brothers.

Rev. E. P. Cowan, D. D., at the Third* Presbyterian Church, last night, recited in his own language the story of Joseph's to atment of his eleven brothers on the occusion of their coming down from Canaan to Egypt for corn during the famine. Commenting on this Bible incident the doctor said it was one of many in the Bible that but one writer referred to and which could not be proven by the works of contemporaneous writers, yet, in this case it was known that at the time the incident was laid there was a famine in Egypt and the own self-love. We are not to consider ho others have done to us. We are not to imagine what they would do to us under the circumstances, but to do in all the ordinary transactions of life as we would be done by It is not hard to see that this Golden Rule is the practical application of that part of the great law of love which enjoins, Thou shall love thy neighbor as thyself, and we are to remember at the same time that the and to tender at the same time time that the man with whom we are dealing or upon whom we are acting is considered by our Lord as 'our neighbor.' There is no man upon this footstool of God who may not become your neighbor or mine to whom by this Golden Rule we are bound to do as we Attest: P. W. SIEBEET, Clerk. would be done by. "The glory of this rule is that it emphasizes the brotherhood and the equal rights of men. I am poor, but I am to use the rich as I would be done by. I am rich, but I am to use the poor as I would be done by if I were noor.

"Without speculating about the difficulties of some future emergency begin at once iff your own home or lodging place, once in your own nome or longing place, store or office to use superiors, inferiors or equals as you would be done by, and so fulfil this law of Christ. If you have the mind to do this-thank God, it is the spirit of Christ, which is also the spirit of wisdom-for like begets like, and he who day by day does as he would be done by will find others applying the same rule, and so reap fruit on earth as well as lay up treasure in heaven. This rule and none other applied in the spirit of justice and mercy, compassion and lorgiveness will solve the increasing perplexities of crowded popula-tions—labor and capital, rich and poor. It is time that those who have for conturing is time that those who have for centuries had faith in the doctrines of the Cross and of the risen Christ should also have faith in the every day Christ-the Christ of th

Golden Rule." INSPIRATION OF THE BIBLE.

Rev. George T. Purves Says the Apostley Were Like Poets.

Rev. George T. Purves, of the First Presbyterian Church, preached last evening on nation ever existed that has not had its tide "Inspiration of the Bible." He said: "The which if taken at the flood would belief of past years in regard to the inhave led on to permanence and in-creasing power. The ancient Jewish that they were temporarily de-nation is a conspience example of the prived of their human faculties folly and fate of a nation that neglects its opportunity. Such an opportunity France had at the time of the Revolution of em-bracing a purified faith and so ridding herspiration was that of a poet, who sees in the simplest things of nature great truths, which ordinary men fail to discover. This is the true conception of the inspiration of the Apostles, who, by the peculiar circum-stances among which they were placed, were enabled by the exercise of their hu-man faculties to grasp truths unseen by others. Their writings are human as well

We believe the Bible inspired by God be-cause Christ told the people to be guided by it. We believe in the divinity of Christ because he was raised from the dead. If he had not been, why would his religion sur-vive his death?
