"He has cut his throat and is dving." The laiy looked up quickly and said: "Is that true or only another wild story?" Upon being assured of the truth of the story she was again asked to see Miss Snowden and see if she would not make a state-ment for publication. The lady retired and the sound of subdued voices issued from the rear room. In a few minutes she returned and said that Miss Snowden was sorry to hear the news, but declined to be seen or say anything further. District Attorney Burleigh was inexpressively surprised when he heard that Fitzsimmons had attempted suicide. He threw up both hands and looked positively horrified, "That surprises me," he said. "I did not think Fitz would treat us that way. It Fitzsimmons dies it will be a great disappointment to Murphy, who had hoped to bring him back here for trial, and I believe he was also hopeful of convicting his man. They intended to leave for home to-morrow, but unless Fitz dies soon the coming will likely be delayed now for ten days or two weeks. Murphy will bring him here dead or alive."

Mr. Marshall Makes Some Revelations.

Hon. Themas M. Marshall, Sr., was found at his home last night, and he gave another chapter in Fred C. Fitzsimmons' checkered career, interspersed with some satirical remarks as to how his funeral services should be conducted. He tells the following story: "As I have said before, Fitzsimmons was possessed of monkey smartness and a jaunty ir. He never allowed himself to become lepressed no matter what turn affairs took his life. In early boyhood he trans-sed against his father's teachings and home. His life until he attained his lett home. His life until he attained his majority was under the grandlanship of his mode. He then began to rove over the world, but before starting he made a visit to his father and relieved him of a part of the goods in his store. Then he drifted South and finally got over to Europe, where he remained for several years, par-tially mastering the French and Spanish hanguages. Finally, about eicht years ago, he came into Pittsburg and secured a situ-ation in Joseph Horne & Co.'s store, under where he atme of A. G. Budd. He was there for soveral years. After he left there he stole a sover in McKeesport of several hundred doi lars' worth of goods. This was about the extent of his criminal career, which to my mind did not amount to much. # THE PEATURES OF A LENGTEY LIST

The animated correspondence between Mayor Gourley and Chief Assessor Case is at an end, for the present at least. Mr. Case was asked last night if he intended to answer the Mayor's last communication.

"No," he replied, "I am too busy just now to give my attention to anything but a re-vision of the city assessments. I am at a great disadvantage in any kind of controversy when my attention is so fully given up to my duties. We are working hard on our revision of the various ward assessments and you will find that a great majority of those who are now complaining will be satisfied when we get through. We can't hope to please everybody, but we will be fair. The assessors had lively interviews with a number of large manufacturers from the Southside who called for that purpose yesterday, and from remarks dropped by one of the gentlemen after the interview his firm will not be among the satisfied ones Mr. Case refers to.

The East End to the Front. A large number of appeals were filed from the Eighteenth, Nineteenth and Twenty-second wards yesterday and more are expected to-day. Only a few came in from the Third ward, but it was stated yesterday that appeals had already been filed from all but a few properties in that ward. William Holmes, as agent, appeals for a cut from $12,500 on 20x50 feet on Grant street, near Sixth avenue, which he bought last month for $11,000. H. Walker, 60x120 feet, on Seventh avenue, near Cherry alley, ascessed $72,000, asks a cut to $48,000 on the lot a:d from $16,000 to $12,000 on the building. Mary Gates, 15x35 feet, on Diamond, below Wood street, assessed $9,450 on lot and $1,750 on building, appeals for $8,000 on lot and 81,000 on building. Pius P. Kellar, No. 84 Fifth avenue, is asessed $58,500 on 15x100 feet, and asks a valuation of $46,800.

Owen McCarthy, in the Fourth ward, assessed $25,600 on 20x73 feet on Sixth street, near Duquesne way, appeals for a $26,600 valuation. In the Twelfth ward the Westinghouse

Machine Company is assessed $11,550 on 75x 100 feet at Liberty and Twenty-fifth streets, on which an appeal for a $7,500 valuation i made. The assessors had omitted to assess this company for machinery, so they in-

Smith is assessed at $45,800 on 18% acres and $5,500 on buildings on Forward avenue, which he says is away beyond its value, being assessed lact year at $15,678. He says the land might as well be in Pine township for all the city conveniences it has. "The land is adapted to corn, potatoes, cabbage and pasturage, and the whole outfit rents for $700 a year. If the gentlemanly assessors, who value the place at $25,290 will bring a buyer at that figure it will be made so interesting for them that they need not devote any time to that kind of labor for a twelvemonth at least." Thomas Phelps offers to sell for $33,000 and allow a 3 per cent commission besides on 27 acres on Forward avenue, assessed at $57,390, and buildings at $6,025. The meeting last night was held in the Ellsworth avenue school building and was largely attended. It was called to order by Thomas Liggett, who announced its object. W. A. Woodward, Esq., was elected chairman and David Reese secretary. In a short but forcible speech Mr. Liggett scored the municipal government. He condemned the management of the city's affairs and said there were three subjects he had given consideration.

He "protests for a reduction to the legal value fixed by ward assessors," declaring that a powder magazine on an adjoining farm depreciates the value of this land. Colonel Schooumaker is assessed $55,000 on 2% acres on Penn avenue; appeal, $34,250; $9,250 on 207x93 on Lang avenue; appeal, $72,250. With buildings the total assessment is $58,750, but he has been trying to sell it for $40,000 for two years. The best offer was $35,000 and for that value he appeals. Figures That Are Far Apart. First, he said, was the abatement of the system of taxation; second, to remedy the entire system, and third, a radical change in the mode of our public works. They were paving a way, he said, for a taxation that will be very burdensome, and a reduc-tion will have to come and come from econ-Figures That Are Far Apart. Twenty-second ward-Mrs. F. Bradley,

Some of the people there, he thought, ought to be punished. One man he knew he considers a blackguard. He then related a personal grievance he had against this man. The way to remedy these matters, he sug-gested, was to elect the right kind of people to Councils. As to letting street contracts, he went on, they can only get two kinds of pavoments, asphaltgm and block stone, and Booth & Flinn control both kinds. Another thing, he said, is that bondsmen for con-tractors carbonly qualify to their bonds in City Hall. The cases follow: Havs-McNurry-John McNulty and Grant Hays, two prominent young men of the East End, met with a serious accident on Forbes atreet yesterday afternoon. A bout 4 o'clock the young men were driving out Forbes street, and when near the Schenley Park entrance a car on the Duquesne Traction line overtook them. They drove their horse off the track and let the car pass, and were just driving back on the east-bound track when car No. 47, which was following the other car very close, struck their buggy at full speed. The young men were thrown ten feet in the air, and the buggy was torn from the horse and scattered in kindling wood along the street. The young men were picked up and taken to the office of Dr. Daggette on Craig street.

A PAL OF FITZSIMMONS.

Elamed for a Bold Burglary at Homestead Wednesday Night.

The office of Gordon Bros., builders' supplies and lumber merchants of Homestear was broken into yesterday morning and the iron safe cracked, and $25 and some valuable papers that were in an iron box inside the safe were carried off. The safe was almost entirely wrecked, the burglars making but ngling job of it, proving that they were far from being skilled safe-cracksmen. In the first place they wrenched off the handle, leaving a small hole in which they used an explosive and with it forced open the first or outer door, there still remaining anothe double door, and this one they succee opening by drilling a hole into the lock and blowing it off. The cracksmen must have een sorely disappointed for their arduou task, tofind only at the end of it the small sum of $25. Homestead has been always re-markably free from burglaries and this event has aroused the inhabitants to a sense event has aroused the inhabitants to a sense of insecurity. Suspicion in this case rests upon the one time pail of the now notorious Fitzsimmons, who goes under the name of Williams. He fleured extensively in the Fitzsimmons Homestead case, and his name was exploited in the newspapers at the time of Fitzs' first capture. Williams was seen in Home-stead vesterday and was accompanied by a suspicious looking character. The Home-stead police had him shadowed, but late in the evening he eluded them. Williams was a sewing machine agent in Homestead during the time Fitzsimmons lived there and they were constantly together.

Sisters Together in Death.

Two maiden ladies, sisters, Lavina and Margaret Jones, were buried from St. Luke's Episcopal Church, at Bridgeville, two weeks and their lives and death have occustoned considerable comment in that od. Both were taken sick with the grip about the same time, and lay in two beds not far apart. Margaret expired, and Lavina, from her couch, observed an uniavina, from her couch, observed an un-usual appearance among those in attend-suce, and asked if Margaret were dead. On being told that she was Lavina was greatly moved, and turning in beet expired in two on three minutes after hearing of her sister's death. It seemed as though the shock of purting with her companion after 70 years of sisterly intimacy snapped the vital cord.,

Her valuation is only $4,500. C. A. Cooper, owner of the Camelia plan, at the head of McCandless avenue, is as-sessed at about $40,000 on the 142 lots. Davis is assessed about $13,000 on a plan of lots at Morningside, which he bought is monithis ago forsi,200 from Charles Cornellus. He has been trying to sell lots ever since, spending hundreds of dollars in advertising, but has made but few sales. Lately he has been builling houses on them to try to sell, but the houses are not com-pleted. He objects to a higher valuation than $3,575. Eliza Smith is assessed $17,160 on 2% acres on Butler street, near the Sharpsburg bridge, her valuation being only $1,000. Among a number of other properties are 3 acres on Woodbine street, assessed $9,000; appeal $570.

A. J. Davis has a number of properties as sessed in his name, but only appeals on two. One is a 3% acre tract on Penn avenue as sessed at $45,847, on which he places a value best set of $14,929, claiming that the way streets have been run through it has detracted from its value. On a lot 30x144 teet on Penn avenue, assessed at $30,250, he pinces a usine of $10,- Mellon, 119x48 feet, Euclid avenue, $5,445; appeal, $2,250. The above appellants are assessed on a number of other properties on which their figures differ but slightly with the assessors.

William Swissbelm's appeal is interesting. He is assessed $4,800 on 00x100 feet on Broad street and $1,600 on building. He swears that he paid but $4,000 for the property two years ago, though the deed was drawn for $4,500. The former figure was the contract, all he paid but $4,000 for the property. J. H. Borland has a tract on Breed's Hill that he purchased in 1890 for $5,000. It has been subdivided into 118 lots, though none of it has been sold, and a valuation of $3,00. due to the strikes. The strike of the build-ing trades has caused more misery than can be computed. The lost wages are beginning to tell. Men who work by the day can never catch up, and all the months of idleness are being felt in the homes. Not only do the carpenters and the other journeymen now feel the pressing need of money, but to the great number of common laboring men who were compelled to lie in idleness by reason of the stagnation in building business, the loss has absolutely been irreparable. Nine-tenths of the extra appeals for aid have come from this class. Many are almost desti-tute. The demand for shoes has been enor-mous, and there is even a great demand for food."

The appropriation was $90,000, and for this year the same amount was asked. Chief El-liot explains this surplus by the fact that over $7,000 worth of produce was raised on the Poor Farm last year.

INSIST ON THEIR BIGHTS.

Residents of McKee's Rocks Have Strong Views on Street Cars.

McKee's Rocks people, though very anxious to have the West End Railway Company run electric cars to the budding borough are apparently not making much prozress toward an agreement with the com pany. 'Squire Bryan says that the project does not appear to have grown any last fall. The company has been talking of leaving the greater part of the residents in the cold by running its tracks on the east side of the creek and crossing it near Duff's station but the people regard this as a bluff, as they say there could be no business sense in running through that vast scope of territory where but two or three families live. The McKee's Rockers insist that the township authorities shall grant no rights irreship authorities shall grant no rights irre-vocable by the borough when it is formed, and say they have already been put to much trouble by the refusal of the company to raise its present tracks to the grade the peo-pic have established since they were laid, as they cannot keep the main business street of the town in order on account of the de-pression. They say a supervisor gave the company permission to come in without thinking of exacting terms and now it bids defiance. The people were so well pleased to get a horse car road that they overlooked the possibilities of im-provement in which the grant would inter-fere. They now insist that the company shall run double tracks a far as Lauinger's and at least single tracks a far as. Bryan's and at least single tracks as far as Bryan's on the Middletown read: also, that but one fare be charged for the entire distance be-tween the outer boundary of McKee's Rocks and the Diamond market instead of two as and the Diamond marker instead of two as at present, and further still that there be no transfer of passengers at Sawmill run. In addition to all this they in-sist that right of way shall not be given until the company agrees to borough supervision.

Presented William McKinley's Portrait. An open meeting of the West End Repub ican Club was held last night in their hand some rooms on Main street, Thirty-sixth ward. The principal event of the evening was the presentation of a protrait of the Hon. William McKinley, of Ohio, to the club. It was the gift of President Adam Weaver, who for 18 years has been a warm friend of Ohio's Governor, and who wanted his friend's picture on the walls of his club Superintendent J. P. Andrews, of the Bu Superintendent J. P. Andrews, of the BR reau of Highways, made the presentation and the picture was received by John S. Lamble. This was followed by a speec from S. U. Trent. The club passed resolu-tions thanking President Weaver for hi gift and Messrs. Andrews, Lamble an Trent for their presence and speeches.

Will Attend the National Convention.

The regular meeting of the Randall Club was held last night, President S. A. Duncan presiding. Several amendments to the by-laws were offered and laid over until the next meeting. The principal intention of these is to give the Board of Trustees mor these is to give the Board of Trustees more power. Five new members were elected and three applications presented. An amendment was adopted increasing the dues to $1 per month. E. R. Thompson an-nounced that he would present a portrait of David B. Hill at the next meeting. A com-mittee was appointed to make arrangements for the club to attend the Democratic Na-tional Convention on June 21. It is believed that the rates will be very low, and the club expects to take a large delegation.

Faid a Tribute to President Ford.

A largely attended meeting of the Young Men's Republican Tariff Club was held last night. After the routine business was over President McCleary, in behalf of the club, presented the retiring President, Mr. H. P. presented the retiring President, Mr. H. P. Ford, with a handsomely engrossed set of res-olutions expressing the thanks of the mem-bers for his efficient management while at the head of the club. The resolutions were in book form, handsomely bound and en-cased in a plush box. Mr. Ford replied in a neat way to President McCleary's compli-mentary remarks. The resolutions were gotten up by a committee of which Thomas M. McFarland was Chairman.

Politics in the Twenty-Fifth.

The girl had secured employment at a Robinson street boarding house as a domestic. She was enticed to an improper place by three men. When she learned what sort of a resort it was she got away and reported the matter to the police. Mr. Dorente will see that the girl is properly taken care of. Information will be made against the three men and also her father-in-law, who, it is alleged, tried to assault her.

STUMBLED AGAINST THE STATUTES.

W. O. HILL, of Allegheny, a carriage maker. was arrested at South Thirtieth and Carson streets last night on a charge of drunken streets last night on a charge of drunken-ness. When taken to the Twenty-cighth ward station house and searched a 44-caliber revolver was taken from him. He claimed to be a former policeman from Cincinnati, and wanted to telegraph the Chief of Police of that city to come and get him out of trouble.

NETTLE HARKINS and Lou Williams, two rather good-looking girls, were picked up on Liberty street last night by Officer Mulholland and locked up for improper conduct on the street. The first named is the girl who was rescued from a burning bullding on Sixth avenue last week, and was nearly suffocated by smoke. THOMAS J. NEE was arrested by Officer Livingstone on Pennsylvania avenue, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon on a charge of isrceny. It was alleged that he picked up a bundle of a peddler in a saloon and started out with it.

The Shipment Of

The Shipment Of Fifty cases of "Holmes' Best" and 25 bar-rels of 1886 Holmes' Millsboro pure rye whisky during the month of January to London, England, by the Wm. H. Holmes Co. is an excellent illustration of the fame and popularity acquired by our Mononga-hela Valley pure rye whiskies. In prepar-ing the Holmes' Best for shipments of this kind every case is carefully packed by an ingenious packer patented by Mr. Holmes some years since and used exclusively by this house. Since using this packer, in the past five years, not a sin-gle bottle has been broken. Another precaution in long distance shipments used by this firm only, is securely fastening each corner of the box by steel clamps and affix-ing iron handles to each end of the case, thereby making the same casy to handle and thus greatly helping to assure sate de-livery of same at destination. Holmes' Best is too valuable a whisky to take any chances on for breakage, therefore all these precautions are taken and the value of these precautionary measures are shown daily in the hore a shown daily in LACE CURTAINS, all grades.
