Stearns, of Derry Depot, N. H., a noted American checker problemist, visited the Providence players last fall he left as a gift a number of checker books and pamph-lets for them to dispose of as suited best. Six weeks ago the local club started a checker tournament with the books divided into five prizes. Among the books were 'Gould's Matches,' 'Bryden-Ferrie Match Games,' Gardner-Strickland Match Games,' 'Gould's Problems,' Granite State Checker Series,' Draught Players' Quarterly Re-views, American Checker Heviews, Hill's Synopses, books and British Draught Players. Besides the Providence players there were entered in the tourna-ment, Hawes of Wrentham, Mass.; Tupper and Hall, of Olneyville; Cairns and Darling, of Manton, and two others. The 15 men played three games with each other. Mr. T. Aldrich played three games with Mr. Hall, winning two and losing one, but his entire score was canceled and given to the other players, as three won games cach, and he did not finish his scheduled games. Lewis, the winner of the tournament, has objections to playing for a wager of any kind. Clarence H. Freeman, the referee, declared in writing of the tournament to checker papers that it was the best conducted and most successful tournament ever held in Providence. P.-Preaching To the Checker Editor of The Dispatch: I have read Denvir's scathing remarks in reference to Bristol game and accompanying picture frame position. Let me say, I hope there was nothing wrong in sending the game, and as to adding notes, you will admit THE DISPATCH is continued in the interest of the majority, the amateurs. I consider this problem and history interesting to them, and doubt very much whether the great I am, champion of the Northwest, could win it across board. However, 'tis strange that he should eternally kick and squirm at the success of others, i.e., ravings at Dispatric. He is desirous of being the authority on the game. THE DISPATCH hurts him. His posi-tion and persistent efforts to A. J. Dunlap's position continually remind me of the fol-lowing: A man was boarding at a hotel at which the fare never varied. He came in to dinner om day and looked over the bill of fare. There was roast beef, hash, beans and mashed potatoes, as usual. He was dis-gusted, and when the waiter came around he simply said: "Hebrews läth chapter and 5th verse," then equested to use it. To the Checker Editor of The Dispatch: MT. WASHINGTON M. The next day the bill of fare was the same, and the man got up from the table with the same exclamation of disgust, "Hebrews, 13th chapter and 8th verse." The third day was a repetition of the first and second, and the waiter, who had by this time become quite carlous about the matter, went and got a Bible, and read the 8th verse of the 13th chapter of Hebrews. He showed it to the proprietor, and the next 'day the bill of fare was changed. The above illustrates Denvir's persistent effort to be the authority. The following is the great record of the world's champion checker player since his arrival in Britain up until February 3, 1892.

Mr. Benny, an old-time player, has returned to Dameth's shrine, and as the rust of years begins to wear off he can make it very in-teresting for the strongest. His scores so far have been very satisfactory. H. C. Cravens, of Zeno, Fa., was at head-quarters and had a pleasant time with the players, and enjoyed his sitting with H. C. Ewalt and R. W. Patterson.

Sanders, Box 46, Galva, Ill, who will furnish particulars, etc." H. F. McAteer has started six games by correspondence against the Houtzdale, Pa., club. This is a new experience for the Pres-ident of the State Checker Association. The expressions at headquarters, after carefully playing over game. No. 153, by Mr. Heffner, correcting prize game of Liverpool Mercury, were to the effect that the first prize should be sent to Mr. Charles Hefter, of Chicago. The friendship known to exist between Beattie and Martins surely did not interfere with a close analysis of the game. It cannot but make the judges feel a little sore to have their prize game cooked, and that by an American. Checkers are having quite a revival in Co-lumbiana, O. A Mr. J. J. Fetzer is making it quite interesting for the boys. J. Moir, the celebrated Scotch expert, vis-ited Newcastle, England, and played four games with Mr. Bell, of South Shields, and J. P. Grey, of Washington. Moir won three fames, Mr. Grey securing the only draw, a double corner. Switcher, old fourteenth and single corner were the copenings played.
