STEEL FOR BIG SHIPS

All the Go With the Extensive Builders of Great Britain.

IT BEATS IRON FIVE TO ONE.

Interesting Information in a Consular Report Just Made.

AMERICAN POLITICIANS ARE WATCHED

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 16 .- A very interesting statement of the world's ship building of 1891 has just been received from Consul Metcalf, at Newcastle-on-Tyne, taken from the best statistical authorities. Each company's and individual's production, large and small, of a number of countries are given, but the report is confined principally to Great Britain.

Of the great ship-building firms of that country, it is remarkable that Harland & Wolff, of Belfast, Ireland, exceed in the tonnage of the vessels constructed all other firms, theirs amounting to 64,962 tons. W. Gray & Co, of West Hartlepool, who stand next, produced vessels aggregating 59,033 tons. Russell & Co., of Glasgow, who stood first in 1890, 56,667, and Sir Raylton Dixon & Co., Middleborough, 38,597. The Belfast firm stood third in the list in 1890. The fact that a Belfast firm has this year launched the largest tonnage is in itself re-markable, and it is still more so when the absence of the production of steel plates and of iron in Ireland is borne in mind.

Tonnage Turned Out of Big Ports, The total tonnage of the vessels con-structed at the great shipbuilding ports on structed at the great shipbuilding ports on the Tyne is 135,367; Wear, 192,114; Tees, 120,132; West Hartlepool, 96,993. On the Clyde the decrease of tonnage in 1891 over 1890 was 24,870 tons and at the other ports 69.745 tons.

Steel vessels still greatly predominate as about five of steel to one of iron, though iron shows for the year a percentage of increase. Two ports-the Wear and West Hartlepool-have built all their vessels of steel. One reason for the prefer-ence of that material is found in the fact that whereas a few years ago the production of steel plates in the county of Durham was extremely small, it is now in that county and on its borders so large that all the needs of the shipbuilders of the North can be met. and more than met, by the local steel plate makers. There is more than convenience served; there is an increased cheapness of plates, because of the incresed competition among the makers, and also because of the only one American firm is mentioned, that of William Cramp & Sons, of Philadelphia, who are credited with five vessels under construction at the time of the report, aggregating 43,698 tons, with a value of £2,888,000, in which is included two war vessels.

Fears of American Competition.

Notwithstanding the fact that Great Britain practically builds the vessels which carry the world's trans-ocean and much of its coastwise trade, a paragraph quoted by Consul Metcali from his chief authority shows that they are not only not sure of their grip, but that America is looked upon as a very dangerous competitor.

"There is the probability," says this authority, "of a coming competitor in ship-ping, for the United States is becoming ping, for the United States is becoming restive at finding that all its goods are practically carried to Europe by the flects of other natious, and in some way or other it will try, it seems, probably to raise a fleet of merchant vessels, just as it has been building a navy. Possibly the coming electoral disputes in that country may postpone to all disputes in that country may postpone to side and probably no mine in Colorado is more widely known than the Plutus. The property produces high grades melting ore and considerable mill dirt. It is reported that for a year or two the decision, but it seems one of the things that loom ahead, and that will force us to consider how our steamers some way to 'protect.' There is open com-petition on the seas, and the bounty system has failed with France; but America ap-proaches in another fashion, and the ship owners of Great Britain will need to watch how every move made on the chessboard of the politics of the United States is made.

It Pays to Watch Politicians.

"It is a difficulty that is ahead, that has been clearly indicated by the passing of the postal subsidy act by the last Congress; but one which is lessened by the fact that the surpluses of the United States have been frittered away by lavish pensioning. Still, the temper of the politicians of that great country is shown, and, to meet a competition that seems to be coming, the ship owners will need cheaper working. There is a continuous growth in the over-sea traffic of the world, and the competitors who can carry cheapest and quickest have the great-est likelihood of being able to secure the largest share of that trade which has been so valuable in the past and is still of such importance to this country."

Possibly, if the writer had been aware of the great movement in America, to which so great an impetus has been given by THE DISPATCH, to construct ships canals which will bring ocean-plowing vessels from the great lakes to the sea, he would have spoken still more forcibly in regard to probable American competition. It is not to be dis-puted that if this could be done, the great lakes, which have upon their very shores all the material to be used in the construction of vessels, would soon banish from Great Britain a supremacy of which it is now so

AN OLD MAN DIVORCED.

He Couldn't Stand Being beaten Right Before His Grown-Up Children,

St. Louis, Feb. 16.-[Special.]-A remarkable divorce case which has been before the courts for years was settled to-day. Bolivar Owen was 66 years old when he applied for a divorce from his wife, who was 10 years younger. They had a family of grown sons and daughters, some of whom were married and had families. The children were divided in their sympathies, some taking sides with the mother and the others with the father, and much feeling was exhibited at the hearing of the Owen charged his wife with indignities, and she made counter-charges against him. It appeared that the trouble between the parties was largely due to Owen's love of music, in which he was very proficient, and used to spend much of his time at the piano. He also, it was shown in the evidence, was very partial to the society of some young ladies with whom he used to practice duets, much to his wite's indigna-

Judge Valliant granted Owen a divorce, it having been shown that Mrs. Owen strock her husband during one of the family jars. The case was taken to the Court of Appeals, where the decree was set aside. The court, in its opinion, took the view that when a woman had raised a family and devoted the best years of her life as a helpmate to her husband, she ought not to be cast off in her old age without means of support. A motion for a rehearing was entertained, and today the Court of Appeals handed down a second decision, in which it decides to sustain Judge Valliant's ruling and allow the decree of divorce to stand.

KANUCKS PRAISE THEIR OWN PORK. They Hint That Yankee Packers Brand

Export Products as Canadian. TORONTO, ONT., Feb. 16 .- The Empire. the Government organ, says: "It is reported that the Canadian Government has been requested to frame regulations for the inspection of American pork in transit through Canada to Great Britain or Germany. The excellent quality of Canadian pork and its freedom from disease has led, it is believed, a number of packers in the United States to brand their product as Canadian pork, and it is with a view to prevent this in the introduction of United States pork into Germany and Great Britain via Canada that the Government has been requested to adopt precautionary measures.

"It is, also, probable that in order to satisfy public sentiment on the other side of the Atlantic, steps will be taken to inspect the output of Canadian packing

THE GREELEY MONUMENT.

New York, After Fourteen Years, Decides to Complete It-The Printers in the Main to Be Congratulated for the Realization of the Project.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16,-[Special.]-A meeting of the Horace Greeley Monument Committee was held to-day, after having been practically toroid for 14 years. The movement first took definite shape in New York and the committee was largely made up of men in this city, but additional members were added representing practically every part of the country. Subscriptions began to pour in and printers all over the country went heartily to work. Just as the matter was getting well under way the great panie of 1873 occurred, and that practically floored Later another fund was started by the printers, and the Executive Committee of the old committee came together and it was the old committee came together and it was arranged that two funds should be consolidated under certain conditions. The printers' committee was to go shead with the monument and if, after it was cast in bronze, the old committee approved of it, the funds collected in 1872 would be turned over for the new statue. Sculptor John Doyle, of this city, who designed the Grady monument, was selected to do the work, which was completed and the statue will be east next week.

Both committees are very much pleased with the statue in every way. It is of heroic size, and the figure is in a sitting position. The cost of the statue is $13,000. The statue is to be erected in either Union or Madison Squares. It will be unveiled next Decoration Day.

The meeting to-day was to have the old committee give its final assent to the pro-posed combination of the two funds. The surviving members are very much scattered just now, and it may be some time before all can be heard from, but from communica-tions received it is assured that this disposition of the matter will be satisfactory to

SOLD FOR A QUARTER MILLION.

A Colorado Syndicate Purchases Valuable

Mining Property Very Cheaply. DENVER, COL., Feb. 16 .- [Special. ]-The Plutus mine, one of the best known properties in the State, has just been sold to Colorado Springs parties. Among the purchasers are Secretary of State Eaton, A. L. Lawton and Charles E. Newton. The consideration was $250,000. The Plutus is sitnated at Idaho Springs, in Clear Creek, about a mile from the station, and comprises a couple of lodes, the Whale and the Hubill. It was originally called the Whale and is still generally known by that name among mining men. The mine is one of the oldest in the country and has been a big producer for probably 20 years. It is sur-rounded by the Mayflower, the Crockett and the Salisbury, and is in close proximity to the Roderick Dhu, one of the most im-portant discoveries of recent date in the

The purchase includes an extensive plant, that is estimated to be alone worth nearly the amount given for the property, omprising, among other things, a 50-stamp mill, fine hoisting machinery, air compressors, etc. John W. Mackey, the well-known California miner, had it for several there is mineral enough in sight now to more than cover the purchase price. The first payment was made a few days ago, and can work cheaply enough to compete with the Colorado Springs syndicate will proceed the vessels that the United States will seek in at once to further develop the property for
