A LINE GUN IS LASHED TO A CART,

Taken Out Into the Surf, and a Rope Shot to the Stranded Ship.

MEN UP TO THEIR ARMPITS IN WATER

(KELLEY, Va., Feb. 27.—The Spanish steamer San Albano, of Bilbao, Spain, from New Orleans to Hamburg, encountered a heavy gale with thick weather, and had no observations for three days.

The vessel lay about six miles north-northeast of Hog Island Life Saving Station. A surfman from that station saw a light on the morning patrol on the morning of the 23d, but did not see the ship.
