Y., Feb. 20.-[Special.]-The investigation of the accounts of Grove Webster, late City Treasurer, who held that office for nearly 18 consecutive years, is nearly completed, and the Common Council Committe is about to report. At the several hearings had by the committee, prominent business men and politicians were subpœnaed and testified. It was shown that the late millionaire. Thomas Cornell, was permitted to withhold the taxes on his vast property for three consecutive years, ag-gregating $15,000, while the Treasurer's books were doctored to indicate that they were paid regularly. Public opinion has been divided as to the justice of the investigation, many believing that undue notoriety was being given Treasurer Webster, and that the most that possibly could be brought against him was that while treasurer he had befriended his condsmen and others and kept a peculiar system of bookkeeping that could be de-ciphered only by himself. There was not a shadow of suspicion of a shortage in his acounts. It now turns out that Expert William Trenholm, of New York, discovered that Mr. Webster should have turned over about $14,000 more at the expiration of his term on the 1st of January than he really THE MUGWUMPS SPEAK OUT.

BOSTON, Feb. 20.-[Special.]-"To nominste any candidate but Cleveland is to be timid, and to be timid is to be weak and impotent in the face of a combination which is powerful, adroit and unscrupulous, To nominate any man not in sympathy with Cleveland is to be false to the great cause of just and equal taxaiion, which the Democratic party professes to champion." This was the creed spoken by Colonel Charles R. Codman, President of the Massa-chusetts Reform Club, which met at Young's Hotel to-night to discuss the political situation. The purpose of the meeting was to indorse "a national conference of independent voters at New York, to promote tariff re-form, houest money and civil service reform," but the underlying current of senti-ment was a boom for Grover Cleveland. There were 100 in the banquet hall. Colonel Codman's speech was the most important of the evening, inasmuch as it will be the platform of the Mugwump party in the United States in the coming election. The club, by a unanimous vote, indorsed the proposizition to hold a conference of independent voters in New York City, the arrangements for which are to be left en-tirely in the hands of the New York branch
