

CHAIRMAN HAHN MAD.

He Angriily Denounces a Man He Traces Out as Authority For

SOME NEW SENSATIONAL TALES

Of Attempts to Bribe Legislators in the Senatorial Fight.

HE CALLS HIM ALL KINDS OF LIARS

Special Telegram to the Dispatch. COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 19.—There were a number of exciting passages in the Senatorial bribery controversy to-day. The grand jury continued its work, and had as witnesses Representative Ford, Senator McClellan and J. D. Harris, a labor agitator, all of whom were forsaken adherents during the recent contest.

H. W. Tiernan, who is charged by the Sherman men with being responsible for the attempt to smirch the character of Sherman, has had rather a tough day of it. He was a compromise worker during the Senatorial contest, and came here from Toledo, presumably for the purpose of doing newspaper work.

Mr. Tiernan replied in an evening paper, in which he goes a little further than anyone has yet considered it safe to do, and gives the details of an effort to bribe a member in the interest of Sherman. He hangs to his text, and says there were three Sherman Republicans during the contest who met in a room at a hotel, and the scheme to bribe a certain member to vote for Sherman for $3,500 was considered.

A STRONG CANAL ARGUMENT.

Mr. Frankland Says Inland Navigation Is Increasing Rapidly. Benjamin Frankland, General Superintendent of the Western Seamen's Friend Association, registered at the Home Hotel yesterday. Mr. Frankland is also the head of the orthodox Quakers in the United States.

Foraker Wouldn't Hurt His Party. Tiernan tells how this was arranged, but Governor Foraker, after consultation with friends, decided he could not take the chances of permanently injuring the party, even at the expense of the loss of the Senatorship and the humiliation of Sherman, however much he might wish to get even with the Senator.

Mr. Hahn Gets His Mad Up. Mr. Hahn was surprised to hear of the allegation, and immediately denounced it as a lie. "I never mentioned your name in connection with the matter to anyone," said he. "You have been misinformed. Who is your authority?"

"Mr. Tiernan," was the response of Mr. Dreshbach. "I don't care to continue the conversation, then, except to retract the denial."

"You are a liar, and you know it," was the cool remark of the indignant chairman. "That will do, I am satisfied," interposed Mr. Dreshbach, with a desire to close the conversation.

"I don't care to talk to a man of your stamp, but I will waive that and say it is your proposition to me to sell the influence of the Toledo Telegraph to the committee for $1,500. You know you did. I believe you to be created from dirt. You are a liar, I know, without any further inquiry."

"I will make you prove it," cried Tiernan, with perspiration standing out on his face in big drops. "Any man of your character has no business in decent company. You ought not to be allowed on the floor of the House. Get away from me. I don't want to see you."

He Feels Sure the Curative Legislation Will Be Sustained. City Attorney Moreland returned from Philadelphia yesterday. He had been looking after the filing of appeals to the Supreme Court on the curative cases decided in the lower court Saturday.

The city attorney was highly pleased with the reception accorded him by the Supreme Court, and he is confident that their attitude toward the curative legislation will be favorable.

FAITHFUL SERVICE REWARDED.

See Davis, of St. David's Society, Kindly Remembered. The regular meeting of St. David's Society was held at their rooms, 99 Fourth avenue, last night, and an innovation from the regular order of business was sprung on the Secretary, Robert H. Davis.

Assistant Postmaster Al Edwards, in his happiest vein, took the initiative in its behalf. Mr. Davis was not so much opposed that he could not respond, and although he accepted the gift in the spirit in which it was given, took a hand in the surprise himself by telling the society just what he thought of their little episode.
