GLEANINGS FROM THE CHURCH FIELDS

"The most cruel curse than can afflict the world is the tyranny of ignorant conscienticusuess, and there is no crime too dark for a devotee to perpetrate under the seeming | Rev. H. J. Buckingham, pastor-Services at sanction of his creed." This quotation is from Froude's "History of England" in the reign of Elizabeth. In the days of good Queen Bess it was the style of religious First Reformed Presbyterian Church, Grant realors to suppress heresy by the dungeon street, at 10:30 a. M. and 7:30 r. M. Morning. realots to suppress heresy by the dungeon and stake. Some of the old leaven of intolerauce still lingers in the sects, but it is evident that the churches have found a more excellent way than by persecution. A great religious teacher one said: "Overcome evil religious teacher one said: "Overcome evil Ulrich Zwingil," Seats free. with good." The churches have discorered, after long greping in the dark, that the true way to overcome evil is not by persecution, but by showing a more excellent way, which is to win the wrongdoer, and not torce him. Christianity's conquering nower is love.

White-20, 30; kings, 11, 22. White to play and win.

White to play and win. The position is one which appeals to the expert, and, as illustrative of scientific end-play, it is not bad, though there is a lack of that "point" which the arbitrators had hoped to see in the problem finally pro-nonneed the best. Mr. Fleming proceeds to show that white cannot capture the isolated man standing on square 10. The piece is really forced into the double corner and im-prisoned beside its royal colleague, which done, the remaining white men are crowned, and then overpower the third black king. Following are the figures If white attempt to win the piece by 30-25, black draws as fol-lows: 30-26, 28-24, 26-23. If black were to fol-lows: 30-26, 28-24, 26-23. If black were to fol-lows ith 24-27, white wins neatly; but 24-28 draws easily. The following shows Mr. Fleming's solution:

 (e) Will the following not win, 27-23, instead of 27-242 thus-27-23, 12-16, 25-22, 2-0, 14-9, 6-33, 18-14, W. wins. - Draughts Editor Dunder People's Journal. THE AMERICAN CHECKER REVIEW. THE AMERICAN CHECKER REVIEW. We have before us the second issue of this magazine, under the new management. Its outside appearance, paper and typography, is first-class, but as a purely checker maga-zine it is away down below what it professes to be. If the managers desire the support of the checker players they will have to de-vote more attention to the game; in its purely checker matter it is not to be com-pared with what the "New England Checker Player" was in its day, nor can it commare

The Cleveland on a visit. He is expected home to-day. The Frovidence tournament has under-gone a change. The two leaders, Barden and Cairas, have taken quite a tumble into fourth and fifth place respectively. Mr. Tup-per and Mr. Lewis, checker editor of the Journal, have gone up to the top, and we presume to stay, but in checkers as in many other things the manticipated takes place. As yet it will be hard to say who will be the champion of the tournament. Since our last issue, we have learned that Charles Hefter, of Chicago, defeated Free-man in a sitting, but our informant was not able to give us a correct score. We have now four gentlemen living who have de-feated the great Freeman, Messrs. Hill, Heff-ner, Hefter and Priest.

CHECKER ITEMS OF INTEREST. A friendly contest of 12 games is to take place at Marséen between J. L. Richmond, of that place, and J. C. Brown, of Hawick, who intends taking a tour of the North of England. Mr. Stuart's story in the Journal of his vis-itor who carried his board and red and white corn to show him his wontlerinl posi-tion and how he made the draw was en-joyed at headquarters. The veterm Seeds solved the problem on sight and thinks he is emitted to the barrel of apples. James P. Reed gave a blindfold exhibition at the Allegheny Club on Saturdsy evening pared with what he "New England Checker Player" was in its day, nor can it compare with the I.D. M. or the Quarterly Review of to-day. From what we can gather, if there is not some change in the direction in-dicated, its support from this part will be very menger. An oid veteran remarked at headquarters: "We want checkers, not gos-sip renashed from all the columns that we have read weeks before." An examination of the magazine will show the force of the veteran's words, but it is not too late to remedy this defect. We have several fine analysts whose labors in the analytical field on the various openings under discussion at the present time would give weight to any magazine But what have we got in the Review out of 16 pages of two columns? We have less than five columns of figures, or about one-sixth of the whole, and these of no higher stand-ard than what appears in the leading hye columns of lighters, or about one-sixth of the whole, and these of no higher stand-ard than what appears in the leading checker columns. Place alongside the play given in the above mentioned journals and our position will be sustained. Contribu-tors to the various columns often give some very fine play, and often it is lost sight of and forgotten. None would object if the editor did use the shears, providing he gave due credit; something Mr. Denvir is very forgetful in doing. Mr. Koar, of the above mentioned journals, sets a good ex-ample; and if he does take a good deal from the leading columns, he gives proper credit, and we have in his two publications the cream gathered in two volumes yearly. We consider them well worths permanent place in our libraries. And if the A. C. Is does not give heed it won't be supported, and they will have themselves to blame. CHECKER EDITOS. we draw a rigid line at live stock-particu-larly pups. A week ago we were privately informed the Major had imported a checkerist (a Bos-ton drummer), who was slily watching our style of play, intending to down us later. We have been playing badly for a week. It may not have been the result of our three days association with a Kentucky whisky drummer-but such is the fact. The Boston man and the Major took this all in. Last Saturday night at the Pueblo Hotel they ar-ranged to take us in. But did they? We played seven grames. The drummer tried to skear us by planking down $10 on the first. But the Boot Jack never allows itself to be bluffied at any game-outside of a church bluffed at any game-outside of a church bazar. He won the first. Then he increased his ante on the second, which was drawn. Jedge Limit and Major Albro, thinking this a soft snap, begged us to let them in. We didn't demar. The Boston checkerist doubled his bet on the third game. We scooped it. He doubled again on the fourth. Again we raked in the thino; ditto the fifth, sixth and seventh; then, as he wanted to put up his silk int (that wouldn't fit us) as col-lateral for $10 we quit. Jedge Limit and Al-bro slid out on the fifth game. As a result of our brief acquaintance with the Boston drummer, and his abettors, there will be a public anction at the Bost Jack office next Monday noon of the following unredeemed personal effects, viz.-Three biled shirts, ditto collars and cuffs to match, a seedy capecoat, a Scotch tweed uilster, a Water-bury watch, a seal ring, a (socalled) diamond pin, three pairs of socks, three decks of cards (queer), two Piecadilly vests, a gold watch and cusin, a sixshooter, a watcheyed mule and buckskin säddle (formerly the property of Jedge Limit), a pair of cowhide boots, and agripsack on which is lettered J. H. Iwin, Boston." All the above will be disposed of to the highest bidder. We notice this morning Jedge Limit is wearing his last year's uster, and Major Albro goes about vestless, watch-less and in an old pair of shoes disguised by rusty rubbers. We lear the Boston expert $1 to get back bluffed at any game-outside of a church bazaar. He won the first. Then he increase bottle. This offer is open until Jan. 1st, 1893.
