had never been given an opportunity to de-fend himself from the serious charges made against the schools and their management. He said, in substance:

The Gist of Wright's Statement.

We paid $25,000 for the Mercer property. We purchased it because we were creditors of the former owners and they were becomfailed. The prosecution alleges that the banks receiving money when it was known the institution was insolvent, brought the case under the act of 1859, which, queerly enough, was the very act G. W. Delamater had helped rush through at Harrisburg. The defense movee to quash the indict-ment, and argument ou this point was be-gun by G. A. Jenks, who for over two hours argued, among other things, that this firm did not come under the limited partnership act of 1874; that the act of 1883, does not ap-ply and that the last ammed act is unconsti-tutional and that the indictment was faulty. Judge Henderson stated that the matter of the constitutionality of the act might be brought up in court only as a last resort. He then overruled the motion of the de-fense. The jury will be empaneled in the morning, and probably several hours will be taken up in there is a great similarity in all of them. George W. Delamater, T. A. Dela-mater and Cashier Victor Delamater were within the railing most of the time during the arguments, and appeared to take mat-ters very coolly. ing insolvent. For three months we received no money from the State; after that we were given $150 for each pupil. The scholars were liable to be taken from us at any time if the inspectors were not satisfied with us. In the winter we never kept within the approthe winter we never kept within the appro-priation, but we balanced this by lighter summer expenses. The State officers were satisfied with our school, or we would not have kept the school. We received no extra pay for extraordinary expenses. We pur-chused the Mt. Joy school, and so reported to the State Department. The department asked me to take charge of it, and I did so. J. 1. Gordon, J. I. Ball and myself were the purchasers, giving $10,500.

in 1883 Mr. Wright leased the McAl-listerville school in his own name. Chester Springs was purchased in 1885. He stated that his relations with James J. Paul, of the Soldiers' Orphans' Department, was the only thing concerning which he had doubts. The two were associated from 1877 to 1885. There were scandals connected with each of the schools at the time Mr. Wright was made manager. The first trouble he had was in 1886. He took a six weeks' trip to California and on his return found that an investigation had been instituted. There was talk all over the State, but he was not summoned by the Goveraor or the G. A. R. Post which had commenced the proceed-ings. Never before this day had he been given a chance to be heard.

TALES OF THE TWO CITIES.

W. G. NEINVER has been appointed General Western Agent of the Houston and Texas Central road at Chicago.

THE Republicans of the Third ward will meet in the Grant school to-morrow night at 7 o'clock to nominate candidates. A COLORED man, David Ward, was arrested at Greensburg yesterday, charged with rob-bing Max Cosel's clothing store at New Castle.

THE Republicans of the First ward, Alle gheny, met last evening and nominated Joseph A. Spang and Alexander Walker for school directors, and E. Johnston for ASSESSOT.

HOW MUCH INFLUENCE

Does it have with you? If richness, regularity, whiteness and strength have no influence when you are buying flour, why not eat bread made from pea and barley meal? If these quali-ties have an influence you will pur-chase "Camellia," the queen of flour. It is made in Pittaburg, and comes from the finest mill in the land. Your procer keeps it. grocer keeps it.
