Anti-Business Tax Paper Held Over in Chamber of Commerce.

MES B. SCOTT'S OBJECTIONS

Lightening One Burden Only to Make an Increase on Another. HER BUSINESS OF THE MEETING

The Chamber of Commerce held a meet-in the Academy of Science building terday afternoon. The meeting was led to order with President George A. lly in the chair. resident Kelly read a communication

m S. S. Lyons, Secretary of the National int, Oil and Varnish Association, which "A special meeting of the Pittsburg int, Oil and Drug Club was held Thursr, February 12. President M. B. Suyn in the chair. The following resolu ns were unanimously adopted:

THEREAS. The tax imposed by the city of taburg on sales, operates as a double tax, ng paid by wholesale and retail dealers practically the same business, and is unt to the mercantile community, and bebeing contrary to the spirit of our gen A laws and the institutions of free governnt, having a tendency to defeat the object was desirous to accomplish, the increase revenue, since it removes all inducements parties to engage in business in this , and thus become general taxpayers,

Vhereas, The immunity from such taxan on the business interests of neighborand competing cities enables their mer ints to transact business here through ir traveling agents without taxation of g kind, to the great detriment of the ilers and manufacturers of this city; refore, be it lesolved, That the continuance of this will simply serve as an incentive for ny of our firms to remove their business locations outside of the city limits, rening their trade in Pittsburg throng inch offices and traveling agents; and esolved. That we, as an association in individual capacity, respectfully urge repeal of the tax on sales known as the ercantile Tax," on every ground of jus-e and equity, this action being necessary the proper protection of the business in-ests of this city. President Kelly put the question before suld be taken upon this, or whether it suld be referred to a committee. Mr. Foster moved that it should be taken and voted upon at once, as it was a very portant matter. Mr. James B. Scott in asked if an objection would carry it to ommittee. President Kelly replied that ections from two members would carry to a committee. Mr. James B. Scott and Mr. John R ndley then entered objections and the letwas referred to a committee. Mr. Scots in took the floor and said that he wished define his position in the matter and his uson for objecting.

Reasons for Scott's Objection. He said: "I don't believe that the mer-rtile tax should be repealed. It $250,000 taken from taxes by repealing that tax, on it must be raised in some other way, rhaps from real estate. People carrying business here are protected by the police a the fire department, and I know of a mber of firms, I could show a great num-, that outside of their mercantile tax not pay one cent for taxes. No, sir; not icayune; and I for one cannot see the tice or the equity of it."

President Kelly here said that the objecns of two members carried the paper to a nmittee without debate. Upon call of the committees, Captain F. Dravo, as Chairman of the River i Harbor Committee, submitted three olutions, all of which were passed. The a resolution was in regard to Congress ablishing a regular standard of charge pilot and maritime service. The second lution was indorsing the action of the neral Assembly of Georgia in asking for co-operation of the other States of the ion in the improvement of the harbor of vanuab. The third resolution was in rsing the action of a convention of represtatives from 17 States held in Kansas ty, December 15, 1891, for the improve-int of the Missouri and the Mississippi ers and their navigable tributaries. Meeting of Sheet Iron Men.
