temperature and clearing skies, and in win-ter cold waves.

How the Changes Are Noticed.

Temperature on a given parallel west of the low may be looked for on the same parallel to the east when the Low has passed and frost will follow along or north of an isotherm of about 40° if the night is clear and there is little wind. Following the low is an area of high, bringing sunshine, no decided change in temperature occurs. If isotherms directly west of a place incline from northwest to southeast it will grow warmer, if from northeast to southwest and also east of a similar one through the middle of a high. Absence of decided waves of high or troughs of low pressure indicates continuance of existing weather.

Though talk of the weather is usually a sort of skirmishing around before a general action of tongues when friends and acquaintances meet, and seems usually ridiculous,

as for instance: "Is this hot enough for you?" or vice versa, yet meteorology really an interesting science and one whose elements are not hard to master.

THE BOYCOTT ENDS IN A GRAND FIZZLE

Henri Pasquille, a Mexican merchant who lives near the border, passed through the city yesterday bound for New York. So many conflicting reports have been written about the revolutionist, Garza, and the number of men in his band, that any accurate information on the subject will be appreciated by the public. It has been said that he is a defaulter, a broken-down sewing machine agent and that Diaz had no fear for him, but Mr. Pasquille says the revolution is becoming serious. He is afraid it will result in inter-present Mexican Government. ber of Indians and disaffected Mexicans band, and along the border it is variously estimated that he has a force ranging from 4,000 to 5,000 men. If this is true, it will be a difficult matter to hunt him down. The best troops in Diaz's army are the turalese soldiers. They are nearly all bandits who have been picked up i various parts of the country, and nobody has any assurance that they will not desert when they get into their old haunts. The callle men along the border would be glad to have the trouble settled as soon as possible. Garza's outlaws are stealing their open for food. The rascals are well supplied with ammunition, and in the mount am fastnesses they are safe from attack." He has the confidence of the best people in the country, and during his administra-tion much has been done to promote law and order and encourage the invest-ment of toreign capital. NO COUNTERFEIT MACHINE.

How a Number of People Were | Fooled Over Genuire Dollar Bills.

Harry Ulam, the Central Hotel clerk has had lots of fun this week fooling his riends with an alleged counterfeit muchine. It is very simple, consisting of two perforated cylinders arranged like a set of rolls and turned with a crank. Mr. Ulam has three erisp $1 bills that he puts in one cylinder, and then by running a piece of blank paper through the machine a bill is forced out, and the blank takes its place. He gravely announces to his friends that he got the apparatus from a West Virginia counerfeiter, and it is arranged to make $450.

The trick is a clever one and will deceive the average man. More than one person felt the bills, and declared they were per-fect imitations of a dollar. To make the deception more complete Mr. Ulam would throw the money into a waste basket, and warn his friends not to say anything about One man, however, caught on to the cheme, and going into the barroom with one of the bills set up the drinks at the tierk's expense.

Oil Men After Big Gushers.

"Oil wells that were considered a fortune a few years ago are sneered at now," said A. H. Logan vesterday. "The operators to-day are looking for big gushers and nothing else. If a man had a 300-barrel well three years ago, he was satisfied, and thought he had a good thing. Now such weils are passed by as not of much consequence. The production around Pittsburg continues to be very large. The wells are not great, but when the output of all is added up, it makes a respectable showing and represents considerable wealth."

First Train Will Run To-Morrow.

J. E. Terry, general agent of the Wheeling and Lake Eric road at Steubenville, was at the Union depot yesterday going East. He says the final arrangements for the running of passenger trains from Wheeling to Steubenville, Cleveland and Toledo hid been made, and the first train would start Monday morning. If the Wheeling and Lake Erie would now strike out for Pittsburg the little line would take its place in the front rank with other railroads. The officials hope to see the road enter Pittsburg

MUST OBEY THE LAW.

Suit Will Be Entered Against Ministers and Physicians Who Fail to Make By Means of a Combination of Long and Proper Returns of Marriages, Births Etc., to the Bureau of Health.

The Board of Health is determined to have all laws pertaining to that department rigidly enforced hereafter. For some time past a great many of the various persons who are supposed to make reports to that department have, through carelessness, failed to send in the reports regularly. The recent action of the Philadelphia Board of Health, taken against about 400 preachers of that city, will be repeated in this city in the future. A great many of the preachers in the city fail to make reports of the marriages they perform, and the Board of Health is determined that they will comply with the law or suit will be brought.

The board has been easy on the doctors, midwives and preachers, and the condition of affairs has grown worse every day. The records cannot be properly kept unless these reports are sent in at the proper time. The penalty for failing to report marriages is $20 for each case. The board will open war at once on the clergy, and as fast as the carcless preachers are found out they will be saed.

Superintendent Baker, in speaking of the trouble the board experiences, said: have had more or less trouble over the various returns the past several months. We did not wish to be too strict about it, as we supposed everyone knew how binding the law is, and our position in the matter. There are a great many cases in the city national troubles, or the overthrow of the where either a physician, midwife or present Mexican Government. "If Garza was a sewing machine agent," he said, "be must have been a clever one, and plied his trade well to gather followers and stir up the people. I know that a num-s when it is the first offense. The law must be obeyed and we will have it so hereafter. have left their homes to join his I don't know how soon we will bring some of the preachers to time, but it will be soon if this practice continues, which it will, no doubt, until some of them are sued. A great many think it is a very small thing, but it is larger than they think."

Another thing which will be looked after by the board, is the practice of midwitery by women who are not professionals in the work. The poorer class of people are willing to allow these women to do the work, as they charge as low as 50 cents. They are ignerant of making returns.

Harry E. Armstrong, clerk of the Court of Common Pleas No. 2, yesterday severed his-connection with county matters and tomorrow will enter the service of the United States as eashier in the Internal Revenue has great faith in the ability of Diaz to Office. Mr. Armstrong's humorous notes crush any trouble in the country. He says and comments on men, measures and things the goodnits of the revolution have been have become a feature in that court that will be sadiy missed by attorneys and suitors while whiling away time awaiting their turn at the legal wheel of fortune.

counties are now getting weather intelligence by steam whistle. People love to crack their jokes over the head of "Old Probabilities," but the Signal Service system will continue to exist and prosper as long as it is held in its present esteem by boards of trade, navigators, produce dealers and some wide-awake agriculturists whose number grows apace. Many of the classes named buy and sell on weather-forecast information, ship goods or make extra arrangements for their care, or sow grain or cut hay, for, though the Government bureau does not profess to goosebone-weather wisdom in spells of a month, or even a week, its 24 or 36-hour predictions have been shown by experience to be very valuable to the interests named. Accordingly every addition to its facilities is of general interest, even to those who still half regard meteorology as a sort of black Forecasts issued now are for 28 and 36 hours instead of 24, as heretofore. The one given out at 8 A. M. holds until 2 P. M. the succeeding day, and the one issued at 8 P. M, holds until midnight of the next day. Just here Pittsburg people have good cause for self reproach in not making themselves more prominent in the mercantile world.

Necessity for a Forecast Official, Instead of standing on the census tables of 1896 in her proper place at 400,000 she is down with a population of 238,000. With the largest tonnage of any city in the United States and with single interests that pay more freight than the produce of sev-eral States combined, this city is not fur-nished with a special local forecaster while Detroit is. In this respect Pittsburg has been entirely ignored. There is no place in the United States where such an officer's services are more needed. The Chamber of Commerce and Grain Exchange have felt this way and are now making efforts to have such an office located here. The reason as-signed by the Government is that only 20 such officers are allowed and all those places have been filled, but this Congress will be asked to provide such an officer for Pittsburg.

The main reasons assigned for not granting the request is that the location is of no special interest in the study of climatology
—is not a weather breeder—and the powers that be have not taken into account its commercial importance. These people do not know, or have not gravely considered the fact that one day's shipment of coal from this port has been large enough to require 210 miles of cars and 30 miles of locomotives to move the same weight. News of coming weather is certainly of grave import on such occasions, and they happen numerously dur-ing a year. The Government makes a ing a year. The Government makes a special appropriation to supply these forecasts to the people who raise cotton, and there are single firms in Pittsburg that pay more freight in outgoing and incoming product than is paid to move the entire cotton crop. Two more river stations were established last week at Philipi and Fairment, W. Va., but Pittsburg is not considered worth a special local forecaster.

A Poor Place for Observations. A suggestion made by Sergeant Stewart, of the Pittsburg office, seven years ago has not yet been acted upon, and it is one of importance. The temperature is taken here from the top of a building surrounded by 100 square miles of houses in which fires the property of the proper are burning, in a district where hundreds of factories, furnaces, etc., are sending up cubic miles of hot air every hour, and the consequence is that there is a difference of 5° to 20° between the official record and the actual temperature in the surrounding country 10 miles distant from the Government station. Mr. Stewart at the time mentioned argued the importance of having the record kept in a number of places in the open country, but the United States is a large body and moves slowly.

The department in this city is doing good work in various ways. It at present issues 100 weather maps daily. They are placed in the Grain Exchange buildings, postoffices and in various institutions, such as the Coal Exchange, etc., and furnished to the public schools. They are eminently useful in the latter places, as they stimulate a study of meteorology among pupils who would otherwise never learn anything practical about it. The final result in this direction is one that cannot be 'at present even estimated. Weather Records Taken as Testimony Another service rendered is the furnishing of data for the adjudication of law suits in cases of damage either to river craft or goods hauled by rail. Common carriers are only held responsible for ordinary care in the carriage of goods, and a record of tem-perature, rainfall, etc., is of importance in order to fix the extent of liability in special cases. During the agricultural season the department's weekly weather special bulletins are closely studied by grain and produce dealers as well as the daily maps. These bulletins are only issued monthly in

A late extension of the service is of interest to farmers and will probably become popular. An arrangement has been made at Morganza with Superintendent Jerome Quay by which, if farmers keep the wax out of their ears, those within a radius of ten miles may learn at 11 o'clock A. M., what the weather is likely to be for the next 33 hours. Mr. Quay has arranged that the whistles are sounded according to the arrangement given below and each granger can have a copy of the interpretation posted in a convenient place and consult it while listening to the blast;

Three long and two short. The forecast is sent to Morganza by telephone. Similar stations may be made at Claremont, the Poor Farm and at Dixmont, so that the whole county will be supplied with the information at once. The weather maps are made up of ob-servations taken on the 75th degree meridian line in the United States and Canada. The observations taken on that line consist of readings of the barometer, thermometer, direction and velocity of wind, state of sky (whether cloudless or otherwise), and amount of rain or snowfall. Lines called isobars, are drawn through or near stations where barometer readings are the same, a separate one for each tenth of an inch in separate one for each tenth of an inch in the height of the barometer. Dotted lines isotherms connecting places of the same temperature are drawn for each 10 degrees reading of the thermometer.
